Sawyer Denies He Was Source Of CAB "Leak"

Witness Names Official After He Changes Story

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Raymond Sawyer, a high official of the Civil Aeronautics Board, was named today as the possible source of a "leak" of secret and valuable CAB information. Sawyer promptly denied it.

He swore before a Senate inquiry group that he had never disclosed to anyone CAB's decision last Aug. 2 to award Northeast Airlines a money - making New York-Miami route.

Sawyer, associate director of CAB's Bureau of International Air Operations, was called before the Senate Investigations subcommittee after another witness, Laurence Henderson, changed his story and acknowledged he might have gotten a tip on the route award from Sawyer.

Flushed and perspiring—and on second thought—Henderson said he believes he did get a call from Sawyer on Aug. 3.

Conflicting Testimony

Sawyer's subsequent testimony was that he had not talked to Henderson that day and that the only time in his life he had talked to Henderson was on Aug. 10—and then about another matter.

Commenting on the conflicting testimony, Sen. Symington (D-Mo), a subcommittee member, said Sawyer's "life is destroyed" if Henderson's statements stand up.

Symington asked whether it wasn't true that Henderson has "perjured himself."

Donald F. O'Donnell, the subcommittee's counsel, said that "in effect" Symington was right.

After a partial transcript of Henderson's testimony was read to him, Sawyer said: "I deny calling him on the Third."

"About anything?" he was asked.

"Yes."

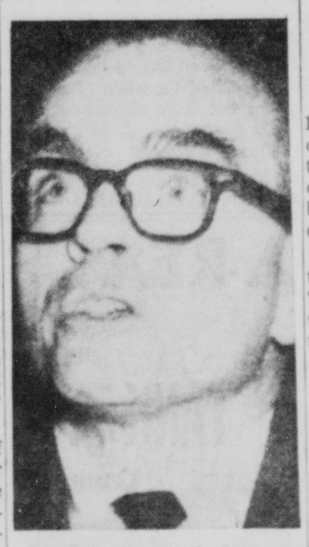
Speculation Angle

The Senate group is trying to find out whether the CAB decision in favor of Northeast was actually leaked, enabling speculators to make a quick profit in Northeast stock.

A Washington lawyer testified yesterday he had received an anonymous telephone call late on the night of Aug. 2, telling him of the award.

Sawyer was CAB's executive director at the time of the Northeast decision. He testified he was present when the decision was made, but in answer to questions he said that neither that night nor the next day had he "leaked" the information to anyone.

Henderson first told the investigators he acted solely on a "hunch" and his own deductions when he telephoned a Boston broker last Aug. 3 with information that Northeast had been awarded a money-making New York-Miami route.



DENIAL—Raymond Sawyer, a Civil Aeronautics Board official, testifies before the Senate Investigations Committee. He denied yesterday that he "leaked" a CAB air route decision awarding a choice New York-to-Miami route to Northeast Airlines to Laurence Henderson, a one-time Senate aide. Henderson earlier had named Sawyer as the possible source of such information. (AP Photofax)

Union Boss Accused On Two Counts

Teamster Leader Charged With Not Reporting $88,828

TACOMA, Wash., May 2 (AP) — Dave Beck, the onetime laundry driver who built a personal fortune in his rise to the presidency of one of the nation's biggest labor unions, was charged here today with income tax evasion.

A federal grand jury returned a two-count indictment against the Teamsters' Union chief after it was reconvened quietly to hear the case.

The first count charges him with failure to report $88,828 of 1950 income on which additional taxes of $56,420 should have been paid.

The second count accuses Beck of assisting in preparation of a false tax return for the Teamsters' Joint Council No. 28 Building Assn., in Seattle, in the same year.

Bench Warrant Ordered

It alleged that the Joint Council Building Assn. had expended $16,718 for building payments and alterations when it "had in truth expended a substantially lesser sum."

Judge George H. Boldt ordered a bench warrant issued immediately for the 63-year-old union leaders' arrest. He set bond at $5,000.

In Washington, DC., where Beck is scheduled for another appearance before the Special Senate Rackets Committee, a spokesman quoted him as saying that because he has not been notified officially of the grand jury action "and on advice of counsel, I cannot comment on the matter at this time."

The maximum possible penalty under each count of the indictment is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Indictment Beats Deadline

The indictment was returned just 13 days before the statute of limitations would have ended any chance of prosecution for charges dating back to 1950.

The first count of the indictment charged the joint return of Beck and his wife listed $46,398 income for 1950 when it should have been $135,226, with a tax payment of $15,540 instead of $71,960.

The indictment came only an hour after announcement in Beck's home city of Seattle of the appointment of two special prosecutors to direct a King County grand jury probe into handling of Teamsters Union funds by Beck and Frank Brewster. The latter succeeded him as head of the Teamsters' 11-state Western Conference.

President Calls Richards Back From Mideast

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower today gave up on Egypt, Syria and Jordan as participants at this time in his military-economic plan for combatting Middle East communism.

The President called home his special ambassador, James P. Richards, choosing not to have him mark time waiting for invitations to visit these three Arab countries.

Embarrassing Situation

The invitations seemed unlikely to be forthcoming. All three nations had made clear they took a dim view of the Eisenhower resolution and its 200 million ready dollars. Each, in its own way, had cold-shouldered Richards.

It was to get him out of this embarrassing situation that the State Department last week announced Richards would go to Bonn, West Germany, to confer with Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles went to Bonn Tuesday for a North Atlantic Treaty meeting.

The State Department said last week that Dulles and Richards would meet to plan the rest of Richards' itinerary through the Middle East to explain the Eisenhower plan.

Simply Not Welcome

But Eisenhower decided yesterday to cancel that meeting. Instead, he directed Richards to return to Washington. For the record, it was explained that Richards is coming here to help prepare the new foreign aid bill.

Officials made little effort, however, to hide a more practical reason. This was that, after touring 12 countries in six weeks and with three more on his schedule, Richards simply was not welcome in Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

Senate Group Backs McLeod

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Scott McLeod, controversial State Department security chief, won a major round today in his fight to become ambassador to Ireland.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved his nomination 9-6 and predictions were heard that the Senate would follow suit.

But it took some fast footwork by Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) to defeat a Democratic-inspired move to postpone committee action on McLeod's nomination for a week. Democratic foes had hoped by such a move to gain time to kill the nomination.

East, West German Police Exchange Fire

HELMSTEDT, Germany, May 2 (AP)—East and West German police exchanged gunfire briefly today. Communist guards tried to stop with bullets two East German workmen dashing across the Iron Curtain border.

West German police said they fired "warning shots" because the East Germans fired in the direction of West German territory. The two refugees slipped through barbed wire marking the Iron Curtain and were not hit.

The two men asked West German authorities for political asylum.

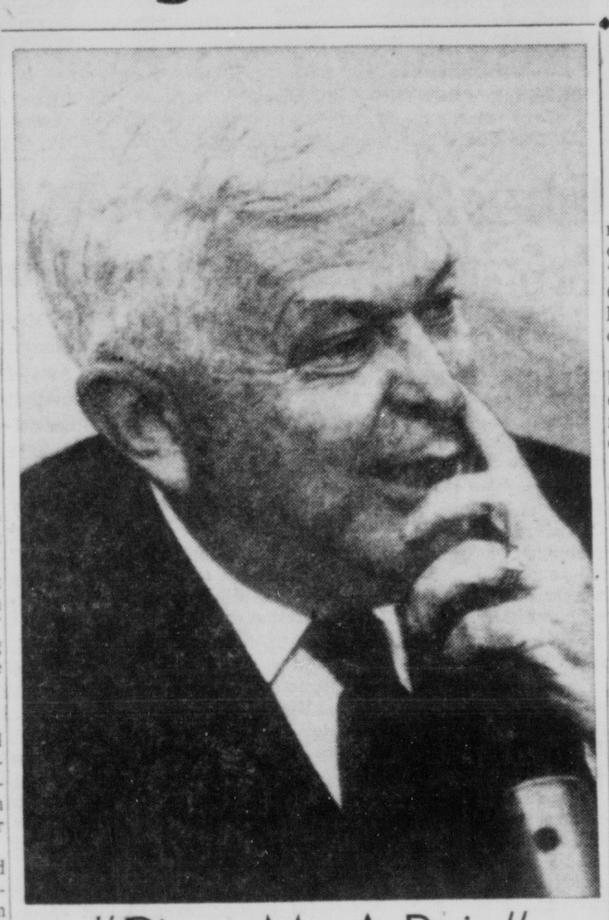
Defense Secretary Raps Budget Critics In C Of C



"Gives Me A Pain"

Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson touches his nose at his news conference yesterday when he said "it gives me a pain" to hear "my friends in the Chamber of Commerce . . . squawk about" the level of defense spending in a time of high prosperity. The secretary criticized the U. S. Chamber of Commerce for contentions that money is being wasted in duplicated military buying programs. (AP Photofax)

Aroused Wilson Says 'Squawks' Give Him 'Pain'

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said today "it gives me a pain" to hear "my friends in the Chamber of Commerce . . . squawk about" the level of defense spending in a time of high prosperity.

At a news conference, Wilson blasted back at the U. S. Chamber of Commerce for contentions that money is being wasted in duplicated military buying programs.

"My friends in the Chamber of Commerce represent some of the richest people in the country," Wilson said with some heat. "They have never been so prosperous. For them to squawk about it—the budget and military expenditures — that gives me a pain!"

Overtime Payments Cut

Asked what was being done to hold down military spending, Wilson replied that one thing was reduction of overtime payments—"We are discouraging any such thing except for the highest priority projects like the missile business."

As for the criticism from the Chamber of Commerce, Wilson said that he was "disgusted," adding that "security can not be cheap, you know."

Wilson said he believes the Treasury Department is worried about rising defense expenditures. There have been signs such spending may exceed budget estimates for the current fiscal year ending June 30. Wilson said the Pentagon is trying to keep within the budget estimates.

Wilson said a number of factors are responsible for higher military spending. Among them he cited wage increases, rising steel prices and 900 million dollars which Congress added last year to the Air Force budget.

Not "Such Dumb Remark"

Wilson recalled that when Congress voted the extra money over his objections he spoke of the action "as a sort of a phony thing."

Then Wilson added: "That doesn't look like quite such a dumb remark this year." He apparently referred to a current clamor for economy.

Wilson was asked whether there would be any new reduction in military manpower from the current strength of about 2,800,000.

The secretary said internal savings within the services had already brought uniformed strength down by 20,000 to 25,000 men. He said consideration is being given to reducing manpower in the 1959 fiscal year starting in mid-1958.

Need For Both Atom, Conventional Arms Stressed By NATO

BONN, Germany, May 2 (AP)—The 15 NATO foreign ministers agreed today that the Western Allies must base their defense against potential Communist attack on a balance between conventional and nuclear weapons.

Even such avowed advocates of atomic deterrents as Britain's Selwyn Lloyd stressed the need for both conventional and atomic weapons.

A summary of closed-door foreign minister council sessions was reported by NATO's briefing officer. He said there was no disagreement among the ministers on the need for a balanced defense.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles assured the ministers the United States has no intention of backing down on its NATO commitments, including five full divisions in West Germany.

Middle East Discussed

The ministers also took up the critical Middle East problem, but they instructed the briefing officer to report nothing about what they had said.

It was evident, however, that Dulles had indicated to the ministers that his nation is not happy with Egypt's power to exercise arbitrary rule over the Middle East oil to Europe.

The Western Allies, he said, already are planning to build new pipelines in the Middle East and construct large tankers capable of bypassing the Suez Canal.

Europe, Dulles told the ministers, must not be forced to rely "on a single artery which is subject to single arbitrary rule."

Pineau Pleased

French informants said Foreign Minister Christian Pineau was happy about Dulles' statement.

Pineau was in the fore of the talk about the defense balance and at one point spoke out against "unilateral actions" in changing a nation's defense posture.

This was an apparent reference to the recent British decision to concentrate on nuclear weapons and reduce defense manpower.

Such action, Pineau said, should be taken by the NATO nations as a unit and not by one member acting alone.

Most Of Farm Laws Outdated, Benson Asserts

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today it has become virtually impossible to control farm production.

He said crop control and price supports programs have been outdated by a "technological explosion" on the farm, and explained:

"Production per farm worker has doubled in the last 15 years. This creates a new dimension in farm policy and makes it virtually impossible to curtail agricultural output with the type of controls acceptable in our society."

Benson made these remarks in a letter to Chairman Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, who had asked the secretary to consider problems arising under existing price support legislation.

Benson wrote that major provisions of present farm laws have failed. He had criticism for crop control measures enacted under Democratic administrations in the late 1930s, and since amended, and also for the flexible price support system Congress accepted in 1954, at the urging of President Eisenhower and himself.

The secretary cautioned, too, against continuation of the soil bank reserve plan beyond its expiration date in 1959. Both Republicans and Democrats have taken credit for the soil bank concept. It is designed to reduce the huge surpluses of farm commodities held by the government.

In this connection, Benson wrote Ellender:

"There are two things which the American people are not likely to tolerate.

"They are 1. the rebuilding of surpluses in response to high wartime incentives after stocks have been pulled down by surplus disposal and the soil bank; and 2. a permanent soil bank and a permanent disposal program of the dimensions made necessary by price incentives and ineffective controls."

Mayflower Becalmed

LAND'S END, England, May 2 (AP)—Mayflower II, the British-made sailing ship re-enacting the historic voyage to America of the Pilgrims in 1620, was becalmed off the Canary Islands today.

Skipper Alan Villiers said in a terse radio message picked up here: "Becalmed off Palma." Palma is on the west of the Canary Island group, about 60 miles from the African coast.

Filibustering Tex. Senator Denounced As "Traitor"

AUSTIN, Tex., May 2 (AP)—A Texas senator filibustering segregation bills said today his wife was subjected to anonymous telephone calls last night referring to him as a "nigger lover."

Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo told the Senate he also was called a "traitor" in a telegram from the Houston Citizens Council—a group opposing integration.

Kazen, Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio and a small band of state senators from sections where integration is already a fact clung stubbornly to their delaying action which started yesterday at 11:16 a.m. Their districts have heavy Latin American populations.

Fighting what Kazen admitted may be a futile battle, they hoped to defeat or at least delay a Senate showdown on a series of segregation bills already approved by the House. The measures are designed to continue separation of white and Negro students in Texas' public schools.

Gonzalez and Kazen said over and over that the measures are unconstitutional on their face, written solely to circumvent the U. S. Supreme Court's desegregation orders.

Proponents of the segregation bills sat in silence as Gonzalez in an often-impassioned speech starting before dawn cried:

"Is Texas liberty only the liberty of Anglo-Saxons?"

He charged the particular bill under consideration is so broad that it could lead to a new effort to legalize segregation of Latin Americans and Anglo-Americans in Texas schools.

The bill against which the senators are filibustering would allow local school boards to assign pupils to any school in their jurisdiction, thus eliminating integration if the board did not want it.

SENATOR DIES — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (above), Wisconsin Republican, died last evening at Bethesda Naval Hospital of acute hepatitis. The controversial political figure was 47.

Javits And Bush Throw Support To Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Two more Republican senators—Javits of New York and Bush of Connecticut—rallied to the support of President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget today.

They spoke out in Senate speeches against Republican and Democratic calls for sharp reductions in this largest of peacetime budgets.

Without mentioning the names of cut-the-budget Republicans, Javits and Bush stressed that this budget was intended to carry out GOP campaign pledges, and should be supported as such. At the same time, both said some cuts were possible.

Johnson Hits "Confusion"

From the Democratic side, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate majority leader, continued his firing at what he calls confusion in the administration over finances.

"We are told that if we cut the budget, we will breach the nation's security," Johnson told the Senate. "On the other hand, we are told that if we don't cut the budget, we'll have a hair-curling depression.

"Congress has been told that whatever we do—cut or don't cut—we are going to hurt our country.

"It is about time the administration makes up its mind."

Bush Recalls Platform

Bush, a New England businessman, was chairman of the Platform Committee at the 1956 Republican convention. He recalled that the platform called for action in the fields of education, welfare, slum clearance, flood insurance, flood control, highway construction, postal services and foreign affairs.

"That was the platform overwhelmingly approved by the American people," Bush declared. "That was the platform which we have a moral obligation to carry forward.

"I know that the President has no intention of repudiating his promises, and the Republican party should not permit the people ever to suspect that we are less faithful to our trust than he is."

School Aid Bill Makes Headway

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — A five-year, two-billion-dollar program of federal aid to school construction made progress in the House Education Committee today.

The group approved tentatively the amount of money, the number of years and the method of distribution to the states.

These were the first provisions of a bill recommended by a subcommittee. The committee rejected amendments to them, thus leaving them as the subcommittee had written them.

Inflammation Of Liver Ends Career At 47

Old Feuds Forgotten As Friend And Foe Alike Voice Sorrow

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Death wrote an end tonight to the storm-filled career of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, one of the 20th century's most controversial political figures.

The Wisconsin Republican died at 6:02 p.m. EDT at the Naval Medical Center at nearby Bethesda, Md., of an inflammation which broke down the functioning of his liver. He was 47.

In this capital, which saw him rise to national attention with his Red-hunting campaigns and then fade into relative obscurity, friend and foe alike expressed shock at his passing. Old feuds were forgotten for the moment as leaders spoke of their sorrow.

President Eisenhower, who had grown so cold to McCarthy that the senator was crossed off the White House social invitation list, made this statement:

"I have just been informed of the sudden passing of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

"Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in extending our profound sympathy to Mrs. McCarthy in the grievous personal loss she has sustained."

Senate Flag At Half Staff

Within a half-hour after McCarthy died the flag over the Senate was dropped to half staff.

McCarthy was a key figure in the investigations of communism and alleged communism which aroused high feelings in the early 1950s, but his career faded after the Senate voted condemnation of some of his conduct in 1954.

McCarthy's death came five days after he was hospitalized for a liver inflammation, acute hepatitis.

He is survived by his wife and former Senate aide, Jean Kerr McCarthy, and the infant daughter they adopted early this year.

McCarthy had been ill for varying periods over the past few years, suffering from sinus trouble, bursitis and a knee injury which he attributed to a steel fragment lodging in the knee during his World War II service as a Marine officer in the South Pacific.

Mrs. McCarthy was at the senator's bedside when he died. Medical officials of the hospital were in attendance.

Officially the death was attributed to "acute hepatic failure."

Successor Will Be Elected

His death cuts the Republican membership in the Senate to 46, compared with the Democrats' 49. Wisconsin's Republican Gov. Vernon W. Thompson is prohibited by state law from naming a successor to McCarthy but can call a special election to choose another senator.

McCarthy — whose activities gave a new word, "McCarthyism," to the English language—died in the same hospital where he had been a patient on past occasions, notably during his Senate "trial." That proceeding culminated in a vote that he had 1. obstructed "the constitutional

Clash Reported By Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 2 (AP)—New clashes between Honduran and Nicaraguan forces along their disputed border were reported today.

Semiofficial sources said an air battle occurred this morning at Las Manos. There was no report of casualties.

Other reports said there also had been infantry clashes.

The reports could not be confirmed in the absence of official information since last night's announcement that Honduras had "recaptured" the village of Mocoron from Nicagauan forces. Honduras claimed the village had been occupied in a Nicaraguan invasion last month.

Government sources said however that reinforcements of from 3,000 to 4,000 men had been sent to the 5,000 troops already in border areas of San Marcos de Colon and Tenli. Nicaraguan troops were reported to be approaching those points.

Tegucigalpa was quiet today after an overnight alarm caused by Nicaraguan radio reports that Nicaraguan troops would be in Tegucigalpa within 10 hours.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 2 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Nicaragua would keep the main body of its armed forces well back from the border, hoping for a peaceful settlement of its frontier dispute with Honduras.

Costello Slightly Injured In Assassination Attempt

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello suffered a grazing bullet wound of the scalp tonight in what police called "an apparent attempt at assassination."

The shooting occurred in the lobby of Costello's apartment house at 115 Central Park West, a plush Manhattan area, police said.

Costello was treated at Roosevelt Hospital, and was scheduled for quick discharge.

Officers said Costello's wife and William Kennedy, a theatrical agent, were with him at the time of the shooting. They said they had just come by taxi from a restaurant of East 55th Street, where they had had dinner with Generoso Pope, publisher of an Italian-language paper, when the shooting occurred.

Detectives quoted Costello as saying that he, his wife and Kennedy were just passing through the building's street door into the lobby when he felt a sting above his right ear, then a quick flow of blood.

All three told police they heard no shot and did not see the gunman. After a few moments they went to Roosevelt Hospital by taxi.

Costello, who has been described as one of the most powerful figures in national gambling and racketeering circles, was convicted in 1954 of evading $28,532 in federal income taxes. He began a five-year prison term last May, but was released on $25,000 bond.

He was freed by the Supreme Court pending a ruling on whether the law under which he was convicted provides a maximum sentence of only one year. An earlier bid for freedom on bail pending his appeal was denied by a U. S. Court of Appeals.

"My friends in the Chamber of Commerce represent some of the richest people in the country," Wilson said with some heat. "They have never been so prosperous. For them to squawk about it—the budget and military expenditures — that gives me a pain!"

Overtime Payments Cut

Asked what was being done to hold down military spending, Wilson replied that one thing was reduction of overtime payments—"We are discouraging any such thing except for the highest priority projects like the missile business."

As for the criticism from the Chamber of Commerce, Wilson said that he was "disgusted," adding that "security can not be cheap, you know."

Wilson said he believes the Treasury Department is worried about rising defense expenditures. There have been signs such spending may exceed budget estimates for the current fiscal year ending June 30. Wilson said the Pentagon is trying to keep within the budget estimates.

Wilson said a number of factors are responsible for higher military spending. Among them he cited wage increases, rising steel prices and 900 million dollars which Congress added last year to the Air Force budget.

Not "Such Dumb Remark"

Wilson recalled that when Congress voted the extra money over his objections he spoke of the action "as a sort of a phony thing."

Then Wilson added: "That doesn't look like quite such a dumb remark this year." He apparently referred to a current clamor for economy.

Wilson was asked whether there would be any new reduction in military manpower from the current strength of about 2,800,000.

The secretary said internal savings within the services had already brought uniformed strength down by 20,000 to 25,000 men. He said consideration is being given to reducing manpower in the 1959 fiscal year starting in mid-1958.

Need For Both Atom, Conventional Arms Stressed By NATO

BONN, Germany, May 2 (AP)—The 15 NATO foreign ministers agreed today that the Western Allies must base their defense against potential Communist attack on a balance between conventional and nuclear weapons.

Even such avowed advocates of atomic deterrents as Britain's Selwyn Lloyd stressed the need for both conventional and atomic weapons.

A summary of closed-door foreign minister council sessions was reported by NATO's briefing officer. He said there was no disagreement among the ministers on the need for a balanced defense.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles assured the ministers the United States has no intention of backing down on its NATO commitments, including five full divisions in West Germany.

Middle East Discussed

The ministers also took up the critical Middle East problem, but they instructed the briefing officer to report nothing about what they had said.

It was evident, however, that Dulles had indicated to the ministers that his nation is not happy with Egypt's power to exercise arbitrary rule over the Middle East oil to Europe.

The Western Allies, he said, already are planning to build new pipelines in the Middle East and construct large tankers capable of bypassing the Suez Canal.

Europe, Dulles told the ministers, must not be forced to rely "on a single artery which is subject to single arbitrary rule."

Pineau Pleased

French informants said Foreign Minister Christian Pineau was happy about Dulles' statement.

Pineau was in the fore of the talk about the defense balance and at one point spoke out against "unilateral actions" in changing a nation's defense posture.

This was an apparent reference to the recent British decision to concentrate on nuclear weapons and reduce defense manpower.

Such action, Pineau said, should be taken by the NATO nations as a unit and not by one member acting alone.

Most Of Farm Laws Outdated, Benson Asserts

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today it has become virtually impossible to control farm production.

He said crop control and price supports programs have been outdated by a "technological explosion" on the farm, and explained:

"Production per farm worker has doubled in the last 15 years. This creates a new dimension in farm policy and makes it virtually impossible to curtail agricultural output with the type of controls acceptable in our society."

Benson made these remarks in a letter to Chairman Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee, who had asked the secretary to consider problems arising under existing price support legislation.

Benson wrote that major provisions of present farm laws have failed. He had criticism for crop control measures enacted under Democratic administrations in the late 1930s, and since amended, and also for the flexible price support system Congress accepted in 1954, at the urging of President Eisenhower and himself.

The secretary cautioned, too, against continuation of the soil bank reserve plan beyond its expiration date in 1959. Both Republicans and Democrats have taken credit for the soil bank concept. It is designed to reduce the huge surpluses of farm commodities held by the government.

In this connection, Benson wrote Ellender:

"There are two things which the American people are not likely to tolerate.

"They are 1. the rebuilding of surpluses in response to high wartime incentives after stocks have been pulled down by surplus disposal and the soil bank; and 2. a permanent soil bank and a permanent disposal program of the dimensions made necessary by price incentives and ineffective controls."

Mayflower Becalmed

LAND'S END, England, May 2 (AP)—Mayflower II, the British-made sailing ship re-enacting the historic voyage to America of the Pilgrims in 1620, was becalmed off the Canary Islands today.

Skipper Alan Villiers said in a terse radio message picked up here: "Becalmed off Palma." Palma is on the west of the Canary Island group, about 60 miles from the African coast.

Javits And Bush Throw Support To Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Two more Republican senators—Javits of New York and Bush of Connecticut—rallied to the support of President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget today.

They spoke out in Senate speeches against Republican and Democratic calls for sharp reductions in this largest of peacetime budgets.

Without mentioning the names of cut-the-budget Republicans, Javits and Bush stressed that this budget was intended to carry out GOP campaign pledges, and should be supported as such. At the same time, both said some cuts were possible.

Johnson Hits "Confusion"

From the Democratic side, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate majority leader, continued his firing at what he calls confusion in the administration over finances.

"We are told that if we cut the budget, we will breach the nation's security," Johnson told the Senate. "On the other hand, we are told that if we don't cut the budget, we'll have a hair-curling depression.

"Congress has been told that whatever we do—cut or don't cut—we are going to hurt our country.

Bush Recalls Platform

Bush, a New England businessman, was chairman of the Platform Committee at the 1956 Republican convention. He recalled that the platform called for action in the fields of education, welfare, slum clearance, flood insurance, flood control, highway construction, postal services and foreign affairs.

"That was the platform overwhelmingly approved by the American people," Bush declared. "That was the platform which we have a moral obligation to carry forward.

"I know that the President has no intention of repudiating his promises, and the Republican party should not permit the people ever to suspect that we are less faithful to our trust than he is."

School Aid Bill Makes Headway

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — A five-year, two-billion-dollar program of federal aid to school construction made progress in the House Education Committee today.

The group approved tentatively the amount of money, the number of years and the method of distribution to the states.

These were the first provisions of a bill recommended by a subcommittee. The committee rejected amendments to them, thus leaving them as the subcommittee had written them.

Costello Slightly Injured In Assassination Attempt

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello suffered a grazing bullet wound of the scalp tonight in what police called "an apparent attempt at assassination."

The shooting occurred in the lobby of Costello's apartment house at 115 Central Park West, a plush Manhattan area, police said.

Costello was treated at Roosevelt Hospital, and was scheduled for quick discharge.

Officers said Costello's wife and William Kennedy, a theatrical agent, were with him at the time of the shooting. They said they had just come by taxi from a restaurant of East 55th Street, where they had had dinner with Generoso Pope, publisher of an Italian-language paper, when the shooting occurred.

Detectives quoted Costello as saying that he, his wife and Kennedy were just passing through the building's street door into the lobby when he felt a sting above his right ear, then a quick flow of blood.

All three told police they heard no shot and did not see the gunman. After a few moments they went to Roosevelt Hospital by taxi.

Costello, who has been described as one of the most powerful figures in national gambling and racketeering circles, was convicted in 1954 of evading $28,532 in federal income taxes. He began a five-year prison term last May, but was released on $25,000 bond.

He was freed by the Supreme Court pending a ruling on whether the law under which he was convicted provides a maximum sentence of only one year. An earlier bid for freedom on bail pending his appeal was denied by a U. S. Court of Appeals.

Inflammation Of Liver Ends Career At 47

Old Feuds Forgotten As Friend And Foe Alike Voice Sorrow

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Death wrote an end tonight to the storm-filled career of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, one of the 20th century's most controversial political figures.

The Wisconsin Republican died at 6:02 p.m. EDT at the Naval Medical Center at nearby Bethesda, Md., of an inflammation which broke down the functioning of his liver. He was 47.

In this capital, which saw him rise to national attention with his Red-hunting campaigns and then fade into relative obscurity, friend and foe alike expressed shock at his passing. Old feuds were forgotten for the moment as leaders spoke of their sorrow.

President Eisenhower, who had grown so cold to McCarthy that the senator was crossed off the White House social invitation list, made this statement:

"I have just been informed of the sudden passing of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

"Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in extending our profound sympathy to Mrs. McCarthy in the grievous personal loss she has sustained."

Senate Flag At Half Staff

Within a half-hour after McCarthy died the flag over the Senate was dropped to half staff.

McCarthy was a key figure in the investigations of communism and alleged communism which aroused high feelings in the early 1950s, but his career faded after the Senate voted condemnation of some of his conduct in 1954.

McCarthy's death came five days after he was hospitalized for a liver inflammation, acute hepatitis.

He is survived by his wife and former Senate aide, Jean Kerr McCarthy, and the infant daughter they adopted early this year.

McCarthy had been ill for varying periods over the past few years, suffering from sinus trouble, bursitis and a knee injury which he attributed to a steel fragment lodging in the knee during his World War II service as a Marine officer in the South Pacific.

Mrs. McCarthy was at the senator's bedside when he died. Medical officials of the hospital were in attendance.

Successor Will Be Elected

His death cuts the Republican membership in the Senate to 46, compared with the Democrats' 49. Wisconsin's Republican Gov. Vernon W. Thompson is prohibited by state law from naming a successor to McCarthy but can call a special election to choose another senator.

McCarthy — whose activities gave a new word, "McCarthyism," to the English language—died in the same hospital where he had been a patient on past occasions, notably during his Senate "trial." That proceeding culminated in a vote that he had 1. obstructed "the constitutional

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 2 (AP)—New clashes between Honduran and Nicaraguan forces along their disputed border were reported today.

Semiofficial sources said an air battle occurred this morning at Las Manos. There was no report of casualties.

Other reports said there also had been infantry clashes.

The reports could not be confirmed in the absence of official information since last night's announcement that Honduras had "recaptured" the village of Mocoron from Nicagauan forces. Honduras claimed the village had been occupied in a Nicaraguan invasion last month.

Government sources said however that reinforcements of from 3,000 to 4,000 men had been sent to the 5,000 troops already in border areas of San Marcos de Colon and Tenli. Nicaraguan troops were reported to be approaching those points.

Tegucigalpa was quiet today after an overnight alarm caused by Nicaraguan radio reports that Nicaraguan troops would be in Tegucigalpa within 10 hours.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 2 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Nicaragua would keep the main body of its armed forces well back from the border, hoping for a peaceful settlement of its frontier dispute with Honduras.

Wisconsin Election To Choose Senator Expected This Fall

MADISON, Wis., May 2 (AP)—A special election probably will be called in Wisconsin this fall to fill the unexpired term of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), who died tonight at Bethesda Naval Hospital near Washington.

The state's laws do not permit the governor to name a successor but they do give him power to order a special election if a vacancy occurs in the office of U. S. senator.

Gov. Vernon Thomson, a Republican, has not said whether he would call such an election but indications are that he will do so. If he does not, the office will be vacant until November 1958 when McCarthy would have been up for re-election had he lived to win the Republican nomination again.

If the special election is called, it will be preceded by a primary that is likely to find several candidates of the Democratic and Republican parties seeking the nominations.

The list of candidates, particularly in the Republican column could be quite long in the event the Republican party organization at its annual convention June 7-8 at La Crosse decides not to endorse a candidate.

In the event the convention endorses a candidate, there still may be several who will run even if they do not get the endorsement.

The Republican party convention usually endorses candidates only in the even-numbered years before general elections and then backs them by financial and other support. It endorses only state officers and senators.

Heading the list of possible Republican candidates is Walter J. Kohler, 53, three times governor of Wisconsin who announced previous to McCarthy's illness that he was considering making the race. If the Republican party endorses a candidate he appears most likely to get it.

Another possible Republican candidate is Glenn R. Davis, 42, of Waukesha, a former representative and unsuccessful candidate for the GOP nomination last year against Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis).

Two Republican congressmen also are considered as possible timber for the Senate. They are Rep. Melvin R. Laird, 34, of Marshfield and Rep. John W. Byrnes, 43, of Green Bay. Laird has been in Congress since 1953 and Byrnes since 1945.

Husband Supports Arlene Dahl's Claim

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Fernando Lamas, actor-husband of screen beauty Arlene Dahl, today told State Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg that there is an "overemphasis of sex in the movies" and particularly in advertising involving his wife.

Lamas testified in support of his wife's million dollar damage suit against Columbia Picture Corp. The suit charges "lewd, lascivious and obscene" composite photographs were used to advertise her latest picture, "Wicked as They Come."

Shown one of the pictures in question, Lamas said it was "cheap, not in good taste."

"We are overemphasizing sex too much in the movies. There have been a lot of complaints. It is cheapening. My wife did not pose for these pictures," he said.

English Beauty Crowned Apple Blossom Queen

WINCHESTER, Va., May 2 (AP)—In a tree-fringed setting lovelier than anything man could have invented, Winchester today crowned a 19-year-old English beauty as queen of its 30th Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Miss Anne Denise Doughty-Tichborne, whose family has lived near Winchester, England, since Saxon times, promised to govern her domain "with prudence and justice according to the laws and customs of the same."

The dark-haired queen received her crown in the internationally flavored ceremony from Lord de la Warr, former British postmaster general. Her minister of state was Ricardo M. Arias E., Panama's ambassador to the United States.

Queen Shenandoah was escorted by Virginia Lt. Gov. A. E. S. Stephens, who had one daughter crowned queen here in 1955 and another who is one of the 32 princesses this year.

Almost her every step was recorded on film by her dark-haired, attractive mother, Lady Antonia Doghty-Tichborne, who was almost as much a center of attraction as Queen Shenandoah.

Following the coronation in the sunlight-bathed Handley High School Bowl, the queen and her court witnessed the first of two presentations of the annual pageant, "In All Generations", in which some 1,500 Winchester school students took part.

The night program was highlighted by the firemen's parade of nearly 200 units—pieces of fire-fighting equipment, bands, majorettes and marchers—from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia and featuring radio star Ted Malone as marshal.

Fidazzo Case To Grand Jury

ANNAPOLIS, May 2 (AP) — The state's attorney for Anne Arundel County today asked the county grand jury to indict Alfred Fidazzo, 39-year-old Baltimore laborer, for the murder of his common law wife.

In presenting the case directly to the grand jury, State's Atty. C. Osborne Duvall by-passed a preliminary hearing for the burly, 215-pound sewer-construction worker charged with the necktie slaying of Mrs. Marcia June Novak, 27-year-old mother of one child.

The jury considered the case along with several others, then returned several presentments to Judge Matthew S. Evans in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

Judge Evans did not make any of the presentments public. Duvall said any indictments returned will not be announced until they are docketed officially tomorrow morning.

Police said Fidazzo had lived with the attractive Baltimore office worker for the past six years in a house at Forest Glenn near Pasadena, a community 10 miles north of Annapolis.

Mrs. Novak's body, with a necktie knotted tightly around the neck, was found in the house April 16.

Fidazzo, an employe of the Baltimore Bureau of Sewers, walked into Anne Arundel County Police headquarters and surrendered to authorities 12 hours after a two-state search for him was touched off by discovery of Mrs. Novak's body.

Wilson Says Defense Based On Atom Arms

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says U.S. defense policy is based on the use of atomic weapons in a major war and "on the use of such atomic weapons as would be militarily feasible and usable in a smaller war, if such a war is forced upon us."

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, says "the atomic weapon is integrated into all our plans and programs. Our force levels (the number of men) are based on their use."

These statements by the two top defense leaders, made before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee recently, were made public today.

Six Sons Of Late Pasha Arrested, Not Kidnaped

RABAT, Morocco, Friday, May 3 (AP)—The Moroccan government said early today that six sons of the late Pasha of Marrakech—first reported kidnaped by outlaw soldiers and held for ransom—have been arrested.

A communique from the Interior Ministry said the sons were accused of "antinational activities" but listed only five of the family along with seven other persons arrested on similar charges.

The father, Thami el Glaoui, was a close collaborator of the former French rulers of Morocco. He died of cancer a year ago.

The communique said:

"Certain persons, Moroccan subjects, who in spite of their past behavior have benefited from a large measure of clemency, have lent themselves for some time past to antinational activities.

"Investigation by the Ministry of Interior revealed that important financial means were mobilized and used, notably abroad, to serve enterprises of a kind bringing danger to the security of the state.

"The persons concerned have just been made the objects of administative measures. The results of the inquiry will be communicated to the government, which will take the necessary measures."

It listed the brothers arrested as Mohammed, Abdallah, Hassan, Sadder and Madani Glaoui.

Also arrested, it said, were Ali Ben Maalem, Hassan Manssouri, Bachir Chraibi, Hassan Ou Touzgha, Mohammed Ben Hadj Taib el Goundafi and Ahmed Ou Chatto. They were not further identified.

Despite their long record of opposition to Moroccan nationalist movements, the Glaoui brothers never have been molested by the government of Sultan Mohammed V since Morocco gained its independence from French protection.

They lived in their father's yellow, crenelated palace in the heart of Marrakech's native quarter. Reputedly the building is a treasury of gold and jewels accumulated by the old pasha during the years he was unchallenged leader of Morocco's Berber tribesmen.

The arrests were made by armed forces who swooped down and at first were believed to have been members of the outlawed National Liberation Army—the guerrillas who fought against the French and were ordered disbanded when the Sultan's government became independent.

Cutback Explained

Air Force Doesn't Want Mere "Flying Reactor"

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Air Force has slowed its atomic plane project because its first result appeared likely to be a mere "flying reactor" instead of a supersonic, high altitude, unlimited-range bomber.

This explanation of why the Air Force—for the second time in the last half a dozen years—has cut back spending on the proposed nuclear-engined aircraft was presented in recent testimony before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee. A transcript of the testimony was made public today.

It shows that the Air Force plans to spend in fiscal 1958 only about a fourth of the 600 million dollars originally scheduled for the year.

Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles told the committee that under the stepped-up effort what probably would have been produced first was an aircraft with little "military usefulness." He said this would be a "luxury we could not afford," and that the project should be aimed at production of an actual nuclear-powered bomber.

Soon after Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson took office in 1953 he issued an order which virtually halted the atom plane program, but later reinstated it.

The testimony also showed that Dr. Clifford Furnas, until recently assistant secretary of defense for research, had advised the committee that "we are quite a long way" from having an atomic-powered airplane. Furnas also commented that "if the Russians have anything on it, I would be quite surprised."

In another field of atomic energy use—power for submarines and ships—Russia was pictured as behind the United States.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said "We know they (the Russians) are interested in nuclear power for submarines" and while it is not known how far along the Russians are "we think they have not yet gotten a nuclear powered submarine to sea."

Victor Plans To Sell Charles Town Plant

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—The Victor Products Corp. announced today it was negotiating for the sale of one of its plants here to the Narco Co. of Chattanooga, Tenn., and the Heintz Co. of Philadelphia.

Roy Seeley, president of Victor Products, said the plant to be sold is one of the two in Ranson, W. Va., adjoining Charles Town. The firm has two others in Hagerstown, Md., and one at Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Seeley announced the negotiations at a luncheon meeting of the Jefferson County Chamber of Commerce and representatives of both prospective purchasing firms.

processes of the Senate," and 2. breached "senatorial ethics."

Politically—and perhaps personally—this verdict was a well nigh fatal blow to the blue-jowled, sardonically witty, sometimes sentimental and often stormily denunciatory McCarthy.

The onetime farm boy from Appleton, Wis., had gone a long way. Joe McCarthy—he liked to be called "Joe"—was acclaimed by many as the nation's foremost hunter of Communists. He was assailed by others as a cynical, ruthless destroyer of reputations.

Six Sons Of Late Pasha Arrested, Not Kidnaped

RABAT, Morocco, Friday, May 3 (AP)—The Moroccan government said early today that six sons of the late Pasha of Marrakech—first reported kidnaped by outlaw soldiers and held for ransom—have been arrested.

A communique from the Interior Ministry said the sons were accused of "antinational activities" but listed only five of the family along with seven other persons arrested on similar charges.

The father, Thami el Glaoui, was a close collaborator of the former French rulers of Morocco. He died of cancer a year ago.

The communique said:

"Certain persons, Moroccan subjects, who in spite of their past behavior have benefited from a large measure of clemency, have lent themselves for some time past to antinational activities.

"Investigation by the Ministry of Interior revealed, that important financial means were mobilized and used, notably abroad, to serve enterprises of a kind bringing danger to the security of the state.

"The persons concerned have just been made the objects of administative measures. The results of the inquiry will be communicated to the government, which will take the necessary measures."

It listed the brothers arrested as Mohammed, Abdallah, Hassan, Sadder and Madani Glaoui.

Also arrested, it said, were Ali Ben Maalem, Hassan Manssouri, Bachir Chraibi, Hassan Ou Touzgha, Mohammed Ben Hadj Taib el Goundafi and Ahmed Ou Chatto. They were not further identified.

Despite their long record of opposition to Moroccan nationalist movements, the Glaoui brothers never have been molested by the government of Sultan Mohammed V since Morocco gained its independence from French protection.

They lived in their father's yellow, crenelated palace in the heart of Marrakech's native quarter. Reputedly the building is a treasury of gold and jewels accumulated by the old pasha during the years he was unchallenged leader of Morocco's Berber tribesmen.

The arrests were made by armed forces who swooped down and at first were believed to have been members of the outlawed National Liberation Army—the guerrillas who fought against the French and were ordered disbanded when the Sultan's government became independent.

Europe Oil Crisis Over

PARIS, May 2 (AP)—Europe has successfully weathered the Suez oil crisis and stocks are now normal, the Emergency Oil Committee said today.

Cutback Explained

Air Force Doesn't Want Mere "Flying Reactor"

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Air Force has slowed its atomic plane project because its first result appeared likely to be a mere "flying reactor" instead of a supersonic, high altitude, unlimited-range bomber.

This explanation of why the Air Force—for the second time in the last half a dozen years—has cut back spending on the proposed nuclear-engined aircraft was presented in recent testimony before a House Military Appropriations subcommittee. A transcript of the testimony was made public today.

It shows that the Air Force plans to spend in fiscal 1958 only about a fourth of the 600 million dollars originally scheduled for the year.

Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles told the committee that under the stepped-up effort what probably would have been produced first was an aircraft with little "military usefulness." He said this would be a "luxury we could not afford," and that the project should be aimed at production of an actual nuclear-powered bomber.

Soon after Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson took office in 1953 he issued an order which virtually halted the atom plane program, but later reinstated it.

The testimony also showed that Dr. Clifford Furnas, until recently assistant secretary of defense for research, had advised the committee that "we are quite a long way" from having an atomic-powered airplane. Furnas also commented that "if the Russians have anything on it, I would be quite surprised."

In another field of atomic energy use—power for submarines and ships—Russia was pictured as behind the United States.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said "We know they (the Russians) are interested in nuclear power for submarines" and while it is not known how far along the Russians are "we think they have not yet gotten a nuclear powered submarine to sea."

Victor Plans To Sell Charles Town Plant

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—The Victor Products Corp. announced today it was negotiating for the sale of one of its plants here to the Narco Co. of Chattanooga, Tenn., and the Heintz Co. of Philadelphia.

Roy Seeley, president of Victor Products, said the plant to be sold is one of the two in Ranson, W. Va., adjoining Charles Town. The firm has two others in Hagerstown, Md., and one at Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Seeley announced the negotiations at a luncheon meeting of the Jefferson County Chamber of Commerce and representatives of both prospective purchasing firms.

Negro Slayer Sentenced To Gas Chamber Appeals

ANNAPOLIS, May 2 (AP) — Carl Daniel Kier, 21-year-old Baltimore Negro, went to the Court of Appeals today in an attempt to escape death in the gas chamber for the murder of Mrs. John H. Bopst Jr., 49-year-old Baltimore County matron.

Kier's court-appointed attorneys asked the court to reverse his conviction of first-degree slaying of Mrs. Bopst June 12, 1956, at her home.

Kier was found guilty Sept. 18, 1956, after a two-day trial before the Baltimore County Circuit Court, sitting without a jury as a criminal court.

On Dec. 20 he was sentenced to die in the gas chamber and was committed to death row at the State Penitentiary.

Mrs. Bopst's body was discovered by her husband shortly after her death. She had been assaulted and stabbed.

In his first statement to police, Kier admitted being in the Bopst home the day of the slaying. He said he had found the body but did not kill the woman.

In a confession which State's Atty. John E. Raine Jr. succeeded in getting into evidence at the trial, Kier said he criminally assaulted Mrs. Bopst and stabbed her with knives he took from the kitchen.

Defense Attys. David N. Bates and William H. Murphy called no witnesses at the trial but tried to block admission of the confession, obtained during a physicial examination of Kier the day after the murder.

Bates and Murphy argued before the high court today that the confession was not made freely and voluntarily.

Detrick And Ritchie Construction Planned

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Maryland's two Republican U. S. senators and Rep. Devereux (R-Md) today announced a county-by-county breakdown of the Defense Department's $13,303,000 construction plan for Maryland.

The sum is the state's share of the $1,561,338,000 authorized in the military construction bill for work in this country and overseas.

The breakdown includes:

Frederick County — Camp Detrick, $627,000 to provide for various utilities.

Washington County—Ft. Ritchie, $820,000 for troop housing.

$76 Million State Tax Take By June 30 Seen

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes said today he was confident that by June 30—the end of the State's business year—there will be at least 70 million dollars in the bank from State income taxes.

As of April 30, income tax receipts totaled more than 56 million dollars. Hundreds of thousands of returns still have not been opened and processed.

The State's money men estimated the State income tax would reach $70,404,000.

Car Crash Ends Wedding Plans

SMITHSBURG, Md., May 2 (AP)—James Roscoe Lewis, 19-year-old Army private home on furlough, will be buried Saturday—the day he was to be married.

Lewis was driving home from the home of his fiancee, Bonita A. Bragunier of Hagerstown, early today. Passing another car on a narrow county road near here, he lost control of his car which veered off the road, struck a tree and overturned.

Lewis had applied for a marriage license two days ago and planned to pick it up today.

Contracts Are Let For Power Station

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Potomac Electric Power Co. has let contracts for construction of its new generating station near Dickerson, Montgomery County, Md.

The station will house two 175,000-kilowatt turbo-generator units, the first of which is scheduled to begin operation in the summer of 1959. Estimated cost of the project is 35 million dollars.

Stone & Webster Engineering Co. was elected as the engineering firm and general contractor.

The new units will use steam for power. The plant will be built approximately three-quarters of a mile downstream on the Potomac from the point where the Monocacy River enters the Potomac.

Youths Plead Innocent In Fatal Auto Crash

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Two youths pleaded innocent today to manslaughter charges involving the traffic deaths of four other young persons.

The State contended that James E. Fannon Jr., driver of one car, and Joseph Leonard, driver of another, raced up Hillen road, last August 25 at speeds up to 85 m.p.h.

The vehicles sideswiped, and then crashed at separate points. Four young men and women in the Fannon car, 17 to 22 years of age, were killed.

CCC Income Up

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Commercial Credit Co. reported today its net income for the first quarter of this year was up about $13,800, compared with the first quarter

At the time of the big fire, the population of Chicago was just under 300 thousand persons.

Students Create Rumpus Before Police Take Hand

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—It's officially spring. Johns Hopkins University's students broke loose last night, blocked Charles street alongside the campus, rocked a few cars and made a lot of noise.

No one was injured and no damage done. One freshman, Walter Darrow, 18, of Pasadena, Md., was fined $10 today for calling a policeman "Skinny."

The noisy affair began about 11:15 p. m. when a group of students began yelling outside a dormitory.

No one seemed angry. It was a warm, still night, and perhaps it seemed like the thing to do.

Some 200 or 300 more came out of their rooms and joined in. They marched on Charles street, blocking traffic.

Four police cars and a paddy wagon pulled up in response to calls from sleepy neighbors.

Jayncees To Receive Reports

Reports will be given at the regular dinner meeting of the Jayncees to be held May 8 at the Cumberland Country Club, beginning at 6:30. Mrs. Gilbert Miller will be guest of the club and is to give a demonstration and talk on "Flower Arrangements."

A business session will follow with Mrs. William M. Wilson presiding. Mrs. Raymond C. Dorn, social chairman, is to give the final plans for the square dance to be held at the Ali Ghan City Club on May 11, for all Jaycees, their wives and friends.

Other reports will include the project for Friends Aware, by Mrs. William T. Russell Jr., Civic chairman, the recent Community Council meeting, of which the Jayncees is a charter member, by Mrs. Arthur S. Davis Jr.; proposed changes in the by-laws on which the club will vote, by Mrs. William Scott IV; and the drive for clothing for needy school children, by Mrs. William R. Kirk Jr. It may be left at the home of Mrs. William S. Firey, 115 Bedford Street, or brought to the meeting.

NATIONAL HEAD ADDRESSES GROUP—The Woman's Republican Club of Frostburg was urged by Mrs. Peter Gibson, Monroe, Mich., president of the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, to strive for a more active membership and good public relations. Mrs. Gibson was the speaker at the fourth annual spring dinner meeting of the club, held Tuesday evening at State Teachers College. Left to right in the first row are Mrs. James Shryock, newly elected president, who was installed at the meeting; Miss Katherine Close, retiring president, who presided; Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. J. Glenn Beall, who introduced Mrs. Gibson. Second row are Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, Mrs. Osburn Beall, Stevenson, vice president of the Maryland federation, who extended greetings from that group; Mrs. DeWitt Hyde, and Mrs. Albert C. Cook, who was toastmaster.

Guild Program Announced

Miss Ozella Robertson, president-elect of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Centre Street Methodist Church, announces a program for the monthly dinner meeting, which will be held May 9 at 6 p. m.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. R. Finley Thompson, president of the WSCS of the church. Her subject is "Guild Goals for 1957-58." Miss Pauline House, teacher of English at Fort Hill High School, will be guest soloist. She will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. George Reiter. Her selections include, "If I Could Tell You," Isabelle Firestone; "Summertime," Gershwin; and the 23d Psalm, Mellotte.

Plans for the summer social meetings will be discussed and reports of committee chairmen given. Miss Eloise Gurley, retiring president, will preside and conduct the Guild ritual.

Junior Band To Play For Circus Tonight

The Fort Hill Junior band will play several selections at the opening of the Johnson Heights "Circus" tonight at 6:30. Other entertainment will include dances by each class and a performance by the Johnson Heights Twirlers.

There also will be a cake walk and dancing for teen-agers, concluding the evening. At 9 o'clock an RCA portable TV and a flowering plant are to be awarded.

Bride-Elect To Be Honor Guest Of 1st Baptist WMU

The Women's Missionary Union of First Baptist Church will entertain with a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Miss Joyce Slaughter. It will be held tomorrow evening at 8 in the church social hall.

Miss Slaughter, Woodlawn, Ga., is to become the bride of Wendell Gross in July.

The bride-elect is attending Carver School of Missions in Louisville, Ky. The daughter of Mrs. Benjamin Slaughter, Woodland, and the late Mr. Slaughter, she is a graduate of Tiff College, Ga., and has been religious education director in Manchester Baptist Church, Ga.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Earl Gross, 515 Woodlawn Terrace. He will graduate June 24 from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville. For two summers he was working for the home mission board in camps in Kansas. Last summer he served as pastor of Bethesda Baptist Church, and the summer before was assistant pastor. He is a graduate of Allegany High School here.

All members are invited.

Miss Orpha Boggs, president of the Business Women's Circle, is chairman of arrangements, with the circle members serving as her committee.

Allegany County 4-H Girls' Trail will meet at 10:30 tomorrow in the extension office.

B&O Vets Honor Past Presidents

The Baltimore and Ohio Veterans entertained with a turkey dinner in honor of past presidents of both the veterans and ladies auxiliary. It was held Wednesday evening in the social hall of St. John's Lutheran Church. Spring flowers were used in the decorations. Covers were laid for 180.

Honor guests were H. W. Bloss, William Freeland, Charles E. Hardy, Frank W. Hartell, George Alexander and Victor M. Hebb, past presidents of the veterans; and Mrs. G. W. Wenrich, Mrs. Pauline Smith, Mrs. G. A. Crass, Mrs. Anna Salyards, Mrs. Walter Seel and Mrs. F. W. Hartell, auxiliary past presidents.

J. C. Burdette, Baltimore, grand president of the veterans, was principal speaker. He gave a detailed outline of the annual convention to be held at the McClure Hotel, Wheeling, May 23, 24 and complimented the club on its progress. T. J. Klauenberg, superintendent of the Cumberland division, presented each of the past presidents with a gift of a tie and handkerchief; and one to Mr. Burdette. Mrs. Carl Wagner, president of the Ladies Auxiliary, presented gifts of summer jewelry to the past presidents of the auxiliary, Mrs. J. C. Gandy and Mrs. E. R. Stanley, and a past president pin to Mrs. F. W. Hartell. Each responded in appreciation.

Short talks were given by Mrs. Gandy, DuBois, Pa., grand president of the Ladies Auxiliary; Mrs. Stanley, Pittsburgh, grand vice president; Mayor Roy W. Eves and Leo C. Wilcox, Keyser, grand vice president of the veterans.

The blessing was given by Carl Koerner, chaplain of the Veterans organization. Walter J. Drumm welcomed the guests and introduced J. Ward Daugherty, Keyser, toastmaster. Edgar S. Leasure sang three solos and led group singing. Miss Anetta Yates was accompanist. Guests attended from Keyser, Terra Alta, Pittsburgh and Martinsburg.

Plans for the annual picnic, late in July or early August, will be discussed at the regular meeting June 5.

Elementary Principals To Have Speaker, Music

The Elementary Principals Association is holding its final meeting until fall in the form of a dinner May 6, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected. Harold Scott will preside. It will be held at State Teachers College, Frostburg, beginning at 6:30.

The association is having as special guests the retired principals, Miss Sue McKnight, Miss Agnes Carroll, George Reiter, and Mrs. Reiter, who is a retired teacher.

Other guests will be Charles L. Kopp, former superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Kopp; and Miss Lillian C. Compton, former president of the college. All department heads of the Board of Education have been invited.

An entertainment program will consist of musical selections by Valgene Routch, music education supervisor, and Mrs. Routch; and several violin numbers by Miss Pauline Cira, violin teacher, with Miss Ann Thompson at the piano.

Mrs. J. C. Shryock is to be the guest speaker and will talk on Maryland.

Social Chart

The Ruth Bible Class of Central Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale Monday from 2 until 5 and 6 until 8 in the church basement.

Auxiliary 281, Order of the Ladies of United Commercial Travelers will meet at 8 tomorrow evening at the Girl Scout house. There will be entertainment and refreshments.

The Hap-O-Happy Club has cancelled the meeting for tonight, and will have a banquet May 14 at the Ali Ghan City Club. Reservations are to be made by May 10.

McKinley Chapter, 12 OES will meet tonight at the temple.

The Baltimore and Ohio Veterans entertained with a turkey dinner in honor of past presidents of both the veterans and ladies auxiliary. It was held Wednesday evening in the social hall of St. John's Lutheran Church. Spring flowers were used in the decorations. Covers were laid for 180.

Honor guests were H. W. Bloss, William Freeland, Charles E. Hardy, Frank W. Hartell, George Alexander and Victor M. Hebb, past presidents of the veterans; and Mrs. G. W. Wenrich, Mrs. Pauline Smith, Mrs. G. A. Crass, Mrs. Anna Salyards, Mrs. Walter Seel and Mrs. F. W. Hartell, auxiliary past presidents.

J. C. Burdette, Baltimore, grand president of the veterans, was principal speaker. He gave a detailed outline of the annual convention to be held at the McClure Hotel, Wheeling, May 23, 24 and complimented the club on its progress. T. J. Klauenberg, superintendent of the Cumberland division, presented each of the past presidents with a gift of a tie and handkerchief; and one to Mr. Burdette. Mrs. Carl Wagner, president of the Ladies Auxiliary, presented gifts of summer jewelry to the past presidents of the auxiliary, Mrs. J. C. Gandy and Mrs. E. R. Stanley, and a past president pin to Mrs. F. W. Hartell. Each responded in appreciation.

Short talks were given by Mrs. Gandy, DuBois, Pa., grand president of the Ladies Auxiliary; Mrs. Stanley, Pittsburgh, grand vice president; Mayor Roy W. Eves and Leo C. Wilcox, Keyser, grand vice president of the veterans.

The blessing was given by Carl Koerner, chaplain of the Veterans organization. Walter J. Drumm welcomed the guests and introduced J. Ward Daugherty, Keyser, toastmaster. Edgar S. Leasure sang three solos and led group singing. Miss Anetta Yates was accompanist. Guests attended from Keyser, Terra Alta, Pittsburgh and Martinsburg.

Plans for the annual picnic, late in July or early August, will be discussed at the regular meeting June 5.

Elementary Principals To Have Speaker, Music

The Elementary Principals Association is holding its final meeting until fall in the form of a dinner May 6, at which time officers for the coming year will be elected. Harold Scott will preside. It will be held at State Teachers College, Frostburg, beginning at 6:30.

The association is having as special guests the retired principals, Miss Sue McKnight, Miss Agnes Carroll, George Reiter, and Mrs. Reiter, who is a retired teacher.

Other guests will be Charles L. Kopp, former superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Kopp; and Miss Lillian C. Compton, former president of the college. All department heads of the Board of Education have been invited.

An entertainment program will consist of musical selections by Valgene Routch, music education supervisor, and Mrs. Routch; and several violin numbers by Miss Pauline Cira, violin teacher, with Miss Ann Thompson at the piano.

Mrs. J. C. Shryock is to be the guest speaker and will talk on Maryland.

Architectural Changes In Churches Defended

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—The little old lady looked politely at the modern structure of glass and steel and brick.

"It's very interesting," she said at last. "But it doesn't look like a church. Not my idea of a church anyway."

Her summation reflects the thinking of a great many churchgoers. And the Rev. Dr. Marvin Halverson is deeply concerned about it.

Dr. Halverson, executive director of the Department of Worship and the Arts, National Council of Churches, says:

"Generally, church buildings are designed with the purpose of saying something. And they should speak in the language of today instead of using the language of the past."

To continue building churches in Gothic and Renaissance style seems to Dr. Halverson to deny that God can speak his word in the language of each new age.

At one time the church was the center of community life.

"Now the church has to compete with other institutions for men's loyalties," says Dr. Halverson. "The problem is how to build in the midst of all these complexities, how to transcend all these institutions."

He points out that an axiom of the architectural profession is that architecture always tells the truth about the society that creates it. What, he wonders, does our continued preoccupation with church architecture of centuries ago tell about the spiritual climate of our times?

The problem is especially important now, he thinks, because church building is on the upswing.

Religious bodies of all faiths in this country are reported to have spent 775 million dollars in 1956 for religious buildings. This is 39 million dollars more than in the previous year.

Well, then, what kind of a church structure does Dr. Halverson suggest?

That's up to the congregation, he says. But before the fullest possibilities of architecture are realized, the church must have a clearer understanding of what is its vocation in the world. And that vocation is for each church to discover for itself.

"The more deeply a local church explores its own denominational heritage, its own understanding of the Christian faith and way of worship, the more it will interest and draw forth the most imaginative and best work of the architect.

"You can have great architecture only where you have a client with a large vision of what the building can be and mean and say."

Does he have any suggestions to help a church about to build?

In an aritcle in Architectural Record, Dr. Halverson set forth these steps:

1. The church should engage in a thorough study of itself.

"Study your denominational heritage, its beliefs about the church, its tradition of worship, its attitude toward the arts, its over-all understanding of its function in the world and in the community. Review this study in the light of the Bible."

2. The minister should study too, because theological seminaries sometimes fail to give adequate training in these matters, says Dr. Halverson.

3. The church should then review its program in the light of these penetrating studies.

4. Now get the best architect you can find. Not always the readiest available or the most agreeable, but one who challenges the church to further thinking may be the best to serve the larger purpose of the church.

5. Select a site, with the advice of the architect.

6. If the earlier study indicates art may be used in the church building, make provision to use the work of living artists.

Make certain the architect's plans include all the liturgical items that are appropriate to your church's way of worship. A fine building can be marred by items that don't fit in with the architect's work.

7. Don't forget the pipe organ, but consult competent people, such as the head of the organ department in a university.

Austrians Cast Ballots Sunday For President

VIENNA, May 2 (AP)—About 4½ million Austrians will cast votes for president Sunday — not because they want to, especially, but because it's compulsory to vote.

The campaign for a successor to Theodor Koerner, who died in January, has aroused little enthusiasm. A president has substantial powers under Austria's constitution but the No. 1 man of the government is the Chancellor. He heads the Cabinet.

The two candidates for president are:

Wolfgang Denk, a retired university professor and surgeon. He was nominated jointly by the People's party of Chancellor Julius Raab and the extreme right-wing Freedom party.

Adolf Schaerf, vice chancellor and chairman of the Socialist party.

There are no major political issues at stake.

Charges by the Denk camp of a "Red unity front," following Communist endorsement of Schaerf, were only halfhearted. Schaerf did not seek the Communist endorsement and is an unflinching anti-Communist.

Denk, 75, comes from a family of doctors and officers. He was a military surgeon on the Italian front in World War I. Then he became head doctor of a Linz hospital, professor of surgery at Graz and finally head of the Vienna Second University Clinic. When he reached retirement age, he switched to head the newly created Austrian Cancer Research Institute.

If defeated, he plans to return to his research work.

Schaerf, 67, comes from a worker's family. He was a Socialist fireball as a young student. He worked his way through university by giving lessons to children of well-to-do parents.

Schaerf gradually mellowed to Austria's present slightly left-of-center socialism. He had much to do with that change. A lawyer, he played a leading part in getting economic concessions from the Soviets during the Moscow Austrian-Russian talks in 1955 which brought Austria its independence treaty.

Hoover Denounces "Filthmongering"

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today called on communities throughout the nation to crush "filthmongering" in obscene material.

Hoover called dealers in pornography "sewage salesmen" who have created a "pollution problem" for civil leaders, lawmakers and police to solve.

In his monthly statement in the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover said: "Too often the purveyor of filth in the form of movies, playing cards, books, photographs and other devices reaps a rich reward as a result of lackadaisical public opposition to his evil occupation."

Hoover said this "despicable business" requires close attention with the coming of school vacation time, when youngsters have more time on their hands, and "the beginning of the seasonal rise in sex crimes."

He added "it would be naive to assume that there is no relation between the mounting deluge of such filth and the increase in sex crimes."

China Invites Japanese

TOKYO, May 2 (AP)—Communist China has invited 20 Japanese veterans who served in China in World War II to make an extensive tour of the country to view changes under the Red regime.

More Diesels For PRR

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Pennsylvania Railroad today announced it had ordered 50 more diesel locomotives for delivery later this year. They will be built by the electromotive division of General Motors Corp. and will cost approximately 9¾ million dollars. Fifty locomotives were ordered by the road last October.

John David McCrae, a Canadian physician and volunteer who later died in France during World War I, was the author of "In Flanders Field."

MOTHER PLEADS WITH SON—Mrs. Hazel Parrett tearfully pleads with her son Gerald, 33, a war veteran, to come down from a perch 320 feet high atop the Mystic River Bridge in Chelsea, Mass. Her son, airman in World War II, climbed down after an hour unhurt. Mrs. Parrett used police amplifying system to call out "Garry, Garry my darling, please come down, things are not as bad as they seem." Policeman and civilian are unidentified. Car was parked on the bridge. (AP Photofax)

New African Church

KITWE, Rhodesia, May 2 (AP)—Alice Lenshina, whose thousands of followers believe she was raised from the dead two years ago, has established a new church here. Its principal aim, she announced is to improve the status of African women because "women rule the world today."

Color And Collisions

KITCHENER, Ont., May 2 (AP)—Sgt. Wilfred Henrich of the Kitchener police traffic squad, who kept a careful record of intersection collisions since Jan. 1, reported 57 per cent of the cars involved were light grey or sand color. Light green cars figured in accidents at dusk.

TIRC Questions Report Cigarets Cause Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—There just isn't enough evidence to claim that cigarets cause lung cancer, Dr. Clarence C. Little, chairman of the Scientific Advisory Board of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee said this week.

He issued a statement replying to a report released March 22 by a study group on smoking and health organized by the American Cancer Society and other agencies.

The study group expressed the opinion cigaret smoking is a "causative factor" in human lung cancer.

Dr. Little said the Scientific Advisory Board "questions the existence of sufficient definitive evidence to establish a simple cause and effect explanation of the complex problems of lung cancer."

"Definite conclusions or predictions of individual risks (from smoking) are unwarranted" by present knowledge, he said.

"In advising and educating the public, we believe that scientits should be as cautious today in accepting a claim that a cause has been found for cancer, as they have found it wise to be in the past in accepting a claim of a cure for cancer."

Dr. Little said his board agreed with the study group in its "still uncrystallized attitude" about whether smoking causes heart disease.

The board is composed of nine cancer scientists, doctors and educators who guide research for the TIRC. The TIRC has granted $2,200,000 so far for research by independent scientists in cancer, heart and other diseases.

The study group merely reviewed existing information concerning smoking and health, and did not do original work, Dr. Little said.

Child Named "Mash"

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus, May 2 (AP)—An infant born in the quake ruins of Fethiye, Turkey, was given the name of an American-built hospital unit manned by Turks in the disaster zone. The child was named "Mash." The letters stand for "Mobile Army Surgical Hospital." British sailors who returned from taking relief supplies to Fethiye told the story.

Demos Review First 100 Days Of Ike 2nd Term, See 'Absentee Government'

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Democratic Digest today reviewed the first 100 days of President Eisenhower's second term and concluded the administration has given the country "absentee government."

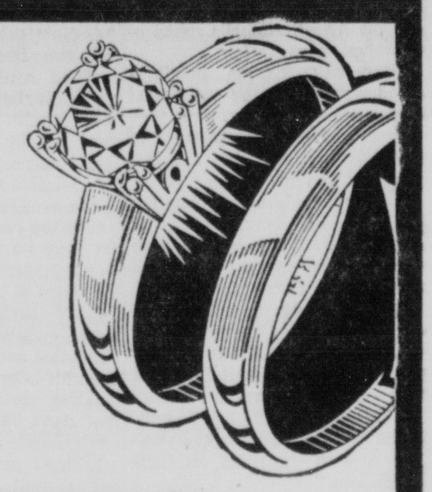
That is the title of the lead article in the May issue of the Democratic National Committee's official organ. It seeks to show the President "is no longer interested in his job" and pictures him as "irritable, ailing and nervous."

The article is subtitled "The 100 Day Vacation." The cover page shows traveling bags and golf clubs on the White House lawn. A sign asks that mail be forwarded to "Gettysburg, Cypress Point, Thomasville, Augusta, Camp David, Burning Tree, Palm Springs and Denver."

"At one point during Ike's 'Second' 100 days," the magazine says, "the President, the vice president and the secretary of state were all out of the country at once. But it really didn't matter—you could hardly tell the difference."

Continuing, the article declares:

"Emerging from the first 100 days of the second term is an image of an irritable, ailing and nervous President who doesn't concentrate on his work, takes many opportunities to get away from his desk, is nettled by the criticism he is getting, who is uninformed and isolated by a 'palace guard' that feeds him only one-page memos, and is rapidly losing control of his party, and has already lost around the world much of the respect which he built up during World War II."



Drivers Have "Tunnel Vision" Beyond 50 MPH

BOSTON, May 2 (AP) — Do you know that when you drive at speeds beyond 50 miles an hour your effective clear range of vision gets narrower and narrower—almost as if you were driving in a tunnel?

The Institute for Safer Living says it's so, and that this narrowing of the angle of vision, giving the driver "blind" sides, is the cause of many turnpike accidents.

The institute, sponsored by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., reported recently that at speeds of 60 to 70 miles an hour—now fairly common on expressways—"nearly all drivers are afflicted with a form of temporary tunnel vision."

"While traveling fast," the institue says, "a driver's effective clear range of vision sometimes narrows down to an angle as low as five per cent of the normal visibility while standing still."

Under such circumstances, the institute reports, "oncoming vehicles, bridge abutments, and highway signs and markers are readily visible up ahead, but all objects become an indistinguishable blur as you approach and pass them."

At 60 miles an hour, the institute finds, a driver's safety depends upon the degree of skill with which he is able to use that small angle of vision left to him and make accurate judgments of time and distance.

TIRC Questions Report Cigarets Cause Cancer

AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—There just isn't enough evidence to claim that cigarets cause lung cancer, Dr. Clarence C. Little, chairman of the Scientific Advisory Board of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee said this week.

He issued a statement replying to a report released March 22 by a study group on smoking and health organized by the American Cancer Society and other agencies.

The study group expressed the opinion cigaret smoking is a "causative factor" in human lung cancer.

Dr. Little said the Scientific Advisory Board "questions the existence of sufficient definitive evidence to establish a simple cause and effect explanation of the complex problems of lung cancer."

"Definite conclusions or predictions of individual risks (from smoking) are unwarranted" by present knowledge, he said.

"In advising and educating the public, we believe that scientits should be as cautious today in accepting a claim that a cause has been found for cancer, as they have found it wise to be in the past in accepting a claim of a cure for cancer."

Dr. Little said his board agreed with the study group in its "still uncrystallized attitude" about whether smoking causes heart disease.

The board is composed of nine cancer scientists, doctors and educators who guide research for the TIRC. The TIRC has granted $2,200,000 so far for research by independent scientists in cancer, heart and other diseases.

The study group merely reviewed existing information concerning smoking and health, and did not do original work, Dr. Little said.

Child Named "Mash"

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus, May 2 (AP)—An infant born in the quake ruins of Fethiye, Turkey, was given the name of an American-built hospital unit manned by Turks in the disaster zone. The child was named "Mash." The letters stand for "Mobile Army Surgical Hospital." British sailors who returned from taking relief supplies to Fethiye told the story.

Demos Review First 100 Days Of Ike 2nd Term, See 'Absentee Government'

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Democratic Digest today reviewed the first 100 days of President Eisenhower's second term and concluded the administration has given the country "absentee government."

That is the title of the lead article in the May issue of the Democratic National Committee's official organ. It seeks to show the President "is no longer interested in his job" and pictures him as "irritable, ailing and nervous."

The article is subtitled "The 100 Day Vacation." The cover page shows traveling bags and golf clubs on the White House lawn. A sign asks that mail be forwarded to "Gettysburg, Cypress Point, Thomasville, Augusta, Camp David, Burning Tree, Palm Springs and Denver."

"At one point during Ike's 'Second' 100 days," the magazine says, "the President, the vice president and the secretary of state were all out of the country at once. But it really didn't matter—you could hardly tell the difference."

Continuing, the article declares:

"Emerging from the first 100 days of the second term is an image of an irritable, ailing and nervous President who doesn't concentrate on his work, takes many opportunities to get away from his desk, is nettled by the criticism he is getting, who is uninformed and isolated by a 'palace guard' that feeds him only one-page memos, and is rapidly losing control of his party, and has already lost around the world much of the respect which he built up during World War II."

LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON—Freshmen and sophomores at St. Mary's High School are shown as they prepared to board a chartered bus for the classes' annual educational trip to Washington. The girls planned to visit Lincoln Museum, the house where Lincoln died, Washington Monument, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Capitol, White House, and the Franciscan monastery and catacombs. Accompanying the girls were Sisters Hyacinth, Stephanie and Walter, Mrs. Michael McDade and Mrs. Joseph Sirna. The party included 47 persons. Seniors at the school recently completed a trip to New York.

WINDING 'ROUND THE MAY POLE — Pupils of Miss Helen Kreiling's class at West Side School perform a May Pole Dance at the annual spring festival, held Wednesday and Thursday nights at the school. The program also included song and dance numbers, and a variety of other entertainment.

Along The Potomac
by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — My mail continues to be concerned with the budget, taxes, and the problems of small business. Some form of tax relief for the small businessman is his most pressing need. I have a bill pending in the House which would permit business firms, incorporated and unincorporated, to deduct from taxable income an amount for reinvestment purposes not to exceed 20 per cent of net income or $30,000, whichever is lower. Enactment of this bill would greatly assist small firms needing funds to carry on their business activities.

There are other areas, however, in which legislation helpful to small business is being considered. One of these is clarification of pricing policies to meet competition under the anti-trust laws. A number of so-called "quality of opportunity" bills are pending before the Congress which would limit the use of "good faith" as a defense in price discrimination to meet competition.

Under H. R. 11 and similar bills, "good faith" would not be a complete defense in meeting prices of a competitor if such pricing leads to "a substantial lessening of competition" or "tends to create a monopoly."

One of the problems confronting the members of the House in considering these bills stems from the phrase "a substantial lessening of competition." There is lack of agreement as to the meaning of the words as used in the bills. Another difficulty encountered is the possible harmful effects on a small manufacturer in his attempt to compete with big industry.

Out of the "equality of opportunity" bills and proposals, which would write the "good faith" principle as an absolute defense into law, it is hoped will come legislation that will aid both the small retailer and the small manufacturer. There is controversy over these bills and the question the legislator must resolve is whether price discrimination as a means of meeting competition is a sound part of the nation's overall anti-trust policy.

Teen-Age Beating Reported To Police

Another "teen-age beating" case has been reported to City Police, bringing the total number of beatings to six within the past two weeks.

The latest, reported to police Wednesday, involved a Boone Street boy who said he was "roughed up" Tuesday night and again Wednesday afternoon.

Police said the boy, Bobby Light, son of C. O. Light, 41 Boone Street, was reportedly beaten by a 17-year-old boy. Police said the Light youngster reported that he heard a shot in the rear of 23 Boone Street on Tuesday and when he went to investigate found the 17-year-old.

The older youth "roughed up" the Light boy, and warned him not to tell anyone about the shooting, police said.

Wednesday the Light boy was attacked on a South End parking lot, apparently by the same youth who stole $3 from him.

Officer Clarence Valentine and Lt. James E. Van are investigating.

Peiping's Distress Call May Oblige Moscow To Respond

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Communist China has sent out an economic distress signal which may oblige the Soviet Union to respond with a dramatic gesture of help.

The China situation could dictate a new all-out peace offensive designed to let the dust settle until the Russians and Chinese arrive at a satisfactory solution.

This would call for a strategic temporary retreat on the more dangerous of the world's political fronts, including the Middle East.

The Red Chinese, like the U.S.S.R. bent on heavy industrial development to build world power, have reached a point where they are finding it both difficult and perilous to continue export of food, raw materials and consumer items in return for equipment they must have for their program. Much of the consumer goods export goes to the U.S.S.R.

The distress signal went out Tuesday. Peiping admitted over-investment in heavy industry production brought economic complications. It raised food and consumer goods prices to stem an inflationary spiral, fired its commerce minister and replaced him with a tougher man.

Only a few weeks ago the Russians and Chinese agreed the Russians would deliver industrial equipment in exchange for rice, tea, soy beans, citrus, certain raw materials and a number of consumer items.

Long before that the Chinese were feeling the pinch. There is good reason to suspect the Russians early this year permitted Peiping to defer deliveries under a similar December, 1955, agreement, particularly with regard to grains. Significantly, the Ghinese about then changed their tune abruptly and gave all-out support to the "Moscow center" of world communism in the uproar over events in Hungary and Poland.

China could not meet her grain delivery obligations because of a combination of flood, typhoon and drought. Although she expects a good crop this year, it will not be available until fall.

China's budget, the equivalent of 12 billion dollars, allots about 52 per cent to industry. Of this only 12 per cent goes to consumer goods.

Wage increases to assauage the people led to an inflationary pressure. Now the people are being told prices of basic foodstuffs will go up and that furthermore they can expect no significant increase in living standards for a long time.

The Red Chinese can look only to the Russians for relief. The Russians themselves have their troubles with severe shortages in the consumer sector.

The present situation obviously is causing unrest.

This unrest is behind the current nationwide discussion inspired and spurred by Communist party boss Mao Tze-tung himself. The discussion concerns "contradictions" between the masses and the government. The Communist party blames bureaucracy, the Communist whipping boy for all evils. The authoritative People's Daily said recently "Where bureaucracy exists, the people are bound to be dissatisfied."

To take the heat off the regime, the party stimulated discussion of the need to criticize the leadership, although excluding from this right "sectarian or evil elements." By sectarian it means those interested in the fortunes of a particular group.

'Brandy' Back Home At Last

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 2 (AP)—Brandy's back at the George Kelley's, and there's cheer in the household today.

Brandy is the Kelleys' four-year-old boxer who disappeared one day late last February.

She bounded in Monday to the overwhelming joy of little Geraldine Kelly, who is a few weeks younger than Brandy.

Brandy was "very nervous and upset" although apparently overjoyed too, said Mrs. Kelly, Geraldine's mama.

The dog had been all the way out to Lima, Ohio.

Mrs. Kelley told this story: Brandy was spirited away from the Kelly home by an unidentified boy last February.

The boy sold the dog, which has a pedigree, for two dollars to a truck driver, Robert Elder, 42, Almont, Mich., at a nearby diner.

The operator of the diner remembered the transaction and Hudson County police located Elder last week.

A charge of receiving stolen property was placed against Elder who meanwhile had sold Brandy to a man in Lima, Ohio.

The man in Lima didn't want to give the boxer up. He said Brandy was expecting a litter of pups.

He had a change of heart though and Brandy was shipped back to the Kellys. Mr. Kelly happily dropped charges against Elder.

Body Of Polish War Hero Buried Secretly

WARSAW, May 2 (AP)—The body of a Polish wartime hero who commanded an anti-Communist army and reportedly was slain by the Russians has been given a secret burial with military honors.

A black-bordered notice on the door of Warsaw's Holy Cross church today provided the only clue to the mystery.

Signed by "his family and comrades in arms," the notice said the body of Maj. Gen. Alexsander Wilk-Krzyzanowski was reburied three days ago in Warsaw's Military Cemetery. Censorship suppressed publication of the notice in Warsaw papers.

The notice said he "died tragically Sept. 29, 1951." It has been widely reported here that he was executed in the Soviet Union and his body brought back here secretly and put in a Communist grave.

The general was the wartime commander of the "home army" in the Vilna district, then in northeast Poland but now a part of the Soviet Union.

The home army owed its allegiance to the Polish government in exile set up in London in opposition to Moscow-chosen Poles.

Indonesia Granted Loan Of $15,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The United States has granted revolt-torn Indonesia a 15-million-dollar loan and promised 77 million more for development purposes.

The International Cooperation Administration, the foreign aid agency, also announced two other loan agreements, for 2½ million dollars each for Libya and Ceylon.

Indonesia agreed to repay the 15 million over 40 years, with interest at 4 per cent if the repayment is in Indonesia currency and 3 per cent if in dollars.

The U. S. loan and the offer of more funds came at a time when Indonesia is hard pressed on both its political and economic fronts.

President Sukarno has set up a Cabinet of experts in an effort to achieve national unity and win the s puo ptorf rebellious groups in Sumatra, the Celebes and other outlying areas. There have been sharp complaints that the Indonesian government has not done enough for its outlying islands but has concentrated funds in the central island of Java.

28 Girls Will Seek Miss Delmarva Title

GEORGETOWN, Del., May 2 (AP) — Twenty-eight young women will take part in final eliminations at Ocean City June 10 for the 1957 Miss Delmarva Contest.

The top five from each State—Maryland, Delaware and Virginia—will take part in the final judging at Laurel, Del., June 11, opening day of the 10th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival. Miss Delmarva 10th will be chosen to reign over the festival.

The 28 contestants have been chosen in local contests throughout the tri-state area.

Goal Of Midgets' Organized Outlined By President

ASHEVILLE, N.C., May 2 (AP)—Little Danny Turner climbed up on a box yesterday and issued a call for all the midgets in the United States to pop to, and pay attention.

Danny, a 4-foot-5 resident of Black Mountain, N.C., is the president-elect of a recently formed national organization called "The Little People of America."

He wants all midgets in the United States to write him, to the end they can get together and work for the following goals:

1. Lower steam tables in restaurants, "so we can see what we're buying."

2. Clothes and shoes that don't have to be purchased in the children's department.

3. Half fares on trains, planes and buses.

4. Pay telephones and slots in the post offices that can be reached without the use of a chair.

Danny figures that for the midgets there's strength in unity, even though the units aren't very big.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Communist China has sent out an economic distress signal which may oblige the Soviet Union to respond with a dramatic gesture of help.

The China situation could dictate a new all-out peace offensive designed to let the dust settle until the Russians and Chinese arrive at a satisfactory solution.

This would call for a strategic temporary retreat on the more dangerous of the world's political fronts, including the Middle East.

The Red Chinese, like the U.S.S.R. bent on heavy industrial development to build world power, have reached a point where they are finding it both difficult and perilous to continue export of food, raw materials and consumer items in return for equipment they must have for their program. Much of the consumer goods export goes to the U.S.S.R.

The distress signal went out Tuesday. Peiping admitted over-investment in heavy industry production brought economic complications. It raised food and consumer goods prices to stem an inflationary spiral, fired its commerce minister and replaced him with a tougher man.

Only a few weeks ago the Russians and Chinese agreed the Russians would deliver industrial equipment in exchange for rice, tea, soy beans, citrus, certain raw materials and a number of consumer items.

Long before that the Chinese were feeling the pinch. There is good reason to suspect the Russians early this year permitted Peiping to defer deliveries under a similar December, 1955, agreement, particularly with regard to grains. Significantly, the Ghinese about then changed their tune abruptly and gave all-out support to the "Moscow center" of world communism in the uproar over events in Hungary and Poland.

China could not meet her grain delivery obligations because of a combination of flood, typhoon and drought. Although she expects a good crop this year, it will not be available until fall.

China's budget, the equivalent of 12 billion dollars, allots about 52 per cent to industry. Of this only 12 per cent goes to consumer goods.

Wage increases to assauage the people led to an inflationary pressure. Now the people are being told prices of basic foodstuffs will go up and that furthermore they can expect no significant increase in living standards for a long time.

The Red Chinese can look only to the Russians for relief. The Russians themselves have their troubles with severe shortages in the consumer sector.

The present situation obviously is causing unrest.

This unrest is behind the current nationwide discussion inspired and spurred by Communist party boss Mao Tze-tung himself. The discussion concerns "contradictions" between the masses and the government. The Communist party blames bureaucracy, the Communist whipping boy for all evils. The authoritative People's Daily said recently "Where bureaucracy exists, the people are bound to be dissatisfied."

To take the heat off the regime, the party stimulated discussion of the need to criticize the leadership, although excluding from this right "sectarian or evil elements." By sectarian it means those interested in the fortunes of a particular group.

'Brandy' Back Home At Last

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 2 (AP)—Brandy's back at the George Kelley's, and there's cheer in the household today.

Brandy is the Kelleys' four-year-old boxer who disappeared one day late last February.

She bounded in Monday to the overwhelming joy of little Geraldine Kelly, who is a few weeks younger than Brandy.

Brandy was "very nervous and upset" although apparently overjoyed too, said Mrs. Kelly, Geraldine's mama.

The dog had been all the way out to Lima, Ohio.

Mrs. Kelley told this story: Brandy was spirited away from the Kelly home by an unidentified boy last February.

The boy sold the dog, which has a pedigree, for two dollars to a truck driver, Robert Elder, 42, Almont, Mich., at a nearby diner.

The operator of the diner remembered the transaction and Hudson County police located Elder last week.

A charge of receiving stolen property was placed against Elder who meanwhile had sold Brandy to a man in Lima, Ohio.

The man in Lima didn't want to give the boxer up. He said Brandy was expecting a litter of pups.

He had a change of heart though and Brandy was shipped back to the Kellys. Mr. Kelly happily dropped charges against Elder.

Body Of Polish War Hero Buried Secretly

WARSAW, May 2 (AP)—The body of a Polish wartime hero who commanded an anti-Communist army and reportedly was slain by the Russians has been given a secret burial with military honors.

A black-bordered notice on the door of Warsaw's Holy Cross church today provided the only clue to the mystery.

Signed by "his family and comrades in arms," the notice said the body of Maj. Gen. Alexsander Wilk-Krzyzanowski was reburied three days ago in Warsaw's Military Cemetery. Censorship suppressed publication of the notice in Warsaw papers.

The notice said he "died tragically Sept. 29, 1951." It has been widely reported here that he was executed in the Soviet Union and his body brought back here secretly and put in a Communist grave.

The general was the wartime commander of the "home army" in the Vilna district, then in northeast Poland but now a part of the Soviet Union.

The home army owed its allegiance to the Polish government in exile set up in London in opposition to Moscow-chosen Poles.

Swedish Story Of Sub Hunting Slightly Fishy

STOCKHOLM, May 2 (AP)—One of Sweden's top defense secrets of World War II leaked out today, a fishy story of using seals to hunt down foreign submarines.

"Yes, we tried it," a naval spokesman said, "and you needn't get flip about it. The seals cooperated but we couldn't handle the fish."

The spokesman said the top-secret tag has been taken off the project now.

The story of efforts by the Swedish naval staff to train seals to become Sweden's secret weapon against enemy subs was told in a newspaper by one of the participants, Petrus Nordlund, a 75-year-old fisherman. His account was confirmed by the naval staff.

Nordlund said he was rushed by air all over the Swedish coast soon after the outbreak of the war to capture young seals and bring them back alive to Stockholm naval headquarters.

The seals were put in training at one of Sweden's naval bases, where submarines were sent down with bundles of fresh herring tied on. The seals went for the herring joyfully and with magnificent appetite.

There were two snags in the project, as the Swedes saw it, which had to be overcome to make it workable.

One was to supply the seals with "war heads," that is explosive charges to destroy a submarine. Since a seal's body is pretty streamlined and slippery, a top secret order went out to the Royal Institute of Animal Medicine to devise a suitable plastic operation to take care of this difficulty. Several operations were performed before this idea was discarded in favor of an "explosive harness" of special design which met the requirements.

The project foundered on the second snag. Despite intense training, the seals looked with perfect disdain upon any submarine not suited up with herring.

Diana Dors 'Through' With Her Husband

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Film star Diana Dors said tonight she was "absolutely through" with her husband, Dennis Hamilton.

The buxom, blonde, British star said she walked out of their palatial home near London after a Saturday night row involving husky, 26-year-old English actor Tom Yeardye.

She told newsmen: "This has been building up ever since we came back from Hollywood. Now I realize we are absolutely through."

The row began when Hamilton came home to find a Saturday night party well under way. Yeardye was among the guests.

A spokesman for Hamilton admitted he and his wife had parted but refused to comment on the reasons.

The spokesman said the top-secret tag has been taken off the project now.

The story of efforts by the Swedish naval staff to train seals to become Sweden's secret weapon against enemy subs was told in a newspaper by one of the participants, Petrus Nordlund, a 75-year-old fisherman. His account was confirmed by the naval staff.

Nordlund said he was rushed by air all over the Swedish coast soon after the outbreak of the war to capture young seals and bring them back alive to Stockholm naval headquarters.

The seals were put in training at one of Sweden's naval bases, where submarines were sent down with bundles of fresh herring tied on. The seals went for the herring joyfully and with magnificent appetite.

There were two snags in the project, as the Swedes saw it, which had to be overcome to make it workable.

One was to supply the seals with "war heads," that is explosive charges to destroy a submarine. Since a seal's body is pretty streamlined and slippery, a top secret order went out to the Royal Institute of Animal Medicine to devise a suitable plastic operation to take care of this difficulty. Several operations were performed before this idea was discarded in favor of an "explosive harness" of special design which met the requirements.

The project foundered on the second snag. Despite intense training, the seals looked with perfect disdain upon any submarine not suited up with herring.

Diana Dors 'Through' With Her Husband

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Film star Diana Dors said tonight she was "absolutely through" with her husband, Dennis Hamilton.

The buxom, blonde, British star said she walked out of their palatial home near London after a Saturday night row involving husky, 26-year-old English actor Tom Yeardye.

She told newsmen: "This has been building up ever since we got back from Hollywood. Now I realize we are absolutely through."

The row began when Hamilton came home to find a Saturday night party well under way. Yeardye was among the guests.

A spokesman for Hamilton admitted he and his wife had parted but refused to comment on the reasons.

Tourists Push Easter Seal Drive Within $20 Of Goal

The Easter Seal campaign is within $20 of its quota, according to Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, who said donations received yesterday included a $10 bill from tourists passing through town.

The donation was accompanied by a note which read:

"We were passing through your town and read in the paper about the shortage of funds in the Easter Seal returns.

"We didn't receive any Easter Seals, but we would like to help pay for those persons who have forgotten to kick their buck in the pot." The note was signed "10 Tourists."

Miss Lippold said the donation highlights the respect for the work which is done for crippled children with the funds received in the annual campaign, and should act as a reminder for residents of Allegany County who have forgotten to mail their contributions. More than 23,000 residents of the county received Easter Seals in the mail last month.

Donations received to date, including $75 this morning, amount to $8,281.05, while the campaign quota is $8,300, Miss Lippold said. Much more than this amount is needed to finance treatment of crippled children, she continued, and it is hoped that at least $10,000 will be received for this year's work.

A breakdown of the campaign contributions show that the amount received is from 6,896 returns, Miss Lippold stated. Returns by county communities indicate the following:

Donations from Cumberland number 4,352 for a total of $4,433.35; 956 from Frostburg for $1,042.95; 305 from Westernport for $401; 252 from Lonaconing for $328; 147 from Mt. Savage for $166.25.

Barton has 97 returns totaling $114.50; Cresaptown had 104 for $105.50; Lake has 71 for $84.25; Midland has 67 for $81.25, and Keyser in neighboring Mineral County, W. Va., has 79 for $91.

Donations will continue to be accepted until the end of the month, Miss Lippold said.

W. Va. Towns File Final Brief In Railway Case

The final brief has been filed by the protesting communities of West Virginia against the abandonment of the Western Maryland Railway's passenger service from Elkins to Cumberland.

M. F. Wright Jr. of Burlington, executive secretary of the West Virginia Public Service Commission, said yesterday in Charleston that the protestants' brief was filed Saturday.

The legal arguments of the railroad were filed much earlier, he said.

Bonn Brown, Elkins attorney, is representing Elkins, Parsons and other communities located along the railroad.

The railroad filed an application with the West Virginia PSC in January and a hearing was held before the commission in February.

A decision was held up pending the reception of briefs from both parties.

Wright said the commission will take the arguments into consideration and release an opinion shortly.

The railroad has been operating its passenger train one round trip daily from Elkins to Cumberland and return.

At the first of the year, the Post Office Department did not renew its contract for the railroad to haul mail. Mail to the communities along the railroad is now hauled by truck.

Several years ago the railroad received permission from the PSC to discontinue the passenger that left Cumberland in the morning and returned from Elkins in the afternoon.

Construction Started On Hagerstown Bridge

Work was started last week on construction of the railroad bridges over Washington and Antietam streets in Hagerstown.

The bridges are for a relocation of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway tracks. The Empire Company of Baltimore is contractor on the project.

Local High Schools Plan Orientation Day May 22

"Orientation Day" for this fall's seventh graders will be held Wednesday, May 22, at Allegany and Fort Hill high schools.

Preparations for the afternoon's activities were made at a meeting yesterday in the Board of Education office.

Attending were the principals of the two schools, Dr. W. Ardell Haines at Allegany, and Victor D. Heisey, Fort Hill, and the principals of the Cumberland elementary schools.

Also in on the planning were Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools; Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of school bus transportation, and Misses Mildred Willison, Elizabeth Flake and Winifred Greene, elementary supervisors.

The programs at the high schools start at 1 p. m. on May 22. During an assembly period, pupils are given information concerning the school, including a map to enable them to find their way about.

They are introduced to the principal, assistant principals and guidance teacher, and are told of the opportunities that are available, such as clubs and sports.

The future seventh graders are given a tour with one of the stops being the cafeteria where they are told how it operates.

Celanese Lists Income Figures

Celanese Corporation of America and domestic subsidiaries yesterday reported net income of $2,912,820 after charges and taxes, for the three months ended March 31, 1957. These first quarter earnings, equivalent to 30 cents a share of common stock, compare with last year's first quarter earnings of $3,461,766 equivalent to 39 cents a common share.

Net sales for the first three months of 1957 totaled $46,852,931 compared with $48,477,887 net sales for the comparable 1956 period.

In making the report, President Harold Blancke said, "The sales volume in both chemicals and plastics continued to increase. However, the movement to reduce inventories to a minimum in the textile industry resulted in a decline in sales of yarns and fibers. This should place the industry on a much healthier basis and result in improved business later in the year."

Peak To Be Challenged

JESSELTON, North Borneo, May 2 (AP)—Seven R.A.F. men are planning an assault on North Borneo's 13,455-foot sacred Mt. Kinabalu about the middle of May.

They will approach the peak, highest in Southeast Asia, from the north side, never attempted before. Before beginning the climb the party will go through rites involving firing of shotguns and sacrificing fowl because of a legend Kinabalu is resting place of spirits of the dead.

There are two ways of saying things you don't mean; if you are guilty of either, resolve to mind your manners!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Say It And Mean It

You'll wind up in hot water if you repeatedly say things you don't mean. That statement applies both to the promise you've no intention of keeping, and to the lightly tossed statement that is received seriously.

Say it and mean it, or don't say it at all. If you are affirmative in your words and promises, you'll be recognized as a definite plus-value when it comes to friendship or to business.

An Example

You recall the old story about the boy who cried wolf? Well, there's a parallel in the person who says "I'll do it"—but doesn't follow through. The time will come when you particularly want an asignment that won't be offered because of your past inadequacies. Perhaps the assignment will be a better job or a club presidency, and when the question of your capability arises it will be too late to atone for previous shortcomings.

An example of the casual remark wrongly taken is a little incident my secretary just described. A woman in an elevator exclaimed bluntly to her companion, "That's the silliest hat you're wearing!"

Commented my secretary, "You could tell the woman intended her remark as an offhand compliment, but her friend was obviously insulted."

In your own mind the airy phrase may be just that, airy and intended to be taken with a laugh. Even if you state it with a laugh, it may not be greeted as laughable. So, think twice before you voice a thought that might conceivably be cutting.

A charming woman tempers her remarks as she tempers her voice. When she makes a promise, she keeps it; when she makes a statement, she means it. She's friendly, sincere...and popular.

Tomorrow: Enjoy your Breakfast.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE—You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS)—The Soviet Union's proposal to give the U. S. aerial inspection rights over 2,780,000 square miles of Russian territory, if we'll open up 2,730,000 square miles of our own, is, although it may be faulted on closer inspection, the kind of concrete move the President groped for at the Geneva summit conference and never attained.

At Geneva, Gen. Eisenhower absolutely stunned Khrushchev, Bulganin, Molotov and Zhukov when without warning he offered to permit aerial inspection of all America in exchange for similar rights to the U.S.S.R. To boot, the President threw in an invitation to exchange military blueprints.

The striking offer came so swiftly and so without cue or hint that, according to a man who was in the room at the time, "it knocked the wind out of the Russians." The Red leaders were depicted as so confused that they asked time to reply, instead of instantly saying nyet. If outward appearances mean anything, the four of them looked like lost puppies, huddling together for protection, when they left the conference building that evening.

"I feel sorry for the poor . . . . . ," an old correspondent said. They've got nobody to call home to, for instructions. Stalin didn't teach them to think for themselves."

The swift and audacious move by the President also caught the clearest-headed seers among the correspondents flatfooted.

The Herald Trib carried a story the next day saying that it was a spur of the moment decision by the President. It was intended to be a complimentary story, one supposes, but the President's advisers must have noted immediately that there would be bitter eruptions back home — especially from people (and congressmen) who have come to accept many of the unilateral decisions of F.D.R. at the big wartime conferences as at least semi-fatal.

So the administration quickly let it be known that the President's bombshell had been fabricated more than a week before in the National Security Council—which at least gave it the completion of sober-sided study.

Now, nearly three years later, the Russians have responded. The administration doesn't think much of the response, and there would be little hope of getting Congress to approve it in its present stage. Under the Russian plan, generally, they'd let us peek at Siberia if they are given permission to photograph from the air all of the U. S. west of the Mississippi. That would take in, among other places, Los Alamos, the plutonium works at Pasco, along the Columbia River, Mare Island, San Diego, the plane plants of Boeing, Douglas, North American and Lockheed, and Marilyn Monroe.

Yet the offer struck responsive chords in Washington. One government official told this reporter, "that's the most encouraging sign we've had from Russia in three years. We should entertain the proposal at length before turning it down, and when we do reject it we ought to suggest an alternative within their reach or reason."

Are the Russians needful of "playing ball?" Only the Kremlin knows that. But another memory of the summit conference is shaken loose by the new proposal.

One day's end, over a drink, Eisenhower said in effect to Bulganin that Russia and the satellites were so located geographically that the prevailing winds of the earth would blow our radioactive dust across them in the event of a great war. Bulganin responded that the same winds would blow Russia's radioactive dust across our possessions, moving from west to east. Eisenhower nodded and said that we and Russia had it in our power perhaps to destroy each other, but the world below the parallels on which we would fight, having different air currents, would survive—and it would be a free world. Bulganin thought a long time and then said, in Russian, "We must do something . . . we must do something . . . we must do something."

There are two ways of saying things you don't mean: if you are guilty of either, resolve to mind your manners!

Secrets Of Charm

Say It And Mean It

You'll wind up in hot water if you repeatedly say things you don't mean. That statement applies both to the promise you've no intention of keeping, and to the lightly tossed statement that is received seriously.

Say it and mean it, or don't say it at all. If you are affirmative in your words and promises, you'll be recognized as a definite plus-value when it comes to friendship or to business.

An Example

You recall the old story about the boy who cried wolf? Well, there's a parallel in the person who says "I'll do it"—but doesn't follow through. The time will come when you particularly want an asignment that won't be offered because of your past inadequacies. Perhaps the assignment will be a better job or a club presidency, and when the question of your capability arises it will be too late to atone for previous shortcomings.

An example of the casual remark wrongly taken is a little incident my secretary just described. A woman in an elevator exclaimed bluntly to her companion, "That's the silliest hat you're wearing!"

Commented my secretary, "You could tell the woman intended her remark as an offhand compliment, but her friend was obviously insulted."

In your own mind the airy phrase may be just that, airy and intended to be taken with a laugh. Even if you state it with a laugh, it may not be greeted as laughable. So, think twice before you voice a thought that might conceivably be cutting.

A charming woman tempers her remarks as she tempers her voice. When she makes a promise, she keeps it; when she makes a statement, she means it. She's friendly, sincere...and popular.

Tomorrow: Enjoy your Breakfast.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE—You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS)—The Soviet Union's proposal to give the U. S. aerial inspection rights over 2,780,000 square miles of Russian territory, if we'll open up 2,730,000 square miles of our own, is, although it may be faulted on closer inspection, the kind of concrete move the President groped for at the Geneva summit conference and never attained.

At Geneva, Gen. Eisenhower absolutely stunned Khrushchev, Bulganin, Molotov and Zhukov when without warning he offered to permit aerial inspection of all America in exchange for similar rights to the U.S.S.R. To boot, the President threw in an invitation to exchange military blueprints.

The striking offer came so swiftly and so without cue or hint that, according to a man who was in the room at the time, "it knocked the wind out of the Russians." The Red leaders were depicted as so confused that they asked time to reply, instead of instantly saying nyet. If outward appearances mean anything, the four of them looked like lost puppies, huddling together for protection, when they left the conference building that evening.

"I feel sorry for the poor . . . . . ," an old correspondent said. They've got nobody to call home to, for instructions. Stalin didn't teach them to think for themselves."

The swift and audacious move by the President also caught the clearest-headed seers among the correspondents flatfooted.

The Herald Trib carried a story the next day saying that it was a spur of the moment decision by the President. It was intended to be a complimentary story, one supposes, but the President's advisers must have noted immediately that there would be bitter eruptions back home — especially from people (and congressmen) who have come to accept many of the unilateral decisions of F.D.R. at the big wartime conferences as at least semi-fatal.

So the administration quickly let it be known that the President's bombshell had been fabricated more than a week before in the National Security Council—which at least gave it the completion of sober-sided study.

Now, nearly three years later, the Russians have responded. The administration doesn't think much of the response, and there would be little hope of getting Congress to approve it in its present stage. Under the Russian plan, generally, they'd let us peek at Siberia if they are given permission to photograph from the air al: of the U. S. west of the Mississippi. That would take in, among other places, Los Alamos, the plutonium works at Fasco, along the Columbia River, Mare Island, San Diego, the plane plants of Boeing, Douglas, North American and Lockheed, and Marilyn Monroe.

Yet the offer struck responsive chords in Washington. One government official told this reporter, "that's the most encouraging sign we've had from Russia in three years. We should entertain the proposal at length before turning it down, and when we do reject it we ought to suggest an alternative within their reach or reason."

Are the Russians needful of "playing ball?" Only the Kremlin knows that. But another memory of the summit conference is shaken loose by the new proposal.

One day's end, over a drink, Eisenhower said in effect to Bulganin that Russia and the satellites were so located geographically that the prevailing winds of the earth would blow our radioactive dust across them in the event of a great war. Bulganin responded that the same winds would blow Russia's radioactive dust across our possessions, moving from west to east. Eisenhower nodded and said that we and Russia had it in our power perhaps to destroy each other, but the world below the parallels on which we would fight, having different air currents, would survive—and it would be a free world. Bulganin thought a long time and then said, in Russian, "We must do something . . . we must do something . . . we must do something."

Benson Expects Continued Rise In Farm Income

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Farm prices went up last month and Secretary of Agriculture Benson predicts farm income this year will be higher than last.

The Agriculture Department said this week prices received by farmers increased 2 per cent during the month ended April 15.

Benson told a Senate Appropriations Committee he expects a 4 per cent rise in agricultural income this year as compared with last year.

The current report from the department said prices went up mainly on cattle, hogs, apples, tomatoes and cotton. Lower prices were reported for milk, strawberries, snap beans and oranges.

While prices received by farmers increased in April to the highest point since last July—241 per cent of the 1910-1914 average—, prices paid by farmers for commodities and services reached the highest point ever—296 per cent of the 1910-1914 average.

The increase in farm product prices in the last 12 months has failed to keep pace with the rise in prices of commodities and services bought by farmers. As a result, the mid-April parity ratio of 81, while up 1 per cent from March, was 2 per cent lower than a year ago.

Benson, in his testimony, said: The price index in March of this year was up 4 per cent from March of 1956. A further increase in farm operators' net income is expected. The increase of 1957 over 1956 may be in the neighborhood of 4 per cent. This would be equal to the increase of 1956 over 1955 for a total of 8 per cent in two years."

Benson predicted that livestock prices will continue to average higher than last year, but said the crop price average will be lower.

He was before the committee to testify in support of President Eisenhower's budget request for five billion dollars to finance the Agriculture Department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"Anachronism Day" At Paterson, N. J.

PATERSON, N. J., May 2 (AP) — Yesterday was a day of anachronisms here.

A helicopter flew Gov. Robert B. Meyner to Paterson so that he could watch a horse-drawn stagecoach re-enact a bit of history.

But the busy governor left before the coach got here—because the van hauling the 150-year-old stagecoach broke down.

A second trailer-truck was drafted into service and the stagecoach arrived two hours late.

The whole production was put on by the West Milford Historical Society to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the first stagecoach mail service between here and Deckerstown—now Sussex.

William Miller, an Andover sheep raiser, restored the ancient stagecoach and provided four palaminos to pull the wagon and four more for an escort. They took off about 10 a.m.

The 60-mile trip is a two-day affair with a dozen stops en route. Miller will drive the team and John Schreiks, also of Andover, armed with a shotgun, will guard the six passengers and 840 pieces of mail. Both were sworn in by Postmaster Frank W. Murphy.

Even before the stagecoach reached its first stop Meyner was back in Trenton.

"Hall Of Fame" Senators All Missed Presidency

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Those five senators picked for the Hall of Fame have at least two things in common.

They all failed to achieve their greatest ambition, for each, with varying degrees of eagerness, yearned to be president. And despite the pretty things said about them Wednesday, Clay, Calhoun, Webster, La Follete and Taft were big enough and tough enough to stir up tremendous opposition.

Let's take a quick rundown on the human side of the five men, chosen by a special committee as "outstanding" senators.

Henry Clay of Kentucky—Natural-born politician. Got into the business at 22, stayed there the rest of his life, became an expert at working out plans the bitterest opponents could agree to.

One biographer, George Stimpson, says: "Clay played brag and whist, liked dancing, was fond of the ladies, loved horse racing, drank whisky, dipped snuff, owned 50 slaves and fought duels."

Apparently didn't play cards very well, though. Once went $50,000 into debt. When bailed out by an unknown benefactor, Clay cried, "My god! Did any man ever have such friends!"

John Quincy Adams wrote in his diary: "Clay is an eloquent man, with very popular manners and great political management. His morals, public and private, are loose, but he has all the virtues indispensable to a popular man."

So, when J. Q. became president, whom did he name secretary of state? Clay.

John C. Calhoun of South Carolina—"I don't like Henry Clay," Calhoun once said. "He's a bad man, an imposter, a creature of wicked schemes. I wouldn't speak to him, but, by god, I love him."

The president, Andrew Jackson, hated both of them. The story goes that on his deathbed Old Andy announced he had but two regrets. He had failed to have Clay shot and Calhoun hanged.

Spent 42 years in public life, was vice president under two presidents, J. Q. Adams and Jackson, fought hard for states rights. Once, after fainting during a hot debate, he cried, "The South, the poor South. God knows what will become of her."

Daniel Webster of Massachusetts—Like Clay, he liked whisky and disliked bookkeeping, so often was in fiscal trouble. Was prodigious worker and speaker.

John Quincy Adams once observed: "Such is human nature in the gigantic intellect, the envious temper, the ravenous ambition and the rotten heart of Daniel Webster." Did J. Q. like anybody?

Was so accustomed to talking that he delivered an oration on his death bed, rousing himself at the end, he asked: "Have I—wife, son, doctor, friends, are you all here?—Have I, on this occasion, said anything unworthy of Daniel Webster?"

Canada Countermove

OTTAWA, May 2 (AP)—Canada's National Employment Service has invited 1,000 Canadian students studying at U.S. universities to register with the employment service if they intend to work in Canada. Officials said the move was made to compete with U.S. companies which have invaded Canadian universities seeking Canada's 2,400 engineering and science students graduating this year.

Robert M. La Follette Sr. of Wisconsin—Now looked on as an indefatigable worker for good government. Yet Teddy Roosevelt, supposedly working the same side of the street, spoke of "the La Follette type of fool radicalism." Teddy also called La Follette "a shifty self-seeker."

Robert A. Taft of Ohio — You know about Taft, of course, and of the oft repeated crack, "He has an excellent mind until he makes it up." Yet that hard fighter and foe, Harry Truman, put Taft on his list of topflight senators.

City Planners Invited To D.C. Conference

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 2 (AP) —Federal Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole yesterday invited the nation's city planners to a Washington conference "directed toward the speedier improvement of urban America."

Cole extended the invitation in a speech at a Yale conference of business, professional and academic urban planners.

"If the planners should look favorably on a Washington conference," he said, "I will appoint an advisory working group to prepare an agenda and schedule."

12 Satellite Models Delivered To Lab

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Naval Research Laboratory said yesterday that 12 full-scale magnesium models of the proposed earth satellite already have been delivered to it.

The laboratory also disclosed that while most of the baby moons to be launched into an orbit around the earth will be basketball-shaped, at least one will be nonspherical.

Among their other functions, the artificial moons may be used to plot out the distribution and motion of clouds around the earth. The launchings, to an altitude of 300 or more miles, are to take place within the next 20 months.

Homer E. Newell Jr., head of the laboratory's Vanguard satellite program said the 12 magnesium units, 20 inches in diameter, were built and assembled by Brooks & Perkins Co., Detroit.

"Die Stem" Substituted

JOHANNESBURG, May 2 (AP) — South Africa's Prime Minister, Johannes Strijdom, plans to halt play of "God Save the Queen" on state occasions, the Johannesburg Star reports. It says he will proclaim the Afrikaans song "Die Stem" as the country's national anthem.

In addition, the naval laboratory itself has built and assembled an unspecified number of aluminum test models.

Newell made his report to the American Meteorological Society and the American Geophysical Union.

Also today, a report from Patrick Air Force Base in Florida announced a successful "high altitude separation test" of the launching vehicle for the satellite.

A spokesman there said performance of the two stages of the planned three-stage rocket involved in today's test was considered satisfactory.

The crow is the wiliest of all birds. In the olden times the crow was termed a bird of evil omen because of its black plumage.

Benson Expects Continued Rise In Farm Income

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Farm prices went up last month and Secretary of Agriculture Benson predicts farm income this year will be higher than last.

The Agriculture Department said this week prices received by farmers increased 2 per cent during the month ended April 15.

Benson told a Senate Appropriations Committee he expects a 4 per cent rise in agricultural income this year as compared with last year.

The current report from the department said prices went up mainly on cattle, hogs, apples, tomatoes and cotton. Lower prices were reported for milk, strawberries, snap beans and oranges.

While prices received by farmers increased in April to the highest point since last July—241 per cent of the 1910-1914 average—, prices paid by farmers for commodities and services reached the highest point ever—296 per cent of the 1910-1914 average.

The increase in farm product prices in the last 12 months has failed to keep pace with the rise in prices of commodities and services bought by farmers. As a result, the mid-April parity ratio of 81, while up 1 per cent from March, was 2 per cent lower than a year ago.

Benson, in his testimony, said: The price index in March of this year was up 4 per cent from March of 1956. A further increase in farm operators' net income is expected. The increase of 1957 over 1956 may be in the neighborhood of 4 per cent. This would be equal to the increase of 1956 over 1955 for a total of 8 per cent in two years."

Benson predicted that livestock prices will continue to average higher than last year, but said the crop price average will be lower.

He was before the committee to testify in support of President Eisenhower's budget request for five billion dollars to finance the Agriculture Department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"Anachronism Day" At Paterson, N. J.

PATERSON, N. J., May 2 (AP) — Yesterday was a day of anachronisms here.

A helicopter flew Gov. Robert B. Meyner to Paterson so that he could watch a horse-drawn stagecoach re-enact a bit of history.

But the busy governor left before the coach got here—because the van hauling the 150-year-old stagecoach broke down.

A second trailer-truck was drafted into service and the stagecoach arrived two hours late.

The whole production was put on by the West Milford Historical Society to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the first stagecoach mail service between here and Deckerstown—now Sussex.

William Miller, an Andover sheep raiser, restored the ancient stagecoach and provided four palaminos to pull the wagon and four more for an escort. They took off about 10 a.m.

The 60-mile trip is a two-day affair with a dozen stops en route. Miller will drive the team and John Schreiks, also of Andover, armed with a shotgun, will guard the six passengers and 840 pieces of mail. Both were sworn in by Postmaster Frank W. Murphy.

Even before the stagecoach reached its first stop Meyner was back in Trenton.

"Hall Of Fame" Senators All Missed Presidency

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — Those five senators picked for the Hall of Fame have at least two things in common.

They all failed to achieve their greatest ambition, for each, with varying degrees of eagerness, yearned to be president. And despite the pretty things said about them Wednesday, Clay, Calhoun, Webster, La Follete and Taft were big enough and tough enough to stir up tremendous opposition.

Let's take a quick rundown on the human side of the five men, chosen by a special committee as "outstanding" senators.

Henry Clay of Kentucky—Natural-born politician. Got into the business at 22, stayed there the rest of his life, became an expert at working out plans the bitterest opponents could agree to.

One biographer, George Stimpson, says: "Clay played brag and whist, liked dancing, was fond of the ladies, loved horse racing, drank whisky, dipped snuff, owned 50 slaves and fought duels."

Apparently didn't play cards very well, though. Once went $50,000 into debt. When bailed out by an unknown benefactor, Clay cried, "My god! Did any man ever have such friends!"

John Quincy Adams wrote in his diary: "Clay is an eloquent man, with very popular manners and great political management. His morals, public and private, are loose, but he has all the virtues indispensable to a popular man."

So, when J. Q. became president, whom did he name secretary of state? Clay.

John C. Calhoun of South Carolina—"I don't like Henry Clay," Calhoun once said. "He's a bad man, an imposter, a creature of wicked schemes. I wouldn't speak to him, but, by god, I love him."

The president, Andrew Jackson, hated both of them. The story goes that on his deathbed Old Andy announced he had but two regrets. He had failed to have Clay shot and Calhoun hanged.

Spent 42 years in public life, was vice president under two presidents, J. Q. Adams and Jackson, fought hard for states rights. Once, after fainting during a hot debate, he cried, "The South, the poor South. God knows what will become of her."

Daniel Webster of Massachusetts—Like Clay, he liked whisky and disliked bookkeeping, so often was in fiscal trouble. Was prodigious worker and speaker.

John Quincy Adams once observed: "Such is human nature in the gigantic intellect, the envious temper, the ravenous ambition and the rotten heart of Daniel Webster." Did J. Q. like anybody?

Was so accustomed to talking that he delivered an oration on his death bed, rousing himself at the end, he asked: "Have I—wife, son, doctor, friends, are you all here?—Have I, on this occasion, said anything unworthy of Daniel Webster?"

Robert M. La Follette Sr. of Wisconsin—Now looked on as an indefatigable worker for good government. Yet Teddy Roosevelt, supposedly working the same side of the street, spoke of "the La Follette type of fool radicalism." Teddy also called La Follette "a shifty self-seeker."

Robert A. Taft of Ohio — You know about Taft, of course, and of the oft repeated crack, "He has an excellent mind until he makes it up." Yet that hard fighter and foe, Harry Truman, put Taft on his list of topflight senators.

Canada Countermove

OTTAWA, May 2 (AP)—Canada's National Employment Service has invited 1,000 Canadian students studying at U.S. universities to register with the employment service if they intend to work in Canada. Officials said the move was made to compete with U.S. companies which have invaded Canadian universities seeking Canada's 2,400 engineering and science students graduating this year.

City Planners Invited To D.C. Conference

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 2 (AP) —Federal Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole yesterday invited the nation's city planners to a Washington conference "directed toward the speedier improvement of urban America."

Cole extended the invitation in a speech at a Yale conference of business, professional and academic urban planners.

"If the planners should look favorably on a Washington conference," he said, "I will appoint an advisory working group to prepare an agenda and schedule."

12 Satellite Models Delivered To Lab

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—The Naval Research Laboratory said yesterday that 12 full-scale magnesium models of the proposed earth satellite already have been delivered to it.

The laboratory also disclosed that while most of the baby moons to be launched into an orbit around the earth will be basketball-shaped, at least one will be nonspherical.

Among their other functions, the artificial moons may be used to plot out the distribution and motion of clouds around the earth. The launchings, to an altitude of 300 or more miles, are to take place within the next 20 months.

Homer E. Newell Jr., head of the laboratory's Vanguard satellite program said the 12 magnesium units, 20 inches in diameter, were built and assembled by Brooks & Perkins Co., Detroit.

"Die Stem" Substituted

JOHANNESBURG, May 2 (AP) — South Africa's Prime Minister, Johannes Strijdom, plans to halt play of "God Save the Queen" on state occasions, the Johannesburg Star reports. It says he will proclaim the Afrikaans song "Die Stem" as the country's national anthem.

In addition, the naval laboratory itself has built and assembled an unspecified number of aluminum test models.

Newell made his report to the American Meteorological Society and the American Geophysical Union.

Also today, a report from Patrick Air Force Base in Florida announced a successful "high altitude separation test" of the launching vehicle for the satellite.

A spokesman there said performance of the two stages of the planned three-stage rocket involved in today's test was considered satisfactory.

Farm Market Opens June 1 At McHenry

OAKLAND—A market is being organized again to operate at McHenry in the Bowman boat barn. The name has become the Farm and Home Market to more nearly include all who would care to sell.

Mrs. Gerald Glotfelty is to be manager again this year. The market will open June 1, 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. (DST), and continue for 13 Saturdays, ending August 31.

In order to assist those who plan to sell with packaging, there will be a demonstration tomorrow in the Accident Fire Hall from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. (DST). Mrs. Judith Pheil and Miss Janet Coblentz, nutritionists of the Extension Service, will demonstrate quality and wrapping of baked goods. Harold Hoecker, marketing specialist of the Extension Service, will show grading and packaging of fruits and vegetables. All who plan to sell are urged to attend this meeting.

It is planned this year to put a poster in many of the cabins around Deep Creek Lake. More signs are being made to advertise the market.

As an outgrowth of the market last summer there will be markets in two other areas of the county; one in the Asher Glade area between Friendsville and Markleysburg, Pa., and the other at Red House. Women who sold at the market last summer in the Sunnyside area, south of Oakland, plan to sell at Red House.

All of the merchandise offered for sale are made or grown by the sellers.

Hyndman Girl Held In Deaths

Miss Norma Jean Sheirer, 18, Hyndman, has been ordered held for action of the Bedford County grand jury as result of a highway accident last August in which two persons were killed.

A Bedford County coroner's jury on Tuesday recommended that the girl be held, according to Dr. J. H. Kniseley, county coroner.

The accident involving three cars occurred Sunday, August 12, 1956, on Route 96, 5½ miles south of Hyndman. Other drivers involved were William E. Kemp, 72, this city, and John Clark, 37, Hyndman.

Killed in the crash were Carol Ann Kendall, 17, of Hyndman, riding with Miss Sheirer, and Barbara Lee Clark, 4-year-old daughter of Clark and a passenger in his car. Miss Sheirer and Clark both were injured seriously in the mishap.

Miss Sheirer's car first sideswiped the Kemp car and then struck the Clark auto.

Testimony at the coroner's inquest in Bedford County Courthouse was given by Trooper F. W. Gentinman of the Pennsylvania State Police, investigating officer; Kemp, Clark, Miss Sheirer, Orville Moore and Ray Emerick, employes of a service station near the accident site.

District Attorney E. W. Van Horn Jr. assisted Kniseley with the inquiry. Members of the jury were S. D. Ickes, Quentin Hammer, A. C. Koontz, Byron Wisegarver, Charles Rugh and Clay Fink.

L. Jeffrey Watt Joins Luke Staff

A native of Mobile, Ala., he has a Bachelor of Science degree in industrial management from Auburn Polytechnic Institute. After graduating in 1949, he was employed by the U.S. Gypsum Company at Greenville, Miss., from June of that year to December, 1950.

From 1950 to 1954 Watt worked in the engineering department of International Paper Company at Moss Point. In mid-1954 he was transferred to the sales department, working out of Atlanta, Ga., until November, 1955, when he returned to the Moss Point plant as project engineer for the mill manager.

He continued in that capacity until joining the West Virginia mill this week.

His wife and four children will join him here later.

Add a little personal sunshine to your day by eating a good breakfast each morning. The breakfast nutritionists recommend include fruit or fruit juice; milk; enriched, restored or whole grain bread and cereal; and eggs or meat when possible. Breakfast can be fun as well as healthful when you use imagination in preparing morning fare.

The farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar dipped to 40 cents in September, the Agricultural Marketing Service reports. It was also 40 cents in September of 1955, but intervening months have been slightly higher. The average for the full year of 1955 was 41 cents.

Radio Link To Cost $9 Million

The Department of Defense has asked for an appropriation of $9,000,000 for the Naval radio facility in Sugar Grove, Pendleton County.

The location in mountainous country southwest of here will be an important link in the defense communications system of the nation.

The announced cost of the radio facility was originally in the neighborhood of $20,000,000, according to Rep. Harley O. Staggers, Keyser, (D-2d W. Va.).

The station will be manned by about 300 communications personnel, he said in December when the project was released to the public.

The facility will include the purchase of more than 1,300 acres and it is understood that agents of the government have spent some time in appraising land where it is to be located.

The Navy was given $1,400,000 as an initial appropriation for the Sugar Grove job last fiscal year.

Currently, the Navy has three radio towers located on the property. These are temporary ones mounted on trucks.

The Sugar Grove request was the only one made by the Defense Department for West Virginia.

The project, however, marks the second large undertaking in eastern West Virginia.

The Navy Department had originally selected a site in the Green Bank area of Pocahontas County for the construction of this radio facility.

But the location was acquired by the National Science Foundation for the construction of a highly sensitive radio astronomy observatory.

Much progress has been made on this project.

Meets Each Week

LONACONING — The Lonaconing Homecoming committee is meeting each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the firemen's armory, according to William Hadley, committee chairman.

Boy Fractures Leg

An 11-year-old boy was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital at noon yesterday after being injured at SS. Peter and Paul School.

28 Persons Sign Up For European Tour

Twenty-eight people have made definite reservations and paid the initial $100 for the Times-News European Tour scheduled for August 26-September 16.

The Conlon Travel Agency, which is handling details of the tour, says 30 seats have been reserved for the TWA plane leaving New York at 2 p. m. Monday, August 26, for Shannon Airport, Ireland. This means only two more can be accommodated in this Cumberland area party out of a dozen or more who are tentatively considering the trip, which will cost under $1,000 for three weeks and a day visiting Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Switzerland and Italy.

Most of the present residents of Haiti are descendants of the slaves imported from Africa by French settlers.

Wills Creek Diverted For Flood Work

The water in Wills Creek has been diverted from the west side to the east side from a point just a few yards north of the Baltimore Street bridge to an area near the juncture of the stream with the Potomac River.

Diversion of the stream was done by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Concrete retaining and slope walls will be constructed along the west side of the stream from the Baltimore Street bridge to a point where the Potomac River and creek converge. Similar installations have been almost completed on the east side of the creek in the same general area.

The stream was diverted at a point just a few yards north of the bridge. Two large power shovels were busy excavating the dirt and rocks along the west bank yesterday.

Officials of the company said that when the slope and retaining walls are completed a portion of the stream bed will be paved. This will extend from the bridge to a point 300 feet south.

Some work in connection with storm and sanitary sewers is also included in the project.

Morgan Co. Voters To Decide Levy

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—Morgan County voters will decide June 11 whether they want to raise the school levy to provide for a teacher pay boost and other school items.

The Board of Education set the election date yesterday.

Teachers' salaries would be upped an estimated $45,000. About $12,000 would go for school maintenance and equipment.

Roman chariots often carried homing pigeons into war areas, where they were released to summon relief legions.

The water in Wills Creek has been diverted from the west side to the east side from a point just a few yards north of the Baltimore Street bridge to an area near the juncture of the stream with the Potomac River.

Diversion of the stream was done by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Concrete retaining and slope walls will be constructed along the west side of the stream from the Baltimore Street bridge to a point where the Potomac River and creek converge. Similar installations have been almost completed on the east side of the creek in the same general area.

The stream was diverted at a point just a few yards north of the bridge. Two large power shovels were busy excavating the dirt and rocks along the west bank yesterday.

Officials of the company said that when the slope and retaining walls are completed a portion of the stream bed will be paved. This will extend from the bridge to a point 300 feet south.

Some work in connection with storm and sanitary sewers is also included in the project.

Morgan Co. Voters To Decide Levy

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—Morgan County voters will decide June 11 whether they want to raise the school levy to provide for a teacher pay boost and other school items.

The Board of Education set the election date yesterday.

Teachers' salaries would be upped an estimated $45,000. About $12,000 would go for school maintenance and equipment.

Hostility? Look Who's Talking!

Russia's petulant protest against the "hostile" treatment accorded her representatives in the United States is a masterpiece of hypocrisy which surpasses even previous Soviet efforts.

The treatment of American representatives in Moscow and other capitals under Russia's thumb has violated the decencies of international usage. At the same time, Soviet representatives throughout the world have habitually, under orders from their government, flouted the hospitality of countries to which they were accredited. There is enough documentation of both these statements to fill several books. American embassies behind the "iron curtain" have been the next thing to prisons. Ambassadors and ministers have been forbidden to travel, spied upon by native embassy employes, and subjected to all sorts of personal indignities. They have been stopped and interrogated for hours by secret police, their personal possessions seized or searched. Elaborate campaigns of slander have been launched against them. Mobs which would instantly disperse if the dictatorship ordered have demonstrated violently outside the embassies. American diplomats have been snubbed in attempts to see Soviet officials. Several days ago, in Hungary, the Russians arrested an American diplomatic party, grilled its members for five hours, and demanded that they leave the country.

As for the activities of Soviet representatives abroad, so many of them have been caught redhanded or exposed by reliable sources that the record is endless. Even communist countries like Tito's Yugoslavia and Gomulka's Poland have complained about Russian spy activities. The United States demands that Russian representatives who abuse its hospitality return home, and that's about all.

These Days

How About Manners?

A reader telephones to register a complaint. It was a good complaint, so I told her to write to her two United States Senators and to her Representative. I said to write not once but twice. No vexation without representation is a good rule; also why not be a pest? It pays off on Election Day.

This reader's particular complaint is that Internal Revenue clerks are not polite. Well, that was her experience. Let her try other offices of the bureaucracy and she will discover that politeness is not on the Civil Service Examination papers. Nobody is paid to be polite. No union rules require politeness. Besides the citizen might get the idea that he owns the government and that the jobholder is just a guy who dislikes working in a hardware store.

My reader must have given one of these little guys a blow in the solar plexus—verbal, of course—when he complained about the conditions under which he has to work. She said, "If you were any good as an accountant, you surely could get a better job, as there now is a shortage of all kinds of white collar help." That must have made the little guy real mad because he must have heard that one at home when his wife told him that her sister, who married a truck driver, owned a whole mink coat, while she, married to a government official, never even got a mink collar on a cloth coat. So the little guy upped the lady's income tax return by disallowing a few deductions, particularly those for charities given out of pocket which cannot be proved.

Churches could probably double their take, if they gave a receipt when they passed the collection plate because if there is a receipt, the deduction is true and proved, but without a receipt the giver is at the mercy of any little guy who can say, "How do I know you put more in the plate than a dime? And besides, how can you prove that you ever went to church, which I doubt seriously that you did because you look more like a late sleeper and a funny-page reader? Let me ask you a $64,000 question: How many brothers did Shadrach have and what were their names? And what country did they live in and why?"

If you can't answer such a simple question, how can you prove that you went to church 52 times in one year not counting Christmas, Easter, funerals, weddings, etc., and each time you gave some money, all of which you now claim as a deduction? So, no deduction and if you don't like it hire a lawyer. A lawyer is a business expense and a justifiable deduction but a veterinarian isn't. Why should a veterinarian be? Is the dog your daughter or something? Be your age and pay your taxes and stop growling. It is like the field man who once told me that he had solved all his income tax problems by getting a low-pay job.

Having politely said something like this, but not in exactly such literate English, he shouted, "Next," like an old-time barber when a shave used to cost two bits, and my reader lost some money to Uncle Sam which I am sure will be spent usefully showing the people of Jordan how to preserve dates which they were doing for at least 5,000 years before Harold Stassen was born.

I sometimes wonder why clerks, elevator operators and such, working for the government of the United States, or state or municipal governments must always be so impolite. Many of them act as though they resent working for the public. They seem to want to assert their authority. "Get to the back of the car, you tax-paying sardine," seems to be the general attitude.

Maybe the best way to handle a fresh guy is to sock him one but he might call a cop.

It is like here in New York where the Commies commit every kind of a nuisance but nobody complains, but when the Hungarian hero, Dr. Bela Fabian, tries to do something about it, he gets locked up. Who knows, maybe the cops were laying for an heroic anti-Communist. Somebody ain't got no manners, says I, in language no one can misunderstand.

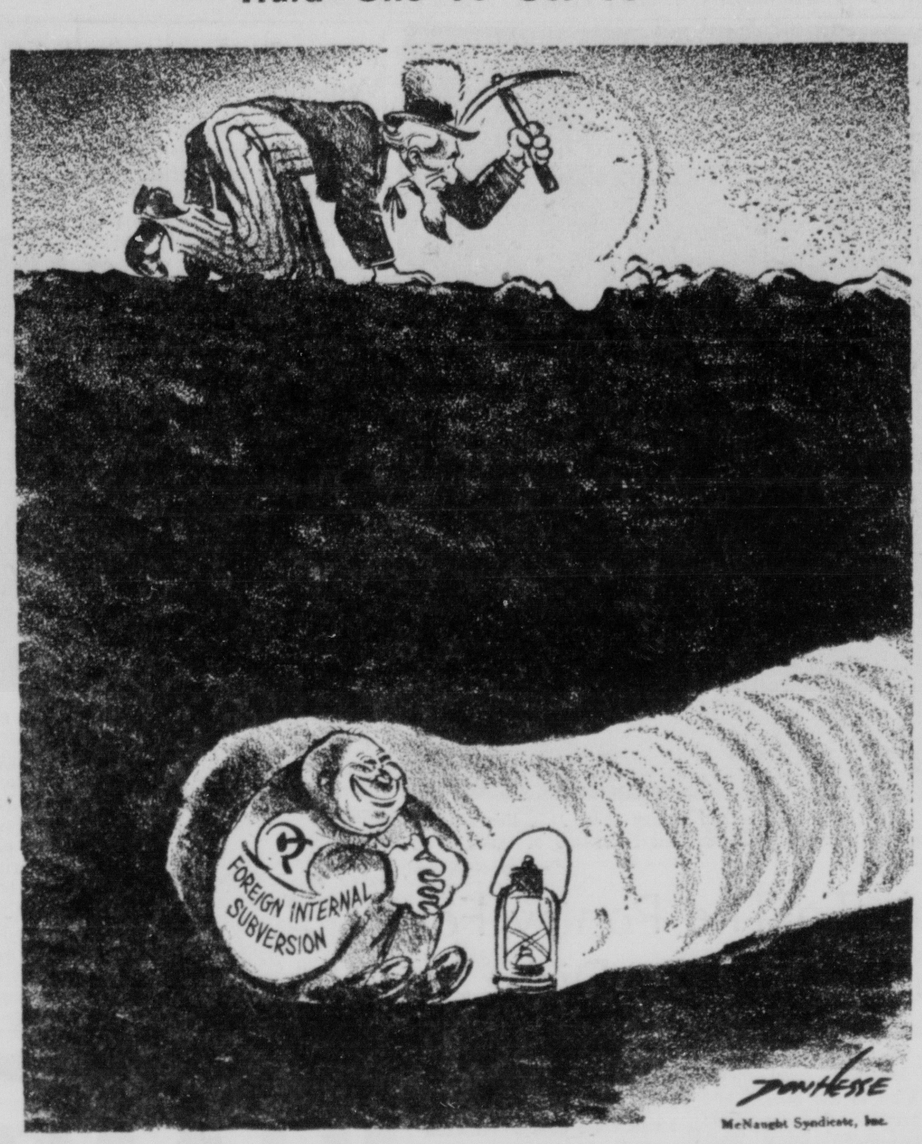
Hard One To Get To



Uncle Sam Foots Big Bill For Plush Offices Of Fish-Wildlife Service

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It won't please Congressional economizers, but the Interior Department has just shelled out $38,287.33 to redecorate plush new offices for top Fish and Wildlife officials. This includes $540.98 for an oriental rug that the new Commissioner, Arnie Suomela, didn't even want.

The Department blames the expenditure on Congress for elevating the Fish and Wildlife Service to a full-fledged branch. Under bureaucratic protocol, this higher status entitled the officials to fancier offices.

The most dazzling office was prepared for Fish and Wildlife boss Ross Leffler, who now has the rank of an assistant secretary. This makes him eligible for extra thick carpeting, heavier drapes, and other suitable trimmings.

It cost the taxpayers $8,256.08 to fixe up Leffler's office in the style fitting his new rank. This included $2,320.29 for scarlet-colored carpeting and oriental rugs; $766.25 for scarlet-colored drapes; $1,135.60 for two electric typewriters; and $1,130.37 for Leffler's desk and office chairs. The fancy fixtures were ordered by Interior, incidentally, before Leffler took over.

The second-ranking Fish and Wildlife official, Commissioner Suomela, tried to hold down redecorating expenses in his office. He insisted, for example, on keeping the same furniture used by his predecessor. Yet the Department still managed to spend $2,234.32 on improvements, including $540.98 for an oriental rug that he didn't want. The new rug arrived anyway over his protests.

Interior spent another $27,796.93 to carve out and furnish suites for the directors of two new bureaus — Commercial Fisheries, and Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. An estimated $16,510 went for partitions and spacious tiled lavatories. Furnishings cost $11,286.93, including $4,008.14 for carpeting alone.

This is an example of how one government department practices the economy that President Eisenhower preaches.

Note—Congress voted Fish and Wildlife its higher status following cries from commercial fishing interests that they were losing business to foreign competitors. The industry demanded more influence inside the government, so Congress created the new post of assistant secretary for Fish and Wildlife.

Showdown For "Confidential"

Confidentially, it looks as if the scandal magazine "Confidential" might be close to the end of the road in Califorina — and later elsewhere in the nation.

Attorney General Pat Brown of Califorina is hauling both publisher Robert Harrison and the printers of Confidential into court in Los Angeles May 14 with a double-barreled attack for publishing obscene matter and for criminal libel.

Brown, a deeply religious public official, contends that the scandal sheet has caused divorces and broken homes, and leads to blackmail. He has cases in which blackmailers have shaken down prominent people on the threat of "telling Confidential."

Harrison got shot while in the Dominican Republic last year, by Richard Weldy, ex-husband of Pilar Palette, who had once been written up in Confidential. Harrison recovered. Pilar's present husband, John Wayne, remarked: "I wish Weldy'd been a better shot."

Brown has canvassed various glamor names written up in Confidential, inviting them to be witnesses. One was Elvis Presley, who is the subject of a confession story by one of his girl friends in the current issue of Confidential.

Already Brown has had overtures from representatives of Confidential indicating they are ready to call it quits and stay out of California. This would set a pattern for other states.

Red Troublemakers

It was intended only for the eyes of American diplomats, but the State Department has prepared a confidential report on "Communist penetration in the Middle East."

This bluntly charges that Arab Reds are acting "on orders from Moscow" to foment riots and disturbances. Their aim, claims the report, is "to effect anti-western alliances."

The report has important bearing on trouble in Jordan and the question of whether the Eisenhower Doctrine against Communist penetration of the Near East should be invoked.

"Soviet clandestine operations in the Middle East are concentrated mainly in Syria and Lebanon," the report states, "where a network of Communist espionage, subversion, and other 'fifth-column' activities extend from Damascus and Beirut to Aleppo, Homs-Hama, and other centers in the Eastern Mediterranean area.

"The most noted Communist in the Middle East is Khalid Bikdash, a Moscow-trained Syrian Kurd, who became the first acknowledged Communist to be elected to the Syrian Parliament . . . (but) the main center of Soviet undercover subversive activities in the Middle East is the Beirut headquarters of the Lebanon Communist Party . . .

"The LCP Central Committee has been headed by Mustafa al-Ariss, but the Communist parties of Syria and Lebanon are governed by a joint central command under Khalid Bikdash. However, Soviet intrigues and subversion in the Middle East are directed by a secret MVD ofifical holding a Soviet diplomatic post in Beirut. This comes from Turkish sources."

Summarizing Red strategy in the Middle East, the report claims:

"Soviet long-range strategy in the Middle East is governed by the following considerations: (1) expansion of Soviet influence in the eastern Mediterranean region; (2) diversion of Arabian oil resources from the west to the Soviet bloc; (3) winning Muslems to tolerance of or active sympathy with Communism, to open the way for ultimate communization of the entire region."

Court Raises More Questions Than It Answers

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON.—The Supreme Court of the United States passed a new "law" on Monday. It could affect discrimination on racial or religious grounds in private schools, exclusive clubs, and colleges supported or controlled by church groups of any denomination.

The Supreme Court isn't supposed to pass any laws. That's the function of Congress. But now the Supreme Court proclaims as "the law of the land" that a man who left his money in 1831 for a college to which only "male, white orphans" were to be admitted cannot have his wishes entirely respected. If Stephen Girard were alive today, he could discriminate on racial or religious grounds and conduct a private school or college, admitting anyone he chose. But, since he made the mistake of letting a city government act as trustee for him, the wishes of the original donor cannot be lawfully fulfilled by the trustee.

This is a sensational reversal of centuries of legal doctrine. Up to now it had been thought that a "trustee," as such, was a private person, merely acting for the donor, and that a public official acting as a trustee could do anything that it was lawful for any trustee to do in following the provisions of a will. But the Supreme Court of the United States says that the Board of Directors of City Trusts—an organization set up by the City of Philadelphia—to carry out the terms of wills and estates left in perpetual trust is an "agency of the state" and not an agency of the donor of the money. Then the Supreme Court invokes the Fourteenth Amendment, which says that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

No public funds are involved in the Girard College case. It consists entirely of private funds of nearly $100,000,000, and the real issue is the Board of Trustees. There are fourteen citizens on it. Twelve are appointed by the Court of Common Pleas, and there are two ex-officio members, one the president of the City Council of Philadelphia, and the other the city's mayor. This is not unlike the set-up in many states where private colleges and universities operate under a state charter and the governor is designated as an ex-officio member of the board of trustees.

Every college or university—in fact, almost every private club—operates under a corporation charter issued by a state government.

If corporations, which are often referred to as "creatures of the state," are some day to be subject to the rule laid down in the case of Stephen Girard College by the Supreme Court of the United States, it raises a question as to whether any form of discrimination—either on religious, racial or even political grounds—might come under the ban.

One university here in Washington, for example, operating under a federal government charter, is required to select a certain number of trustees from a particular church. Will this be construed as "discrimination"? Many a bank and trust company, in seeking to carry out the wishes of a donor, is sometimes confronted with clauses in the will that require either religious or racial discrimination to be exercised. Can the trustee be enjoined now from carrying out the wishes of the donor if some relatives or other outside persons choose to challenge the fulfillment of the provisions of the will on the ground that the trustee is "an agency of the state" and hence cannot violate the Fourteenth Amendment?

These are questions of degree and scope on which the new decision, which happens to be brief, throws little light. Also, to what extent will states hereafter be limited in making their own rules on wills and trusts?

What, it is also being asked by lawyers, is going to happen to wills that are executed by state appointees, as in the case of an "administrator" or "executor" designated by the courts? Many wills, for example, provide that, when a wife remarries, she loses the benefit of the funds bequeathed, or that children are to qualify only if they are members of a certain church. Does the new ruling mean that, if the administrator is held to be "an agency of the state," he cannot recognize any discriminatory provisions in wills hereafter? The attorney general of a state, it will be noted, has the duty of enforcing all charitable trusts.

The new decision of the Supreme Court is avowedly based on the school segregation ruling handed down in 1954, but it raises more questions than it answers.

The Supreme Court could readily have accepted the decision of Pennsylvania's highest court in this case and thus could have retained the recognized principles of law. But, being sociologically inclined, the tendency of the present Supreme Court justices is to go more and more to the side of reform for reform's sake, with less and less regard for any consistency of legal precepts.

Best Rheumatic Fever Weapon Is Prevention

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Rheumatic fever, unlike measles and chicken pox, does not produce everlasting immunity. On the contrary, one attack makes the individual more suceptible. But in recent years this has not been a handicap because rheumatic fever can be prevented by controling streptococcal disease.

How is this possible? When Johnny got rheumatic fever, symptoms of the disease developed approximately 16 days after a strep sore throat with tonsilitis. He apparently recovered from the respiratory infection but the streptococci acted as a trigger mechanism for his bout of rheumatic fever.

No one knows what happens in the interim but many authorities believe the body becomes allergic to the toxins or other products of the streptococci. This explains why rheumatic fever prophylaxis depends upon the prevention or early treatment of the original strep infection.

Since Johnny had a bona fide case, recurrences of R. F. were discouraged with penicillin. His physician had a choice of giving him penicillin tablets every day or a whopping big dose hypodermically every month. The latter was decided upon.

An alternate protective measure is to treat the strep throat with penicillin as soon as it strikes. This has one drawback, because the diagnosis is not easy to make without taking a smear of the throat with a cotton applicator and sending the secretions to the laboratory. The procedure takes from 24 to 36 hours, and by this time the damage might be done. It is too bad we do not have a quicker method for detecting the organisms.

On the other hand, a strep infection is suspected when ever sore throat comes suddenly, with pain on swallowing, headache, and a temperature varying from 101 to 104 degrees F. In children the condition usually is associated with abdominal pain, nausea, and vomiting. The neck glands are tender and swollen and some youngsters exhibit a scarlatina-like rash. With this type of infection, penicillin is started immediately and continued for 10 days to eliminate all bacteria.

TOMORROW: The tranquilizing business.

BOY SEES DOUBLE

J. M. R. writes: My 10 year old grandson suddenly developed eye trouble. At school, he sees printed and written matter double. This does not seem to occur when he is on the street or watching TV. His mother took him to a few doctors but they do not seem to agree on cause and treatment. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

Ask your physician to recommend an ophthalmologist and abide by his decision. The condition may be due to eye strain or cross-eye.

BABY'S MENTALITY

Mrs. M. G. writes: At what age can you tell whether a baby will be retarded mentally?

REPLY

Much depends upon the degree of retardation. Diagnosis of mongolian idiocy, for example, can be made at birth. Other types may be detected before six months if the mental deficiency is severe, but mild cases may escape notice until the first birthday.

THROAT LUMP

A. M. writes: What causes a lump in the throat?

REPLY

This condition usually is due to spasm of the throat muscles and is prone to occur in nervous individuals. Recently an English physician found that some of his patients had sinusitis and the "lump" may have been thick, tenacious pus that adhered to the back of the throat. This cause should not be difficult to determine when the swelling disappears after coughing or swallowing food.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

"They told me it was a deluxe cabin," pouted a secretary back from a vacation cruise to Bermuda, "so what was the idea of a washing machine on the wall?"

"Silly-Billy," chided her more sophisticated friend, "that was a porthole."

"Oho!" exclaimed the secretary. "So that's why I never got my clothes back."

Helpful hint from Jack O'Brian: When a TV emcee introduces anyone as "wonderful," he means just fair. "Great" means pretty good. "Very wonderful" suggests featured billing and "very, very wonderful" means the emcee's equal. "Very, very fabulous" indicates the guest is appearing without pay.

Worth remembering: Edward Sheldon's "God will look you over, not for medals, diplomas, or degrees, but for scars." And Swift's, "The best doctors in the world are Dr. Diet, Dr. Quiet, and Dr. Merryman."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Do you know who furnished the inspiration for the origin of the canned food industry? It was none other than Napoleon Bonaparte who offered a prize for a method of preserving the food of an army on the march. This inspired a Frenchman named Appert to originate the process of canning. There is a wider variety of prizes being currently offered than ever before in the history of the world. However, the majority of winners benefit only individually. There should be more prizes offered for ideas, such as food canning, that will benefit the public in general.

HUSBANDS

Discussing the subject of husband selection, Elsa Martinelli, highly glamorous Italian actress, said, "Italians are good men to marry. When my father was 50 years old he still brought flowers home to Mama. He still tried to look handsome. He was still jealous of Mama. Isn't that wonderful?"

INSURANCE

There are about 200,000 life insurance agents in this country. So says a statistician. That figure surprises me. I thought there were that many in Brooklyn. How are you getting along with your life insurance agent? Ask him if he knows the song by Frank Crumit titled "Nobody Has Endurance Like The Man Who Sells Insurance."

FORGOTTEN MAN

Everybody knows Mike Todd produced the film titled "Around The World In Eighty Days." Who directed it? Not many can answer that offhand. It was a brilliant young Englishman named Michael Anderson. He is Hollywood's forgotten man of 1957. That Mike Todd is a very clever fellow, nobody can deny. But he certainly knows how to monopolize the spotlight. When he controlled the Del Mar race track there were more pictures of him in the papers than the horses.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. What is the origin of the expression "The Real McCoy?" A. The original expression had nothing to do with the fighter "Kid" McCoy as is often claimed. It was not "The Real McCoy" but "The Real Mackay" and was used by Scots in connection with the judgment of the quality of a type of wool. That's the way I heard it. Q. Who was the star of the musical show titled "The Enchantress?" A. Kitty Gordon, the statuesque beauty known as "the girl with the beautiful back." She also introduced that touching ballad titled "There's A Little Spark of Love Still Burning."

ASIDES

In battling for their rights cigar smokers are making some progress. Cigar smoking is now permitted on several airlines. One line even gives away after dinner cigars. However, pipes are still barred.

WILD DRIVERS

Where can be found the wildest automobile drivers in the United States? There is a great difference of opinion as to that. In this connection, it is interesting to note that not so long ago in Long Beach, Calif., a man was run over by an automobile while he was having a pair of shoes tried in a shoe store! The wildly driven car came crashing through the wall of the shop.

She said, "If you were any good as an accountant, you surely could get a better job, as there now is a shortage of all kinds of white collar help." That must have made the little guy real mad because he must have heard that one at home when his wife told him that her sister, who married a truck driver, owned a whole mink coat, while she, married to a government official, never even got a mink collar on a cloth coat. So the little guy upped the lady's income tax return by disallowing a few deductions, particularly those for charities given out of pocket which cannot be proved.

Churches could probably double their take, if they gave a receipt when they passed the collection plate because if there is a receipt, the deduction is true and proved, but without a receipt the giver is at the mercy of any little guy who can say, "How do I know you put more in the plate than a dime? And besides, how can you prove that you ever went to church, which I doubt seriously that you did because you look more like a late sleeper and a funny-page reader? Let me ask you a $64,000 question: How many brothers did Shadrach have and what were their names? And what country did they live in and why?"

If you can't answer such a simple question, how can you prove that you went to church 52 times in one year not counting Christmas, Easter, funerals, weddings, etc., and each time you gave some money, all of which you now claim as a deduction? So, no deduction and if you don't like it hire a lawyer. A lawyer is a business expense and a justifiable deduction but a veterinarian isn't. Why should a veterinarian be? Is the dog your daughter or something? Be your age and pay your taxes and stop growling. It is like the field man who once told me that he had solved all his income tax problems by getting a low-pay job.

Having politely said something like this, but not in exactly such literate English, he shouted, "Next," like an old-time barber when a shave used to cost two bits, and my reader lost some money to Uncle Sam which I am sure will be spent usefully showing the people of Jordan how to preserve dates which they were doing for at least 5,000 years before Harold Stassen was born.

I sometimes wonder why clerks, elevator operators and such, working for the government of the United States, or state or municipal governments must always be so impolite. Many of them act as though they resent working for the public. They seem to want to assert their authority. "Get to the back of the car, you tax-paying sardine," seems to be the general attitude.

Maybe the best way to handle a fresh guy is to sock him one but he might call a cop.

It is like here in New York where the Commies commit every kind of a nuisance but nobody complains, but when the Hungarian hero, Dr. Bela Fabian, tries to do something about it, he gets locked up. Who knows, maybe the cops were laying for an heroic anti-Communist. Somebody ain't got no manners, says I, in language no one can misunderstand.

Hard One To Get To

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON.—The Supreme Court of the United States passed a new "law" on Monday. It could affect discrimination on racial or religious grounds in private schools, exclusive clubs, and colleges supported or controlled by church groups of any denomination.

The Supreme Court isn't supposed to pass any laws. That's the function of Congress. But now the Supreme Court proclaims as "the law of the land" that a man who left his money in 1831 for a college to which only "male, white orphans" were to be admitted cannot have his wishes entirely respected. If Stephen Girard were alive today, he could discriminate on racial or religious grounds and conduct a private school or college, admitting anyone he chose. But, since he made the mistake of letting a city government act as trustee for him, the wishes of the original donor cannot be lawfully fulfilled by the trustee.

This is a sensational reversal of centuries of legal doctrine. Up to now it had been thought that a "trustee," as such, was a private person, merely acting for the donor, and that a public official acting as a trustee could do anything that it was lawful for any trustee to do in following the provisions of a will. But the Supreme Court of the United States says that the Board of Directors of City Trusts—an organization set up by the City of Philadelphia—to carry out the terms of wills and estates left in perpetual trust is an "agency of the state" and not an agency of the donor of the money. Then the Supreme Court invokes the Fourteenth Amendment, which says that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

No public funds are involved in the Girard College case. It consists entirely of private funds of nearly $100,000,000, and the real issue is the Board of Trustees. There are fourteen citizens on it. Twelve are appointed by the Court of Common Pleas, and there are two ex-officio members, one the president of the City Council of Philadelphia, and the other the city's mayor. This is not unlike the set-up in many states where private colleges and universities operate under a state charter and the governor is designated as an ex-officio member of the board of trustees.

Every college or university—in fact, almost every private club—operates under a corporation charter issued by a state government.

If corporations, which are often referred to as "creatures of the state," are some day to be subject to the rule laid down in the case of Stephen Girard College by the Supreme Court of the United States, it raises a question as to whether any form of discrimination—either on religious, racial or even political grounds—might come under the ban.

One university here in Washington, for example, operating under a federal government charter, is required to select a certain number of trustees from a particular church. Will this be construed as "discrimination"? Many a bank and trust company, in seeking to carry out the wishes of a donor, is sometimes confronted with clauses in the will that require either religious or racial discrimination to be exercised. Can the trustee be enjoined now from carrying out the wishes of the donor if some relatives or other outside persons choose to challenge the fulfillment of the provisions of the will on the ground that the trustee is "an agency of the state" and hence cannot violate the Fourteenth Amendment?

These are questions of degree and scope on which the new decision, which happens to be brief, throws little light. Also, to what extent will states hereafter be limited in making their own rules on wills and trusts?

What, it is also being asked by lawyers, is going to happen to wills that are executed by state appointees, as in the case of an "administrator" or "executor" designated by the courts? Many wills, for example, provide that, when a wife remarries, she loses the benefit of the funds bequeathed, or that children are to qualify only if they are members of a certain church. Does the new ruling mean that, if the administrator is held to be "an agency of the state," he cannot recognize any discriminatory provisions in wills hereafter? The attorney general of a state, it will be noted, has the duty of enforcing all charitable trusts.

The new decision of the Supreme Court is avowedly based on the school segregation ruling handed down in 1954, but it raises more questions than it answers.

The Supreme Court could readily have accepted the decision of Pennsylvania's highest court in this case and thus could have retained the recognized principles of law. But, being sociologically inclined, the tendency of the present Supreme Court justices is to go more and more to the side of reform for reform's sake, with less and less regard for any consistency of legal precepts.

Uncle Sam Foots Big Bill For Plush Offices Of Fish-Wildlife Service

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It won't please Congressional economizers, but the Interior Department has just shelled out $38,287.33 to redecorate plush new offices for top Fish and Wildlife officials. This includes $540.98 for an oriental rug that the new Commissioner, Arnie Suomela, didn't even want.

The Department blames the expenditure on Congress for elevating the Fish and Wildlife Service to a full-fledged branch. Under bureaucratic protocol, this higher status entitled the officials to fancier offices.

The most dazzling office was prepared for Fish and Wildlife boss Ross Leffler, who now has the rank of an assistant secretary. This makes him eligible for extra thick carpeting, heavier drapes, and other suitable trimmings.

It cost the taxpayers $8,256.08 to fixe up Leffler's office in the style fitting his new rank. This included $2,320.29 for scarlet-colored carpeting and oriental rugs; $766.25 for scarlet-colored drapes; $1,135.60 for two electric typewriters; and $1,130.37 for Leffler's desk and office chairs. The fancy fixtures were ordered by Interior, incidentally, before Leffler took over.

The second-ranking Fish and Wildlife official, Commissioner Suomela, tried to hold down redecorating expenses in his office. He insisted, for example, on keeping the same furniture used by his predecessor. Yet the Department still managed to spend $2,234.32 on improvements, including $540.98 for an oriental rug that he didn't want. The new rug arrived anyway over his protests.

Interior spent another $27,796.93 to carve out and furnish suites for the directors of two new bureaus — Commercial Fisheries, and Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. An estimated $16,510 went for partitions and spacious tiled lavatories. Furnishings cost $11,286.93, including $4,008.14 for carpeting alone.

This is an example of how one government department practices the economy that President Eisenhower preaches.

Note—Congress voted Fish and Wildlife its higher status following cries from commercial fishing interests that they were losing business to foreign competitors. The industry demanded more influence inside the government, so Congress created the new post of assistant secretary for Fish and Wildlife.

Showdown For "Confidential"

Confidentially, it looks as if the scandal magazine "Confidential" might be close to the end of the road in Califorina — and later elsewhere in the nation.

Attorney General Pat Brown of Califorina is hauling both publisher Robert Harrison and the printers of Confidential into court in Los Angeles May 14 with a double-barreled attack for publishing obscene matter and for criminal libel.

Brown, a deeply religious public official, contends that the scandal sheet has caused divorces and broken homes, and leads to blackmail. He has cases in which blackmailers have shaken down prominent people on the threat of "telling Confidential."

Harrison got shot while in the Dominican Republic last year, by Richard Weldy, ex-husband of Pilar Palette, who had once been written up in Confidential. Harrison recovered. Pilar's present husband, John Wayne, remarked: "I wish Weldy'd been a better shot."

Brown has canvassed various glamor names written up in Confidential, inviting them to be witnesses. One was Elvis Presley, who is the subject of a confession story by one of his girl friends in the current issue of Confidential.

Already Brown has had overtures from representatives of Confidential indicating they are ready to call it quits and stay out of California. This would set a pattern for other states.

Red Troublemakers

It was intended only for the eyes of American diplomats, but the State Department has prepared a confidential report on "Communist penetration in the Middle East."

This bluntly charges that Arab Reds are acting "on orders from Moscow" to foment riots and disturbances. Their aim, claims the report, is "to effect anti-western alliances."

The report has important bearing on trouble in Jordan and the question of whether the Eisenhower Doctrine against Communist penetration of the Near East should be invoked.

"Soviet clandestine operations in the Middle East are concentrated mainly in Syria and Lebanon," the report states, "where a network of Communist espionage, subversion, and other 'fifth-column' activities extend from Damascus and Beirut to Aleppo, Homs-Hama, and other centers in the Eastern Mediterranean area.

"The most noted Communist in the Middle East is Khalid Bikdash, a Moscow-trained Syrian Kurd, who became the first acknowledged Communist to be elected to the Syrian Parliament . . . (but) the main center of Soviet undercover subversive activities in the Middle East is the Beirut headquarters of the Lebanon Communist Party . . .

"The LCP Central Committee has been headed by Mustafa al-Ariss, but the Communist parties of Syria and Lebanon are governed by a joint central command under Khalid Bikdash. However, Soviet intrigues and subversion in the Middle East are directed by a secret MVD ofifical holding a Soviet diplomatic post in Beirut. This comes from Turkish sources."

Summarizing Red strategy in the Middle East, the report claims:

"Soviet long-range strategy in the Middle East is governed by the following considerations: (1) expansion of Soviet influence in the eastern Mediterranean region; (2) diversion of Arabian oil resources from the west to the Soviet bloc; (3) winning Muslems to tolerance of or active sympathy with Communism, to open the way for ultimate communization of the entire region."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Do you know who furnished the inspiration for the origin of the canned food industry? It was none other than Napoleon Bonaparte who offered a prize for a method of preserving the food of an army on the march. This inspired a Frenchman named Appert to originate the process of canning. There is a wider variety of prizes being currently offered than ever before in the history of the world. However, the majority of winners benefit only individually. There should be more prizes offered for ideas, such as food canning, that will benefit the public in general.

HUSBANDS

Discussing the subject of husband selection, Elsa Martinelli, highly glamorous Italian actress, said, "Italians are good men to marry. When my father was 50 years old he still brought flowers home to Mama. He still tried to look handsome. He was still jealous of Mama. Isn't that wonderful?"

INSURANCE

There are about 200,000 life insurance agents in this country. So says a statistician. That figure surprises me. I thought there were that many in Brooklyn. How are you getting along with your life insurance agent? Ask him if he knows the song by Frank Crumit titled "Nobody Has Endurance Like The Man Who Sells Insurance."

FORGOTTEN MAN

Everybody knows Mike Todd produced the film titled "Around The World In Eighty Days." Who directed it? Not many can answer that offhand. It was a brilliant young Englishman named Michael Anderson. He is Hollywood's forgotten man of 1957. That Mike Todd is a very clever fellow, nobody can deny. But he certainly knows how to monopolize the spotlight. When he controlled the Del Mar race track there were more pictures of him in the papers than the horses.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. What is the origin of the expression "The Real McCoy?" A. The original expression had nothing to do with the fighter "Kid" McCoy as is often claimed. It was not "The Real McCoy" but "The Real Mackay" and was used by Scots in connection with the judgment of the quality of a type of wool. That's the way I heard it. Q. Who was the star of the musical show titled "The Enchantress?" A. Kitty Gordon, the statuesque beauty known as "the girl with the beautiful back." She also introduced that touching ballad titled "There's A Little Spark of Love Still Burning."

ASIDES

In several announcements as to accommodations available to visitors to Las Vegas, Nev., I note "Divorcees Welcome." Are there places in Las Vegas where divorcees are not welcome? If so, why? . . . In battling for their rights cigar smokers are making some progress. Cigar smoking is now permitted on several airlines. One line even gives away after dinner cigars. However, pipes are still barred.

WILD DRIVERS

Where can be found the wildest automobile drivers in the United States? There is a great difference of opinion as to that. In this connection, it is interesting to note that not so long ago in Long Beach, Calif., a man was run over by an automobile while he was having a pair of shoes tried in a shoe store! The wildly driven car came crashing through the wall of the shop.

Best Rheumatic Fever Weapon Is Prevention

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Rheumatic fever, unlike measles and chicken pox, does not produce everlasting immunity. On the contrary, one attack makes the individual more suceptible. But in recent years this has not been a handicap because rheumatic fever can be prevented by controling streptococcal disease.

How is this possible? When Johnny got rheumatic fever, symptoms of the disease developed approximately 16 days after a strep sore throat with tonsilitis. He apparently recovered from the respiratory infection but the streptococci acted as a trigger mechanism for his bout of rheumatic fever.

No one knows what happens in the interim but many authorities believe the body becomes allergic to the toxins or other products of the streptococci. This explains why rheumatic fever prophylaxis depends upon the prevention or early treatment of the original strep infection.

Since Johnny had a bona fide case, recurrences of R. F. were discouraged with penicillin. His physician had a choice of giving him penicillin tablets every day or a whopping big dose hypodermically every month. The latter was decided upon.

An alternate protective measure is to treat the strep throat with penicillin as soon as it strikes. This has one drawback, because the diagnosis is not easy to make without taking a smear of the throat with a cotton applicator and sending the secretions to the laboratory. The procedure takes from 24 to 36 hours, and by this time the damage might be done. It is too bad we do not have a quicker method for detecting the organisms.

On the other hand, a strep infection is suspected when ever sore throat comes suddenly, with pain on swallowing, headache, and a temperature varying from 101 to 104 degrees F. In children the condition usually is associated with abdominal pain, nausea, and vomiting. The neck glands are tender and swollen and some youngsters exhibit a scarlatina-like rash. With this type of infection, penicillin is started immediately and continued for 10 days to eliminate all bacteria.

TOMORROW: The tranquilizing business.

BOY SEES DOUBLE

J. M. R. writes: My 10 year old grandson suddenly developed eye trouble. At school, he sees printed and written matter double. This does not seem to occur when he is on the street or watching TV. His mother took him to a few doctors but they do not seem to agree on cause and treatment. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

Ask your physician to recommend an ophthalmologist and abide by his decision. The condition may be due to eye strain or cross-eye.

BABY'S MENTALITY

Mrs. M. G. writes: At what age can you tell whether a baby will be retarded mentally?

REPLY

Much depends upon the degree of retardation. Diagnosis of mongolian idiocy, for example, can be made at birth. Other types may be detected before six months if the mental deficiency is severe, but mild cases may escape notice until the first birthday.

THROAT LUMP

A. M. writes: What causes a lump in the throat?

REPLY

This condition usually is due to spasm of the throat muscles and is prone to occur in nervous individuals. Recently an English physician found that some of his patients had sinusitis and the "lump" may have been thick, tenacious pus that adhered to the back of the throat. This cause should not be difficult to determine when the swelling disappears after coughing or swallowing food.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

"They told me it was a deluxe cabin," pouted a secretary back from a vacation cruise to Bermuda, "so what was the idea of a washing machine on the wall?"

"Silly-Billy," chided her more sophisticated friend, "that was a porthole."

"Oho!" exclaimed the secretary. "So that's why I never got my clothes back."

Helpful hint from Jack O'Brian: When a TV emcee introduces anyone as "wonderful," he means just fair. "Great" means pretty good. "Very wonderful" suggests featured billing and "very, very wonderful" means the emcee's equal. "Very, very fabulous" indicates the guest is appearing without pay.

Worth remembering: Edward Sheldon's "God will look you over, not for medals, diplomas, or degrees, but for scars." And Swift's, "The best doctors in the world are Dr. Diet, Dr. Quiet, and Dr. Merryman."

Tender, juicy hamburgers, cooked with a spicy sauerbraten sauce, take on a foreign flavor. Serve the patties with a generous topping of the sauce. Accompany the patties with buttered peas, "boiled" new potatoes, and sliced round rye bread.

Sauerbraten Meat Patties

Foreign recipes—Italian spaghetti, Swedish meat balls, and Mexican chili con carne—use lots of ground beef. The all-American ground beef favorite—hamburgers—can be dressed up with an old-country accent, too.

Ground beef patties cooked in a spicy sauerbraten sauce are Viennese in flavor accent and excellent eating. Try the combination the next time you have a couple of pounds of ground beef.

When buying the ground beef, select freshly ground meat, bright red in color. Chuck roast, ground once, makes tender, juicy hamburgers.

To make sauerbraten patties, simply brown seasoned hamburgers in a little fat and cook them in the spicy sauce. Crumbled gingersnaps, vinegar, and brown sugar give the sauce its dash of foreign flavor. Here is the recipe:

Sauerbraten Meat Patties

1-½ pounds ground beef; ½ medium onion, minced; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; ⅛ teaspoon thyme; 1 tablespoon fat; ⅓ cup vinegar, ⅔ cup water; 3 tablespoons brown sugar; 2 tablespoons catsup; 8 gingersnaps, crumbled; 12 whole cloves; 8 peppercorns; 1 bay leaf.

Mix ground beef, onion, egg, salt, pepper and thyme; shape into 6 patties. Brown patties in hot fat. Combine remaining ingredients, add to patties, cover, and simmer ½ hour turning meat once during cooking. Spoon sauce over each serving. 4 servings.

Experiments In Omelet Making

A quiet Sunday evening at home, with just the family for company, and you have the perfect setting for an adventuresome experiment in omelet making. With eggs in plentiful supply at low prices, you can assume without challenge, that your experiment won't be costly. And, if you're prepared to be generous with your basic ingredient, that the outcome is slated for success.

Keep these tips from the U. S. Department of Agriculture in mind: Mix quickly! Cook immediately! Don't cook too long! Serve at once on a heated dish!

Now for the real test of sauces, fillings and mixtures. To begin with, you might try an omelet with tomato sauce, either mildly flavored or the snappy Mexican-hot kind. Other good companion sauces are cheese, mushroom, onion, or salmon.

If it's a mixture you're aiming for, use your favorite vegetable, or diced meat or fish, or cheese — alone or in combination. For unusual blends of eggs and cheese try these: Add a blend of grated Swiss cheese and grated Parmesan, slice cheddar cheese into thin strips, or dice potatoes, onions and cheddar cheese, and add to the omelet mixture.

Another omelet, with a Swiss accent ,contains diced Swiss cheese and crisply cooked diced bacon. For a Puffy Cheese omelet, fold grated cheddar cheese into stiff egg whites and add to beaten yolks.

Meats are good omelet partners, especially bacon, chicken, dried beef, ham, hearts, kidneys, liver, sausage, or veal. Fish rate high, too, particularly anchovy, bluefish, cod, herring, lobster, salmon, sardines, shrimp, or oysters.

If it's to be a vegetable omelet, use asparagus, carrots, cauliflower, celery, chives, corn, egg plant, lima beans, mushrooms, onions, parsley, peas, green pepper, potatoes, spinach, string beans, or tomatoes.

For best results in mixing cheese, meat, fish, or vegetables with omelets, three different methods of adding the ingredients are recommended. Melt butter in a frying pan, add ingredients. Stir until ingredients are thoroughly heated, then add the omelet mixture. OR, add the chosen ingredients to the omelet mixture before cooking. Be sure to stir in quickly and don't over stir. OR, spread heated ingredients on the cooked omelet before folding in half.

Beef For Breakfast?

Beef is becoming a popular breakfast food because of its tempting flavor and staying power. There are no mid-morning hunger pangs after a tasty small steak or a generous helping of dried beef or beef bouillon.

You can count on 4 servings to the pound of canned ham when served cold, or 3 servings to the pound when served hot. Canned hams three pounds and over have been processed long enough to be thoroughly cooked but they must be kept under refrigeration.

Look To The Pantry For A Special Party Dish

A girl's best friend is her pantry shelf. Stock it well, and you'll be rewarded with good meals that are kind to the budget and easy to prepare. Case in point: our party-minded main dish, Curried Fricassee of Chicken on Coconut Rice.

Elegant is the word for this company fare, yet see how inexpensive its ingredients, how simple the preparation. Cans of boned chicken fricassee and chicken broth, rice, coconut and condiments . . . all from the pantry . . . are the basis of this dish. Check your supplies. With these items on hand, and with the following wonderfully easy recipe, you'll always be ready for a party.

Curried Fricassee Of Chicken

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 can (14½ ounces) chicken broth
- ¼ bay leaf, crumbled
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon thyme
- 2 cans (16 ounces each) boned chicken fricassee
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 cup flaked coconut

Saute onion in butter in skillet; add rice and cook slowly until brown for 10 minutes, stirring often. Blend in chicken broth, bay leaf, pepper and thyme. Simmer, coevred, about 15 minutes, or until liquid is absorbed and rice is done. In separate pan, combine fricassee and curry; heat. Add coconut to cooked rice, mixing lightly with a fork. Serve hot fricassee over rice. Makes 6 party servings.

Recipe Tip For Veal-Rice Casserole

Explore the recipe field for new casserole combinations that have a bit of imagination.

Veal and Rice Casserole is a combination that's just a little different and distinctive. Seasoned with soy sauce, diced celery, chopped onion and cream of mushroom soup, this dish has a characteristic flavor all its own.

Since veal comes from a young animal, it lacks sufficient fat for broiling. Veal steaks or chops are best when braised. Veal cubes should be braised or cooked in liquid as for stew.

Rice-Veal Casserole

- 1 pound boneless veal, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ cup chopped onion (1 medium onion)
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 can (10½ ounces) cream of mushroom soup
- 2½ cups water
- 2 bouillon cubes
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 cup rice

Brown veal in lard or drippings. Add onion and celery and cook about 3 minutes. Stir in soup, water, bouillon cubes, soy sauce and rice and heat until mixture simmers. Then pour mixture into a greased 1½-quart casserole. Cover and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 1 hour or until meat is tender and rice is done. Yield: 6 servings.

Southern Kraut Stew

(Makes 4 servings)

- 1 1-pound 3-ounce can sauerkraut
- 4 frankfurters, sliced
- 1 10½-ounce can condensed chicken soup with rice
- Salt and pepper to taste

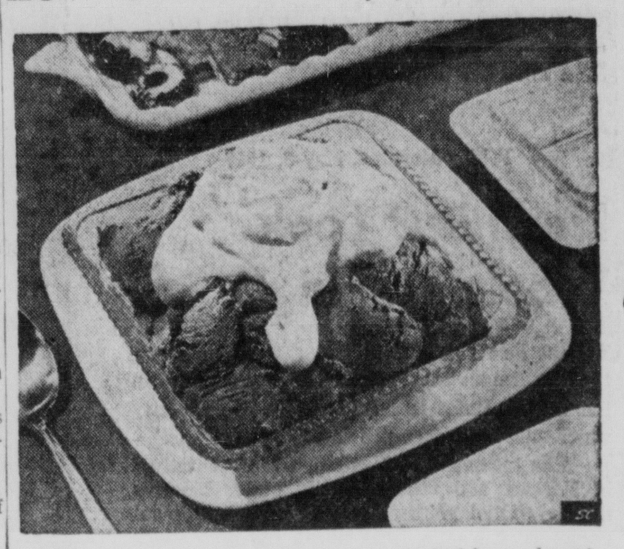
New Mix Makes Lucious, Low-Calorie Topping



Good news for the calorie-conscious is a wonderful new dessert topping called Dream Whip. Though low in calories—only 15 per tablespoon—the topping has a rich taste and appearance. It's easy to prepare—all you do is add ½ cup of cold milk and whip briefly either by hand or an electric beater. The package —so convenient to keep on your food shelf—makes two full cups of topping. This prepared topping can also be used in Bavarian pies, fruit salad dressings and refrigerator desserts. And, because it will keep in the refrigerator for three or four days, you don't have to worry about using it all at once. To make the coffee-flavored topping used in this delicious family-style parfait, add 2 teaspoons of instant coffee and 1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar to the mix and prepare according to package directions. Serve with chocolate ice cream for an easy-to-make, festive dessert.

Tender, juicy hamburgers, cooked with a spicy sauerbraten sauce, take on a foreign flavor. Serve the patties with a generous topping of the sauce. Accompany the patties with buttered peas, "boiled" new potatoes, and sliced round rye bread.

Sauerbraten Meat Patties

Foreign recipes—Italian spaghetti, Swedish meat balls, and Mexican chili con carne—use lots of ground beef. The all-American ground beef favorite—hamburgers—can be dressed up with an old-country accent, too.

Ground beef patties cooked in a spicy sauerbraten sauce are Viennese in flavor accent and excellent eating. Try the combination the next time you have a couple of pounds of ground beef.

When buying the ground beef, select freshly ground meat, bright red in color. Chuck roast, ground once, makes tender, juicy hamburgers.

To make sauerbraten patties, simply brown seasoned hamburgers in a little fat and cook them in the spicy sauce. Crumbled gingersnaps, vinegar, and brown sugar give the sauce its dash of foreign flavor. Here is the recipe:

Sauerbraten Meat Patties

1-½ pounds ground beef; ½ medium onion, minced; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; ⅛ teaspoon thyme; 1 tablespoon fat; ⅓ cup vinegar; ⅔ cup water; 3 tablespoons brown sugar; 2 tablespoons catsup; 8 gingersnaps, crumbled; 12 whole cloves; 8 peppercorns; 1 bay leaf.

Mix ground beef, onion, egg, salt, pepper and thyme; shape into 6 patties. Brown patties in hot fat. Combine remaining ingredients, add to patties, cover, and simmer ½ hour turning meat once during cooking. Spoon sauce over each serving. 4 servings.

Experiments In Omelet Making

A quiet Sunday evening at home, with just the family for company, and you have the perfect setting for an adventuresome experiment in omelet making. With eggs in plentiful supply at low prices, you can assume without challenge, that your experiment won't be costly. And, if you're prepared to be generous with your basic ingredient, that the outcome is slated for success.

Keep these tips from the U. S. Department of Agriculture in mind: Mix quickly! Cook immediately! Don't cook too long! Serve at once on a heated dish!

Now for the real test of sauces, fillings and mixtures. To begin with, you might try an omelet with tomato sauce, either mildly flavored or the snappy Mexican-hot kind. Other good companion sauces are cheese, mushroom, onion, or salmon.

If it's a mixture you're aiming for, use your favorite vegetable, or diced meat or fish, or cheese — alone or in combination. For unusual blends of eggs and cheese try these: Add a blend of grated Swiss cheese and grated Parmesan, slice cheddar cheese into thin strips, or dice potatoes, onions and cheddar cheese, and add to the omelet mixture.

Another omelet, with a Swiss accent ,contains diced Swiss cheese and crisply cooked diced bacon. For a Puffy Cheese omelet, fold grated cheddar cheese into stiff egg whites and add to beaten yolks.

Meats are good omelet partners, especially bacon, chicken, dried beef, ham, hearts, kidneys, liver, sausage, or veal. Fish rate high, too, particularly anchovy, bluefish, cod, herring, lobster, salmon, sardines, shrimp, or oysters.

If it's to be a vegetable omelet, use asparagus, carrots, cauliflower, celery, chives, corn, egg plant, lima beans, mushrooms, onions, parsley, peas, green pepper, potatoes, spinach, string beans, or tomatoes.

For best results in mixing cheese, meat, fish, or vegetables with omelets, three different methods of adding the ingredients are recommended. Melt butter in a frying pan, add ingredients. Stir until ingredients are thoroughly heated, then add the omelet mixture. OR, add the chosen ingredients to the omelet mixture before cooking. Be sure to stir in quickly and don't over stir. OR, spread heated ingredients on the cooked omelet before folding in half.

Beef For Breakfast?

Beef is becoming a popular breakfast food because of its tempting flavor and staying power. There are no mid-morning hunger pangs after a tasty small steak or a generous helping of dried beef or beef bouillon.

You can count on 4 servings to the pound of canned ham when served cold, or 3 servings to the pound when served hot. Canned hams three pounds and over have been processed long enough to be thoroughly cooked but they must be kept under refrigeration.

Look To The Pantry For A Special Party Dish

A girl's best friend is her pantry shelf. Stock it well, and you'll be rewarded with good meals that are kind to the budget and easy to prepare. Case in point: our party-minded main dish, Curried Fricassee of Chicken on Coconut Rice.

Elegant is the word for this company fare, yet see how inexpensive its ingredients, how simple the preparation. Cans of boned chicken fricassee and chicken broth, rice, coconut and condiments . . . all from the pantry . . . are the basis of this dish. Check your supplies. With these items on hand, and with the following wonderfully easy recipe, you'll always be ready for a party.

Curried Fricassee Of Chicken

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 can (14½ ounces) chicken broth
- ¼ bay leaf, crumbled
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- ⅜ teaspoon thyme
- 2 cans (16 ounces each) boned chicken fricassee
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 cup flaked coconut

Saute onion in butter in skillet; add rice and cook slowly until brown for 10 minutes, stirring often. Blend in chicken broth, bay leaf, pepper and thyme. Simmer, coevred, about 15 minutes, or until liquid is absorbed and rice is done. In separate pan, combine fricassee and curry; heat. Add coconut to cooked rice, mixing lightly with a fork. Serve hot fricassee over rice. Makes 6 party servings.

Recipe Tip For Veal-Rice Casserole

Explore the recipe field for new casserole combinations that have a bit of imagination.

Veal and Rice Casserole is a combination that's just a little different and distinctive. Seasoned with soy sauce, diced celery, chopped onion and cream of mushroom soup, this dish has a characteristic flavor all its own.

Since veal comes from a young animal, it lacks sufficient fat for broiling. Veal steaks or chops are best when braised. Veal cubes should be braised or cooked in liquid as for stew.

Rice-Veal Casserole

- 1 pound boneless veal, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ½ cup chopped onion (1 medium onion)
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 can (10½ ounces) cream of mushroom soup
- 2½ cups water
- 2 bouillon cubes
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 cup rice

Brown veal in lard or drippings. Add onion and celery and cook about 3 minutes. Stir in soup, water, bouillon cubes, soy sauce and rice and heat until mixture simmers. Then pour mixture into a greased 1½-quart casserole. Cover and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 1 hour or until meat is tender and rice is done. Yield: 6 servings.

Southern Kraut Stew

(Makes 4 servings)

- 1 1-pound 3-ounce can sauerkraut
- 4 frankfurters, sliced
- 1 10½-ounce can condensed chicken soup with rice
- Salt and pepper to taste

New Mix Makes Lucious, Low-Calorie Topping

Good news for the calorie-conscious is a wonderful new dessert topping called Dream Whip. Though low in calories—only 15 per tablespoon—the topping has a rich taste and appearance. It's easy to prepare—all you do is add ½ cup of cold milk and whip briefly either by hand or an electric beater. The package —so convenient to keep on your food shelf—makes two full cups of topping. This prepared topping can also be used in Bavarian pies, fruit salad dressings and refrigerator desserts. And, because it will keep in the refrigerator for three or four days, you don't have to worry about using it all at once. To make the coffee-flavored topping used in this delicious family-style parfait, add 2 teaspoons of instant coffee and 1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar to the mix and prepare according to package directions. Serve with chocolate ice cream for an easy-to-make, festive dessert.

ANOTHER FINE PRODUCT OF STANDARD BRANDS INC.

Served steaming hot, this diced pork casserole with fluffy biscuit topping is sure to please the family. Accompany it with a salad of orange sections and onion rings on greens.

Pork Casserole

Pork Casserole with Biscuit Topping

1½ pounds pork shoulder meat, cut in 1-inch cubes
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons drippings
½ cup water
1 small onion, chopped fine
1 cup chopped celery
½ teaspoon thyme
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 package frozen mixed vegetables
1 can undiluted mushroom soup

Biscuit Topping:

2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon marjoram
¼ cup lard
1 cup milk

Roll meat in flour and brown in hot fat. Add water, onion, celery, thyme, salt and pepper. Cover pan and cook 1 hour over low heat. Break frozen vegetables and add with the soup. Pour in a 2-quart casserole and top with biscuits.

To make biscuits: sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. Add marjoram. Cut in lard until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in milk and drop dough in mounds on top of meat mixture. Bake in a 425°F. oven 20 minutes to brown biscuits. 6 servings.

Franks Join Sauerkraut In Solo Dish

The fact that there are 20 to 30 different kinds of sausage on the market assures a wide variety from which to choose.

Frankfurters are among this group and probably rate close to being number one in a popularity poll.

The convenience and adaptability of other sausages such as pork sausage, bologna, cervelat and liverwurst to name just a few are also helping homemakers plan more varied menus.

In this Frankfurter and Sauerkraut dish, a combination of mashed potatoes and minced onion is used to line the bottom and sides of an 8-inch square baking dish. The center is filled with sauerkraut and topped with frankfurters. Bake for 20 minutes.

Frankfurter and Sauerkraut Pie

8 frankfurters, cut in half crosswise
3 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
2 teaspoons minced onion
1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) sauerkraut
½ teaspoon dill seed

Grease an 8-inch square baking dish. Combine seasoned mashed potatoes and onion. Line bottom and sides of baking dish with potato mixture. Fill center with sauerkraut and sprinkle with dill seed. Arrange frankfurters in pinwheel fashion on top of sauerkraut. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 20 minutes. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Meat Is An Asset To Daily Meal Pattern

Food high in nutritive value can make the difference between the family that has abundant health and vigor.

Why does the kind of food make the difference? Because the body is in a constant state of building and repairing and foods are the main source of building and repairing materials.

Meat is an outstanding food that helps contribute the building and repairing materials our bodies need.

Meat is a concentrated source of protein which helps in the building and repairing of muscle tissue.

Meat is also rich in these minerals — phosphorus, essential for strong bones and teeth; iron, essential for building red blood; copper, essential also for the formation of rich, red blood.

Meat, too, is an important source of vitamins, essential for growth and health . . . vitamin A needed for health of the skin and eyes . . . vitamin B needed for the normal functioning of the nerves, muscles, eyes and skin.

Two other distinctive qualities likewise add to the value of meat as a food. These are palatability and satiety value.

Buffet Salad, Tropicale

1 package lemon gelatin
1 package lime gelatin
2 cups hot water
1 can (No. 2) "Crisp Cut" Crushed Pineapple, NOT drained
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup walnuts, chopped
3 tablespoons horseradish
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

Dissolve gelatins in hot water. Chill until thickened and almost set (quick way: set bowl containing liquid in slightly larger bowl or pan of ice water). Fold in remaining ingredients and pour into a 1½ quart mold. Chill until firm. Garnish with pimiento and additional crushed pineapple if desired. Makes 12 servings.

How-to-Do It Shortcuts For Minute Meals

It's a fact . . . people today are living at a more rapid pace than ever before in history. Therefore, shortcuts in the kitchen are important to the modern homemaker. Why? Because today's homemaker has far less time to spend in the kitchen than did her grandmother!

Now, it takes so little time to rustle up a wholesome meat dish, one with savory appeal.

Facilitate cooking bacon for a group by placing bacon on a rack in an open roasting pan and baking it in the oven.

Grind liver more easily by first lightly browning the slices in a small amount of lard or drippings.

Bake meat loaf mixture in a 9-inch square pan for shorter baking time and cut into squares for ease in serving.

Separate ground beef during cooking with a potato masher when making chili or browning meat for casseroles.

Roll ground beef mixture on a flat surface and cut into rounds with a large cooky cutter for even hamburgers.

Dice bacon, trim pie crusts, and cut parsley and other greens with kitchen shears.

Open both ends of canned meat items for easy removal. Loosen around edge of meat and push the meat through.

It's well to remember when preparing any recipe in the kitchen that all necessary ingredients and utensils should be assembled before preparation actually begins.

Oven-Fresh Cinnamon-Raisin Cake

Oven-fresh and very truly yours is this Cinnamon-Raisin Cake. Every homemaker has her own gentle art of cake-making passed down from mother to daughter, as well as favorite recipes. But none are as glamorous as the typically American concoction of rich, tender layers, crowned with a luscious creamy icing.

To produce cakes which boast of tender, light layers, try lard, a shortening which can be used with splendid results in all baked products.

Cinnamon-Raisin Cake

½ cup lard
1¾ cups sifted cake flour
⅞ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup milk
2 eggs
½ cup raisins

Line two 8-inch cake pans with waxed paper. Cream together lard and ½ cup flour. Reserve ¼ cup flour for raisins. Add remaining flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, vanilla and ⅓ cup milk. Beat until smooth and fluffy. Add remaining milk. Beat again until thoroughly combined. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine remaining flour and raisins and stir into batter. Pour into cake pans and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool and frost with Butter Cream Frosting.

Butter Cream Frosting

¼ cup butter or margarine
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Dash salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons milk

Cream butter or margarine and add confectioners' sugar and salt. Mix well. Add vanilla and milk and beat until fluffy.

Beef For Real Breakfast

Add variety to the breakfast menu pattern. Serve "minute" beef steaks with scrambled eggs. Brown the steaks on both sides in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper and cook slowly until done, turning occasionally, about 4 to 6 minutes.

An appetizing and nourishing casserole that's also easy on the budget is made with spicy fresh apples, kidney beans and bacon bits. Preheat oven to moderate (350°F.). Peel, core and cut 3 Washington Winesap apples into thin slices to make 1-½ cups. Drain 2 No. 2 cans red kidney beans and measure 4 cups. Reserve 2 tbsps. liquid. In a lightly greased 1-½ qt. casserole, arrange alternate layers of beans and sliced apples. Top with 4 slices bacon cut in 2-inch pieces. Sprinkle with 1-½ tsps. salt and ⅓ cup brown sugar. Add bean liquid. Cover and bake in moderate (350°F.) oven 30 mins. Uncover and bake 30 mins. longer. Serves 6.

How-to-Do It Shortcuts For Minute Meals

It's a fact . . . people today are living at a more rapid pace than ever before in history. Therefore, shortcuts in the kitchen are important to the modern homemaker. Why? Because today's homemaker has far less time to spend in the kitchen than did her grandmother!

Now, it takes so little time to rustle up a wholesome meat dish, one with savory appeal.

Facilitate cooking bacon for a group by placing bacon on a rack in an open roasting pan and baking it in the oven.

Grind liver more easily by first lightly browning the slices in a small amount of lard or drippings.

Bake meat loaf mixture in a 9-inch square pan for shorter baking time and cut into squares for ease in serving.

Separate ground beef during cooking with a potato masher when making chili or browning meat for casseroles.

Roll ground beef mixture on a flat surface and cut into rounds with a large cooky cutter for even hamburgers.

Dice bacon, trim pie crusts, and cut parsley and other greens with kitchen shears.

Open both ends of canned meat items for easy removal. Loosen around edge of meat and push the meat through.

It's well to remember when preparing any recipe in the kitchen that all necessary ingredients and utensils should be assembled before preparation actually begins.

Oven-Fresh Cinnamon-Raisin Cake

Oven-fresh and very truly yours is this Cinnamon-Raisin Cake. Every homemaker has her own gentle art of cake-making passed down from mother to daughter, as well as favorite recipes. But none are as glamorous as the typically American concoction of rich, tender layers, crowned with a luscious creamy icing.

To produce cakes which boast of tender, light layers, try lard, a shortening which can be used with splendid results in all baked products.

Cinnamon-Raisin Cake

- ½ cup lard
- 1¾ cups sifted cake flour
- ⅞ cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup milk
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup raisins

Line two 8-inch cake pans with waxed paper. Cream together lard and ½ cup flour. Reserve ¼ cup flour for raisins. Add remaining flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, vanilla and ⅓ cup milk. Beat until smooth and fluffy. Add remaining milk. Beat again until thoroughly combined. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine remaining flour and raisins and stir into batter. Pour into cake pans and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool and frost with Butter Cream Frosting.

Butter Cream Frosting

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- Dash salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 tablespoons milk

Cream butter or margarine and add confectioners' sugar and salt. Mix well. Add vanilla and milk and beat until fluffy.

Beef For Real Breakfast

Add variety to the breakfast menu pattern. Serve "minute" beef steaks with scrambled eggs. Brown the steaks on both sides in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper and cook slowly until done, turning occasionally, about 4 to 6 minutes.

An appetizing and nourishing casserole that's also easy on the budget is made with spicy fresh apples, kidney beans and bacon bits. Preheat oven to moderate (350°F.). Peel, core and cut 3 Washington Winesap apples into thin slices to make 1-½ cups. Drain 2 No. 2 cans red kidney beans and measure 4 cups. Reserve 2 tbsps. liquid. In a lightly greased 1-½ qt. casserole, arrange alternate layers of beans and sliced apples. Top with 4 slices bacon cut in 2-inch pieces. Sprinkle with 1-½ tsps. salt and ⅓ cup brown sugar. Add bean liquid. Cover and bake in moderate (350°F.) oven 30 mins. Uncover and bake 30 mins. longer. Serves 6.

Newfangled Aid

WASHINGTON — The defenders of perpetual and global foreign aid have come up with a different wrinkle. Though mutual aid was originally advocated as a temporary expedient, today—ten years later—this facet of our foreign affairs continues to flourish to the chagrin of most taxpayers. In place of a limited concept, a long-range approach, precluding annual approval by the Congress, is now being suggested. To this, a new element is to be added — that of economic aid to countries behind the Iron Curtain.

At this writing, a delegation from communist Poland is in Washington seeking a loan of up to $150 million, and there are indications that $75 million has been assured that communist dominated nation. That an everlasting desire for freedom is shared by the Poles, there can be no question. The Poznan insurrection of last year is an eloquent yet tragic, testimonial to this thirst for liberty. In a true humanitarian spirit, the American people will continue to extend the hand of friendship and cooperation to these unwilling prisoners of the communist tyranny.

But, aiding and abetting the promoters of the communist conspiracy, through economic assistance, is hardly a proper medium for the restoration of freedom to these peoples. Support and reinforcement of the political and economic objectives of the Kremlin will be the ultimate effect of loans or grants to the communist regime in Poland, or for that matter to any of the Soviet satellites. Thereby, the inclination for freedom on the part of the oppressed is not strengthened—the power of their oppressors is fortified.

To illustrate this point, the Polish delegation is seeking funds or coal mining equipment. However, it was recently revealed that, in 1947, Poland received from Russia "a dollar a ton of coal that sold freely in Western Europe for sixteen dollars." Elsewhere, a political leader in Iceland, firmly stated that: "U. S. loans are paying the ticket to keep communists in power." It is also generally believed that loans to Britain, immediately following World War II, strengthened the intentions and ability of the party in power to socialize that country.

Senator Knowland of California put this matter in proper perspective in these words: "the basic issue involved, though it may not be so clear today, is whether we are now to embark upon a program of supporting the political and economic systems of international communism in the countries which are behind the Iron Curtain . . ." With the essential need for economy, U. S. funds should not be used for these highly dubious purposes, and I shall vote accordingly.

Shrimp in Bread Cups

1 pound fresh shrimp; 5 tablespoons butter; 5 tablespoons flour; 1½ cups milk; 1 teaspoon tablespoons ketchup; 1 teaspoon minced onion; 1 teaspoon prepared mustard; 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce; ⅛ teaspoon celery salt; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; dash paprika; 6 slices bread; 2 tablespoons softened butter.

1. Cook shrimp; remove shells, vein.

2. Melt butter in sauce pan over low heat; add flour; stir until blended.

3. Add milk gradually; cook until thickened; stirring constantly.

4. Add salt, pepper, ketchup, onion, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, celery salt, lemon juice, paprika; stir until well blended.

5. Add shrimp; stir gently until shrimp are heated through.

6. Trim crusts from bread slices; spread with butter.

7. Tear off 6-inch lengths of Alcoa Wrap; fold double shape 6 cups like muffin cups.

8. Place one slice of buttered bread in each cup; push down into shape of cup.

9. Place under broiler until bread is toasted a golden brown.

10. To serve: Fill each cup with shrimp mixture; garnish with parsley.

11. Yield; 6 servings.

Opening lead: Deuce of clubs.

Today's offering apparently glorifies extravagance in the handling of assets. Declarer appeared to be engaging in an orgy of spending but he managed to wind up in the black.

South became declarer at a contract of three no trump on a bidding sequence that one does not frequently encounter. North's opening bid was rather of the synthetic type. East doubled, and South had a natural redouble despite the lack of support for partner's suit.

North's seemingly unnecessary rebid is a violation of the convention which requires that the redoubler be given the courtesy of the next "shot." The common sense interpretation of his bid would seem to be this: "Partner, I opened a rather weak hand with a long diamond suit and am not interested in a penalty double at a low level. You may act accordingly."

South chose eventually to contract for game at no trump, for which he had the necessary high card values.

West led the deuce of clubs, dummy played low and East ducked. There was little doubt that declarer had the ace and he wished to deprive dummy of an additional entry.

Declarer had then and there to decide whether to develop the diamond suit or the hearts. He chose the diamonds, which could be established by relinquishing the lead only once.

Not losing sight of the necessity for retaining an entry in dummy, he won the first trick with the ace of clubs. This was followed by overtaking the king of diamonds with the ace and continuing with the jack.

West won with the queen and shifted to the nine of hearts, the dummy playing low and East winning with the queen. The queen of spades was returned. South took this and drove out the king of clubs. He could not be prevented now from taking five diamonds, two spades, and two clubs.

The actual bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 spade	Pass	2 spades
Pass	3 spades	Pass	4 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of clubs.

Do you remember the lady on the radio some years ago who refused to take finesses because they made her so nervous. She would have fared well on today's hand.

South became declarer at a contract of four spades on a delicate bidding sequence. His three spade bid is well chosen. The South hand is worth originally 17 points, to which is added another point for the fifth spade after that suit is raised. With 18 points, South is not in position to tell if the partnership has 26 points, for North need not have eight. The rebid of three spades is designed to test out the situation.

In point of fact, North's hand was a shade too good for a mere single raise, and most players would have preferred to make a temporizing call in a new suit, intending to raise spades on the next round.

The ten of clubs was opened, won with the king in dummy and trumps drawn in two rounds. The heart finesse was tried next, and when this failed declarer was afced with the problem of losing only two diamond tricks. In the hope that East held the ten of diamonds, a low diamond was led from the dummy and the nine inserted. When this lost the contract went on the rocks.

"That was hard luck, partner. I lost two finesses. Had they both worked I would have made an overtrick."

Declarer's technique had not been sound. The desire for a possible overtrick should have been subordinated to the more important consideration of obtaining complete safety for the contract.

With a holding such as the diamond suit contained, an effort should be made to compel the opponents to lead that suit, in which case one trick must be won regardless of the distribution.

After trumps are out, the clubs should be cashed and the small heart discarded from dummy. Now the ace of hearts is cashed and the queen led. It matters not who wins the trick, for that opponent will be compelled either to lead a diamond or to give declarer a ruff and a sluff.

Deviled Mushrooms

1 pint fresh mushrooms; salt, pepper; 2 teaspoons lemon juice; 1 hard-cooked egg yolk; 1 raw egg yolk, beaten; ½ cup bread crumbs; 1 tablespoon butter, softened; dash of tobasco sauce.

1. Wash mushrooms; drain; dry; remove stems.

2. Shape a 1 ½-quart casserole from double-thick square of Alcoa Wrap.

3. Place mushroom caps, stems in the foil casserole.

4. Season with salt, pepper, lemon juice.

5. Mash the hard-cooked egg yolk; add raw egg yolk, bread crumbs, softened butter, tobasco sauce; blend well.

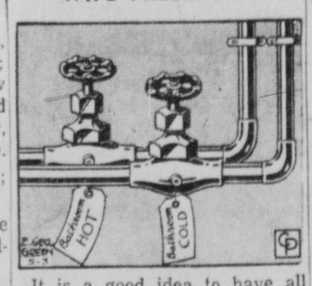
6. Sprinkle egg-bread crumb mixture on top of mushrooms.

7. Place foil casserole on baking sheet; bake 25-30 minutes at 350°F.

8. Yield: 4 servings.

For a refreshing salad that's light but satisfying start with 2 to 3 unpeeled Washington red Delicious eating apples, cut into bite-sized pieces. Add 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese, ½ cup chopped dates, ½ cut chopped celery and 1 cup shredded cabbage. Combine 1 tbsp. horseradish with ⅔ cup mayonanise and toss gently into the salad. Serve on crisp greens. Serves 4.

WIFE PRESERVER



It is a good idea to have all the shutoff valves in the house plumbing system properly tagged, so that all members of the family will know which ones to turn when necessary.

It is considered good taste to combine several eras of early American furniture in one room. A Windsor chair, a Hitchcock chair and a Boston rocker, may be used together although they are from different eras. Windsor chairs, shown above, are popular today.

Savory Biscuits

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 tablespoons shortening
6 tablespoons milk

1. Sift flour, baking powder, salt together in mixing bowl.
2. Add onion, parsley, shortening; blend with pastry blender.
3. Add milk, to make a soft dough, stirring with fork.
4. Turn out onto lightly floured board; pat to ⅜-inch thickness; cut with 1-inch biscuit cutter.

Declarer had then and there to decide whether to develop the diamond suit or the hearts. He chose the diamonds, which could be established by relinquishing the lead only once.

Not losing sight of the necessity for retaining an entry in dummy, he won the first trick with the ace of clubs. This was followed by overtaking the king of diamonds with the ace and continuing with the jack.

West won with the queen and shifted to the nine of hearts, the dummy playing low and East winning with the queen. The queen of spades was returned. South took this and drove out the king of clubs. He could not be prevented now from taking five diamonds, two spades, and two clubs.

(Copyright 1957: The Chicago Tribune)

The actual bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 spade	Pass	2 spades
Pass	3 spades	Pass	4 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of clubs.

Do you remember the lady on the radio some years ago who refused to take finesses because they made her so nervous. She would have fared well on today's hand.

South became declarer at a contract of four spades on a delicate bidding sequence. His three spade bid is well chosen. The South hand is worth originally 17 points, to which is added another point for the fifth spade after that suit is raised. With 18 points, South is not in position to tell if the partnership has 26 points, for North need not have eight. The rebid of three spades is designed to test out the situation.

In point of fact, North's hand was a shade too good for a mere single raise, and most players would have preferred to make a temporizing call in a new suit, intending to raise spades on the next round.

The ten of clubs was opened, won with the king in dummy and trumps drawn in two rounds. The heart finesse was tried next, and when this failed declarer was afced with the problem of losing only two diamond tricks. In the hope that East held the ten of diamonds, a low diamond was led from the dummy and the nine inserted. When this lost the contract went on the rocks.

"That was hard luck, partner. I lost two finesses. Had they both worked I would have made an overtrick."

Declarer's technique had not been sound. The desire for a possible overtrick should have been subordinated to the more important consideration of obtaining complete safety for the contract.

With a holding such as the diamond suit contained, an effort should be made to compel the opponents to lead that suit, in which case one trick must be won regardless of the distribution.

After trumps are out, the clubs should be cashed and the small heart discarded from dummy. Now the ace of hearts is cashed and the queen led. It matters not who wins the trick, for that opponent will be compelled either to lead a diamond or to give declarer a ruff and a sluff.

Deviled Mushrooms

1 pint fresh mushrooms; salt, pepper; 2 teaspoons lemon juice; 1 hard-cooked egg yolk; 1 raw egg yolk, beaten; ½ cup bread crumbs; 1 tablespoon butter, softened; dash of tobasco sauce.

1. Wash mushrooms; drain; dry; remove stems.

2. Shape a 1 ½-quart casserole from double-thick square of Alcoa Wrap.

3. Place mushroom caps, stems in the foil casserole.

4. Season with salt, pepper, lemon juice.

5. Mash the hard-cooked egg yolk; add raw egg yolk, bread crumbs, softened butter, tobasco sauce; blend well.

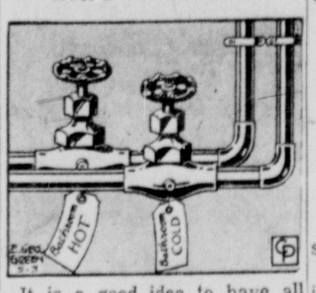
6. Sprinkle egg-bread crumb mixture on top of mushrooms.

7. Place foil casserole on baking sheet; bake 25-30 minutes at 350°F.

8. Yield: 4 servings.

For a refreshing salad that's light but satisfying start with 2 to 3 unpeeled Washington red Delicious eating apples, cut into bite-sized pieces. Add 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese, ½ cup chopped dates, ½ cut chopped celery and 1 cup shredded cabbage. Combine 1 tbsp. horseradish with ⅓ cup mayonanise and toss gently into the salad. Serve on crisp greens. Serves 4.

WIFE PRESERVER



It is a good idea to have all the shutoff valves in the house plumbing system properly tagged, so that all members of the family will know which ones to turn when necessary.

It is considered good taste to combine several eras of early American furniture in one room. A Windsor chair, a Hitchcock chair and a Boston rocker, may be used together although they are from different eras. Windsor chairs, shown above, are popular today.

Savory Biscuits

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 tablespoons shortening
6 tablespoons milk

1. Sift flour, baking powder, salt together in mixing bowl.
2. Add onion, parsley, shortening; blend with pastry blender.
3. Add milk, to make a soft dough, stirring with fork.
4. Turn out onto lightly floured board; pat to ⅜-inch thickness; cut with 1-inch biscuit cutter.

Double Duty Roast

Plan to buy a larger roast than needed for your family for one meal. Use the extra cooked roast and gravy for a meat pie. Top with a rich biscuit crust to which chopped green parsley has been added.

Make Your Own Salt Sticks!

Cut day-old bread into finger-length pieces (about one inch thick, four inches long). Brush on melted butter, sprinkle with lots of Sterling Salt, brown in a hot oven. Served hot, they're extra-good at any meal.

You add extra zest and sparkle to any dish with Sterling Salt's pure, snow-white "sparks of flavor." Plain or Iodized. Damp proof.

Oysters a la Michel

1 quart small oysters; 4 tablespoons butter; ½ cup minced onion; 4 tablespoons flour; milk; 1½ cups mushrooms, slice thin; 3 tablespoons chopped parsley; salt, pepper to taste; savory biscuit dough; paprika.

1. Drain oysters, saving liquor, set aside.
2. Melt butter in sauce pan over low heat; add onion; cook until clear, lightly browned.
3. Add flour, blend well; remove from heat.
4. Combine oyster liquor, enough milk to make 1½ cups.
5. Add to butter-flour mixture; blend well; return to heat; cook, stirring constantly until smooth.
6. Add oysters, mushrooms, parsley, salt, pepper to taste. Cook 10 minutes over low heat.
7. Shape a 2-quart casserole from double-thick square of Alcoa Wrap; place on baking sheet.
8. Pour oyster mixture into casserole.
9. Prepare Savory Biscuit dough; arrange biscuits on top of cassrole; sprinkle with paprika.
10. Bake 15-18 minutes at 450° F.
11. Serve in foil cassrole.
12. Yield: 6-8 servings.

For after-dinner guests, or to serve while you're watching television, here's an appetizing variation of fresh apples and cheese with true gourmet flavor. Core four large red Washington Delicious apples but do not peel. Cut into thick slices. For individual service, arrange slices in a fan shape on dessert plates. Whip two 3-oz. pkgs. cream cheese and blend in approximately 4 tbsps. finely diced candied ginger to taste. If desired, a dash of salt may be added. Heap cheese-ginger mixture in mound beside apple slices and serve with crisp crackers. Serves 4-6.

Lamb Leftovers

Leftover lamb can be served just as attractively as the first day main meat dish. It can be served as barbecued lamb hash, lamb a la king, sandwiches, salads, or in the famous East Indian Curry.

Fast way to make a dozen cheese biscuits: Prepare packaged or frozen biscuits as for baking. Cream ¼ cup butter; add 2 cups grated natural process cheddar cheese and cream until fluffy. Top each biscuit with a spoonful of mixture. Bake at 450 degrees for 10-12 minutes.

Ever tried Scone Rolls for breakfast? Sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ cup sugar. Cut or rub in ⅓ cup shortening until mixture is crumbly. Combine 1 beaten egg and ½ to ⅔ cup milk and add to flour mixture to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll out to rectangle ¼ inch thick and spread with currant or mint jelly. Roll up like jelly roll, sealing edge. Then slice into 1-inch pieces and place cut side down into lightly greased muffin cups. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees fahrenheit) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 1½ dozen rolls.

Eggs may be stored in the home freezer to provide a convenient supply. Be sure to remove them from the shells first, though, and it's suggested that either sweetening or salt (depending on the expected end-use) be added to keep them smooth. Use plastic or metal freezer boxes. The time to freeze eggs is when they are plentiful and high in quality, during the winter months. A sheet of instructions on home freezing of eggs, and guides to their use, may be obtained by writing to Human Nutrition Research Branch, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, Washington 25, D. C.

SO MUCH FINE FLAVOR YOU ACTUALLY USE LESS!

The one mayonnaise with deluxe flavor—...Mrs. Filbert's!

News from the Filbert family! A wonderful new mayonnaise with deluxe flavor—so much fine flavor that you actually use much less. A dab of this deluxe flavor mayonnaise does as much for your salads as a big spoonful of the ordinary kind!

The secret? This is genuine mayonnaise, made to taste homemade. Creamy-rich with eggs and extra eggs (actually better eggs than you could buy to make your own mayonnaise)! Tangy with real lemon juice, a woman's own spice blend. What a flavor! Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise is guaranteed to taste as good as homemade—or your money back from the Filbert family!

Taste that "homemade" flavor

SO MUCH FINE FLAVOR YOU ACTUALLY USE LESS!

The one mayonnaise with deluxe flavor—...Mrs. Filbert's!

News from the Filbert family! A wonderful new mayonnaise with deluxe flavor—so much fine flavor that you actually use much less. A dab of this deluxe flavor mayonnaise does as much for your salads as a big spoonful of the ordinary kind!

The secret? This is genuine mayonnaise, made to taste homemade. Creamy-rich with eggs and extra eggs (actually better eggs than you could buy to make your own mayonnaise)! Tangy with real lemon juice, a woman's own spice blend. What a flavor! Mrs. Filbert's Mayonnaise is guaranteed to taste as good as homemade—or your money back from the Filbert family!

Taste that "homemade" flavor

- Eggs and more eggs
- Real lemon juice
- A woman's spice blend

Potomac Council Scouts Get Charity Fund Help

FROSTBURG—The committee of the Amcelle Employees' Charity Fund of the Celanese Corporation of America recently allocated $450 to Potomac Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Henry Price, council treasurer, said that certain budget percentages had been set up and that Cumberland Council would not receive any of this contribution. The Cumberland Scouts' Council has already received its contribution from the Celanese and Celanese Employees' Fund from the Community Chest contribution.

Willis V. Smith, Potomac Council Scout executive, reported that the following towns would receive these indicated percentages:

Frostburg, 34 per cent; Lonaconing, Barton, Westernport, Piedmont and Luke, 28 per cent; Mineral County, 28 per cent; South Branch, five per cent and Garrett County, five per cent.

The Celanese Amcelle Employees' Charity Fund is a voluntary organization into which more than 50 per cent of its employes contribute on a one-fund annual basis. Ten employes, five staff and five factory, administer the funds on a fair and equitable basis. The number of employees who contribute from the different area towns determine the percentage of contributions the various charitable organizations receive from the fund.

Town Council Okays Building Ordinance

WESTERNPORT—Mayor Okey E. Michael and Council Wednesday unanimously passed Building Ordinance 13 after its second and final reading.

The ordinance provides that a permit must be secured to erect, demolish or move a building; also for remodeling and adding to a structure, increasing the value of the property. Violations call for a fine of $5 to $25 for each offense.

A charge of $1 will be made for each $1,000 anticipated and 50 cents for each adidtional $1,000.

George Failing and Donald Bantz of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, along with Horace P. Whitworth Jr., conferred with council relative to attaching a six-inch water pipe to the Westernport storage tank. They will meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. with Alvin Pence, water commissioner, and Harry Richards, filtration plant inspector, to discuss the matter further.

Leo Herbert, police commissioner, announced the resignation of Patrolman Richard Householder who had been a member of the force since November, 1955. Householder has accepted employment at the Luke mill.

Albert Barnard, Chestnut Grove, was appointed temporary police officer.

Appalachian Orchardists Form Weather Modification Corp.

Plan To Seed Clouds To Prevent Hail Storms

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—Sixty fruit growers in this Appalachian orchard belt have banded together to do something about the weather.

The orchardists have organized The Cumberland - Shenandoah Weather Modification Corp. to try to influence weather in their favor and eliminate damaging hail storms.

The organization plans to cover an 80-mile-wide area from Chambersburg, Pa. on the north to Woodstock, Va. on the south, and from Romney, W. Va. on the west to Frederick, Md. on the east. This embraces roughly 15 apple-producing counties.

If plans materialize, the group will operate a radar set with a range of 90 miles to spot and trace thunderstorms, 2 airplanes, and about 200 ground generators to "seed" threatening clouds with silver iodide. Trained meteorologists and pilots would be part of the operating personnel.

The equipment would operate from June 1 until Sept. 15 and would cost about $70,000.

Financing would be on a cooperative basis, with each grower paying by the acre, with a maximum of $2.50 an acre charge. This would require about 30,000 acres to finance the project.

Charles A. O'Hanlon, the president, said more than 15,000 acres already were signed up and appeared confident the minimum would be subscribed.

He said that if sufficient acreage is not signed by next Monday, the project would be postponed.

O'Hanlon explained that there could be no guarantee that the equipment would prevent hail damage, but he said experience had shown that "seeding" thunderheads could reduce the threat from hail storms by changing the downfall to slush or rain.

Sodality League Awards Made

FROSTBURG — The annual banquet of the Sodality Bowling League of St. Michael's Catholic Church was held at Clary Club, Tuesday night. The program featured a recitation by Miss Lillian Feldman and group singing and talks by Rev. Patrick J. Bradley, pastor, and Rev. Regis F. Larkin, assistant pastor. Father Bradley also offered the invocation and Father Larkin pronounced the benediction.

Presentation of awards was made to the winning team, the "Ukeleles," Mary Peretti, Elizabeth Ruge, Elizabeth Sullivan, Margaret Sullivan and Annie Schreiber.

Awards were also presented to Angela McAteer for high score; Agnes Barry, second high score; Louise Sittig, high average; and Mary Peretti, second high average.

Lillian Feldman, Estelle Weisenborne, Helen Weisenborne, Nellie Thompson, Genevieve Brady, Mary McAllister, Angela McAteer, Margaret Shertzer and Annie Schreiber received prizes for perfect attendance.

Election of new officers was held with Louise Sittig to serve as president of the organization, Angela McAteer, vice president, Emma Donahue, secretary and Roberta McQuire, treasurer.

Wm. Thompson Heads UO Unit In Tri-Towns

PIEDMONT — William Thompson has been appointed chairman of a committee to prepare a constitution and by-laws of the United Organizations. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Bejamin Mamolen and Mrs. Hazel Haywood.

The following persons who have been named by the chairman to be contacted for recommendations for aid to needy persons approved by the UO: James Fazenbaker, Beryl; Rev. Edwin Smith and Charles Price, Bloomington; Mrs. Mary Hood, Miss Ida Price and Thomas Martin, Piedmont; Mrs. Olive Pattison and Mrs. John Miller, Franklin and Mrs. Gerald Derham, Mill Run.

The group decided that Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School and Miss Bella Tonry, chairman of the Western-port and Luke Chapter of the Red Cross, be asked to contact relief agencies of West Virginia and Maryland, respectively, concerning underprivileged persons.

The setting up of an office for a part time worker in the storeroom on Second Street was discussed, but it was thought that action could be delayed until fall as the call for public assistance was not heavy during the summer months.

Alton Fortney was named to supervise the preparing and printing of application forms.

Wayne Ritchie called attention to specific mental cases. He also gave a report of the Cumberland meeting of the executive board of the United Fund being organized.

Trinity Youth Plan Program For Mothers

PIEDMONT — The Youth Division of Trinity Methodist Church School will honor the mothers of all members between the ages of 12 and 23 Sunday, May 12, at 3 p. m. in the recreation hall of the church.

Mrs. Zihlman Callis, counselor of the Senior Youth Fellowship and Mrs. Maurice Brundage, counselor of the Intermediate Fellowship, will pour tea. A musical program will be a feature of the afternoon.

The following committee has been appointed by Miss Faith Grindle, Christian Fellowship chairman of the Senior MYF: Miss Patty Kelley, Miss Nancy Diaz, Joel Lease, Miss Louise Nesmith, adult advisor and Miss Betty Jean Withrow.

The refreshment committee is comprised of Miss Marian Cave, Miss Norma Zais and Miss Judy Wiles. Mrs. Myrtle Youse and Mrs. Marvin Zais are adult advisors.

The decorating and invitation committee includes Miss Katherine Dawson, Miss Pauline Kooken and Miss Rita Callis. Mrs. Kenneth H. Clary, Mrs. George W. Daddysman and Miss Betty Jean Rankin are adult advisors.

Alabama is sometimes known as the Cotton state.

Marine Corps Trailer To Visit Piedmont

This public exhibition of Marine Corps weapons, in a 32-foot trailer will be on display at the American Legion post home in Piedmont Saturday and Sunday. The display has been arranged by Cumberland recruiters to show area residents the weapons, technical equipment and various devices used by the corps.

Waste Cutting Plan Backed By Chamber

Cites Program Of Hoover Commission

Adoption of 32 Hoover Commission task force recommendations is being urged by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Directors of the Chamber this week adopted a Legislative Committee report which urged Congress to adopt the plan advocated by the Commission on Reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Government.

The survey made by the commission, the Chamber said, "shows how to cure waste, correct weaknesses and eliminate non-essential programs and activities."

The value of the study, the Chamber agreed, will be in direct proportion to the use that is made of it.

Thirty-two Hoover Commission recommendations, the Chamber said, fall within four target areas which should be given top priority. The targets are:

1. Curtailment of federal business and commercial-type activities providing goods and services available from private enterprise.
2. Integration and improved management of military supply activities.
3. Curtailment of excessive turnover among federal personnel, through improved employment practices and modernized personnel procedures.
4. Enactment of a comprehensive water and power policy.

The federal government, the report said, has 19,771 commercial and industrial activities providing goods or services for the use of the government.

Most of these business-type activities pay no taxes and little or no interest on the capital, seldom charge depreciation and "cannot, as often claimed, provide its goods and services cheaper than private enterprise."

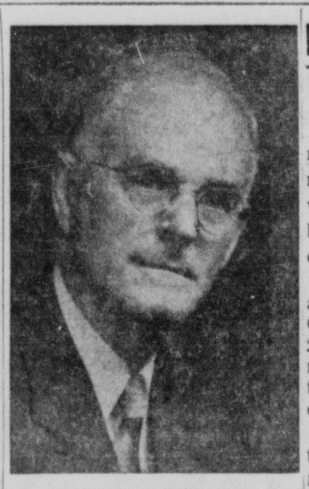
The Chamber backed the Commission's finding that upwards of $2 billion could be saved from the $22 billion defense budget by improved business-management functions without jeopardizing national security.

Turnover of government personnel, the task force found, is costing taxpayers about $250 million a year.

"We must make civil service so attractive, so secure . . . that the right kind of men and women will make it a career," the Chamber report said.

The ever-increasing demand for water, the report added, makes a comprehensive national policy on water and power essential if there is to be maximum use of that vital national resource.

Copies of the report are being sent to Maryland senators and representatives.



REV. O. E. PHILLIPS

Bible Meeting Planned In Area

Rev. O. E. Phillips, president and superintendent of the Hebrew Christian Fellowship, Philadelphia, will be a guest speaker at a Bible conference in Fairhope Community Church, Fairhope, Pa., tonight at 7:30 p. m., and at the Tri-State Youth for Christ Rally here Saturday at 8 p. m.

His subjects at the Bible conference will be "Russia and the World Crisis" and "Why God is Not Through with The Jews."

At Saturday's Youth for Christ rally will be "The Christian's Hope." The rally will also observe "Meet the Board Night." The YFC Board of Directors will be present as a body, and new members introduced, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Army Recruit Quota Lowered

The local Army recruiting station has received a limited quota of enlistments for the month of May, according to M/Sgt. Wesley C. Hartley, local recruiter.

Four recruits or non-prior servicemen and two prior servicemen or veterans can be enlisted this month.

The quota for the entire area is also lower than usual, it was noted. Headquarters at Fairmont, W. Va., advised the local station that among those enlisted from the entire Fairmont district are two recruits for the Second Armored Cavalry Regiment at Fort George Meade; one for the 8th Intantry Division in Germany; two for the 3d Infantry Division at Fort Benning; six for the 11th Airborne in Germany; and one for the 269th Field Artillery Battalion, (155 GT) in Germany. There are the usual openings in all branches of service, but the local quota has been fixed at a total of six, with the choice of branch or station left to the recruits who can qualify.

Earlier this week, four enlistments were reported here. John M. Blizzard, 114 Blaul Avenue, re-enlisted for three years in the rank of sergeant and is assigned with the 68th Medical Battalion at Fort George G. Meade.

Sgt. John C. Kifer, 913 Grand Avenue, re-enlisted for three years, unassigned.

Junior R. Rogers of Piedmont, W Va., and Paul O'Neil Jr., of Westernport, enlisted for three years each, unassigned, and were sent to Fort Jackson, S. C., to begin their training.

New Red Campaign

VIENNA, May 2 (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia has launched a new campaign against Western stories and movies, claiming they are responsible for the rise in juvenile crime. No American Westerns have been imported to Czecoslovakia since 1948.

France has a monument erected to the memory of Cpl. James B. Gresham, of Calhoun, Ky., and the first American soldier to be killed "facing the enemy" in World War I.

Policeman Names Trio As Abductors

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Three men charged with kidnaping and robbing a Baltimore policeman were pointed out in court today by the patrolman who was abducted.

The three—Morris Ruckle, 43, and Curtis E. Midgett, 40, both of Chester, Pa., and John R. Davis, 26, Baltimore, Negro—entered innocent pleas at the start of their trial before a Criminal Court jury of 10 men and two women.

Patrolman Charles W. Zeller testified that he was robbed of his gun, holster and flashlight by one of the three men who pulled a gun on him when he started to investigate their car.

Zeller said they forced him into the car, parked suspiciously at the rear of a building in West Baltimore, and drove him to a rural area in Howard County.

There, he said, they stripped him of his heavy clothes and tied him to a tree.

Bridges Leaves $5 Million

HAGERSTOWN, May 2 (AP)—Henry P. Bridges, financier who died last week, left the bulk of his five million dollar estate to his widow, his will showed when filed in Orphans Court today.

The widow, Mrs. Shelby Thomas Bridges, lives in Johnson City, Tenn., with her two sons, Henry P. Bridges, Jr., and Shelby Thomas Bridges, each of whom will receive $12,000 a year for life.

Bridges died on April 22 at the age of 79. He was vice president of the Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corp. of Berkeley Springs, W. Va., and for many years was secretary-treasurer of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club, 6,000-acre sports club for millionaires near Hancock, Md.

AHS Class Of 1951 Planning Reunion

Allegany High School Class of 1951 is planning a reunion August 10 at Ali Ghan Country Club. The committee is arranging a dinner and dance for class members, their husbands and wives and guests.

Questionnaires have been sent to all members of the class, and the committee has requested that these be returned immediately. The information is needed to complete an important part of the program and to compile requested suggestions for entertainment and activity.

Those working on the arrangements are Elizabeth McNabb Drew, Jacqueline Breedlove Holler, Helen Yoder Poe, Ann Riggleman, and Lois Fisher Schaidt.

Mrs. Goldie Spataro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spataro, RD 2, Eckhart, is a medical patient at Miners Hospital.

Underwood Studies Mental Health

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 2 (AP)—Gov. Cecil Underwood is consulting a wide variety of sources of information for guidance in setting up a new Department of Mental Health.

The governor opened his weekly news conference today by commenting that since this is Mental Health Week, it would be "a good time to make known what planning is under way for our mental health program."

Equity Suits Filed

Four equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Robert Ephriam Turner vs. Frieda Jane Turner, Catherine R. Fuller vs. Albert Fuller, Elvera Adeline Gallen vs. John Vogel Gallen and Ruth Elizabeth Wirgman vs. Ralph P. W. Wirgman.

Under an act of the 1957 West Virginia Legislature, a new Department of Mental Health will come into being July 1. It will take over operation of the state's five mental hospitals and the West Virginia Training School, all now administered by the Board of Control.

One of the immediate problems is obtaining personnel for the department, including the psychiatrist who will head the agency at $20,000 a year, and heads of divisions. A legal question that has not been resolved one way or the other, Underwood said, is whether the psychiatrist who will become director of mental health must be a West Virginia resident when appointed.

There are only about nine psychiatrists practicing in the state at present. Underwood said he is going to invite each of them to give him their ideas on the state's mental health program.

The governor also plans to set up an informal advisory group of representatives of the Mental Health Society and civic groups which have made mental health one of their projects.

He said further that he is consulting three other agencies—the American Psychiatric Assn., the Southern Regional Education Board, and the Council of State governments.

New Legion Setup — Crank Handle Dead

Can't Catch Moose — Cotton Talks Golf

By C. V. BURNS

GEORGE ZEGLES, baseball chairman of Mountain District, American Legion, reports that only four teams will vie for the Maryland Department junior crown this year at College Park.

Instead of Mountain District, comprising Garrett and Allegany posts, and Western Maryland District, composed of teams in the Hagerstown and Frederick area, sending their championship teams to College Park they'll play each other and the winner will go to the state tourney.

In recent years eight teams battled it out in the state tourney in August.

Zegles has sent invitations to the 11 posts in Garrett and Allegany County to have representatives at a meeting to be held Sunday at 1 p. m., in Midland for the purpose of organizing for the 1957 season. Midland, Frostburg, Oakland and Cumberland had teams in the league last year.

CRANK HANDLE, an outstanding sprinter on Maryland and West Virginia tracks since 1952, suffered a broken whirlbone while running in the paddock and was destroyed recently, according to C. B. "Buck" Chenoweth, the well known trainer.

The gelding had run at least a dozen races at Fairgo at four meetings and had won on five occasions. He was a double winner in 1954 and 1955 and copped one race in 1952.

Chenoweth sent Crank Handle postward four times last September at the local half miler and he took third and fourth monies.

OLD SEA DOG and Bristol Joe, recognized as the best thoroughbreds that raced here last year, have won $18,600 and $14,340, respectively, during 1956-57.

Bristol Joe, a 7-year-old gelding is now at Churchill Downs after a busy winter season at New Orleans. Old Sea Dog, 4-year-old gelding is at Laurel.

WHEN Jesse Markley, Fort Hill pitching ace, turned back Bruce High School in a ten inning game Tuesday he notched his 25th victory since he started as a freshman with the Sentinels in 1954.

His league record over four seasons is 23-4 but he can't catch Enordo "Moose" Arnone, the one-time Beall High ace, who bagged 34 wins and lost only two games during the four seasons, 1949 through 1952.

Arnone's season marks were 2-1, 9-0, 12-0 and 11-1.

Starting with the 1954 season Markley's league won and lost records are as follows. 5-1, 8-1, 7-2 and 3-0.

Markley's record against league teams is as follows:

Allegany 2-0, Bruce 2-0, Hyndman 1-0, Mt. Savage 6-1, LaSalle 3-1, Beall 4-1, Flintstone 3-1 and Valley 0-0.

Markley's lone start against Valley was this year and the game ended in a 9-9 tie.

Wayne Murray and Edgar Puffenberger beat Valley in 1954, Murray won twice in 1955 and Ronnie Winters whipped the Black Knights twice last year.

JOE ERVIN, Baltimorean and one-time W. M. I. League referee, postcards from Nurnberg, Germany:

"Surprised to hear from me? Over here for Uncle Sam teaching softball umpiring techniques. Hope to see you this summer."

DONALD "Toby" Colaw, former Southern High (Oakland) pitching ace, who was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates last summer and had a tryout in organized ball this spring, failed to make the grade and is back home at Crellin.

Colaw was not regarded as hefty enough to stand the gaff in organized ball.

DO YOU THINK you could name the past ten winners of the Kentucky Derby?

HENRY COTTON, veteran British pro golfer, who is paying his fifth visit to this country, is convinced that the golfing supremacy of the world is likely to remain in the United States rather than go back to Britain.

"I'm sufficient of a realist to know that it will be hard for the British to dominate the game again. It's simply a matter of mathematics. It's the big school against the little school," Henry says. "You outnumber us in players by about 3 to 1 and play two seasons to our one."

Cotton's belief is that "everyone can play golf for a lifetime with no risk of injury to your back if you use the wrists to the maximum and whip the ball."

Of the American pros, Cotton thinks Arnold Palmer has "terrific possibility." He regards Dow Finsterwald, too, as an exceptional player.

But the three-time winner of the British Open, now 50, still thinks Sam Snead is the "greatest swinger" of all. Jimmy Demaret, who is 46, ranks high because he has "enormously powerful arms and hands."

JOHNNY WEISMULLER, the noted swimmer and movie "Tarzan," and Cinema Pools, Inc., have signed a three million dollar deal to market low cost swimming pools internationally.

The Weismuller pool will be manufactured in three sizes, the Record Breaker, 12 by 27 feet, The Champion, 16 by 34 feet, and the Olympic, 20 by 40 feet.

The new idea will make it possible for a family to own a pool which will sell for under $2,000.

Properties of the three pools render installation possible in four days, and the upkeep factor is extremely low.

Tryouts At LaVale

The LaVale Orioles and LaVale Maroons of the Pen-Mar Little League will conduct tryouts Saturday at Parkside School Field, LaVale.

Robin Roberts Fans Thirteen, Beats Cubs, 4-2

Yields Three Hits, Two By Dale Long

PHILADELPHIA, May 2 (AP) — Robin Roberts scotched talk that he is over the hill with a three-hit, 13-strikeout performance against Chicago tonight as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Cubs 4-2.

Dale Long and Lee Walls, late of the Pittsburgh Pirates, made their debut as Cubs by rapping out the only hits off the Phillies ace. Long's fifth inning home run was the first of the year for the home-run hitting sensation of a year ago. He also singled in the ninth.

Walls tripled in the seventh, scoring Ernie Banks.

Roberts' return to his usual style overshadowed a creditable effort by the Cubs' Dick Drott, who struck out six in losing his third game against no wins. The Phillies had to scratch for their first run, put together on singles by Bob Bowman, Fernandez and Ashburn. In the sixth they scored the clinching runs, with Ed Bouchee's two-run double leading the attack. Bowman's long fly brought in the final run.

Braves Defeat Bucs In Tenth

Three-Run Rally Sews Up Game, 8-5

PITTSBURGH, May 2 (AP) — The first-place Milwaukee Braves pushed across three runs in the 10th inning tonight to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5 and give Lew Burdette his third victory against one loss. Red Murff relieved the tiring Burdette in the 10th to nail down the Braves' 11th victory against only two setbacks.

Hank Aaron led the Braves' 18-hit assault on three Pirate pitchers, collecting five singles in six official trips. Ed Mathews and Danny O'Connell, a former Pirate, each had three.

O'Connell was the real thorn in the side of the Pirates as he homered in the fourth to give the Braves a 3-2 lead, then hit a single in the 10th to push over what proved to be the winning marker.

Burdette seemingly had the victory in his hip pocket until the ninth when the Pirates scored three runs on a pinch hit homer by Johnny Powers, his first in the majors.

Tigers Score Five In 4th, Trim Red Sox

Lee Registers First Major Victory, 7-5

DETROIT, May 2 (AP) — Rookie righthander Don Lee captured his first major league victory today when the Detroit Tigers scored five runs on just two hits in a wild fourth inning and defeated the Boston Red Sox 7-5.

Lee, son of former major league pitcher Thornton Lee, needed relief help from southpaw Al Aber, Jim Bunning and Steve Gromek over the last inning and a third to preserve the decision. The 23-year-old newcomer yielded four Boston runs and eight safeties before he was lifted in the eighth when the Red Sox scored one run.

Two walks, an interference call, a wild pitch and two extra base hits—one of them a three-run homer by Charley Maxwell—enabled the Tigers to push over five runs off starter Tom Brewer in the fourth.

The Red Sox pecked away at Lee, scoring single runs in the fourth and eighth and getting a pair in the fifth. They got their final run in the ninth off Aber.

National Guard To Use Beagle Training Area

Members of the Allegany Beagle Club are asked to refrain from using the club's training area on the following dates:

May 4 and 5, May 18 and 19, June 1 and 2, June 15 and 16.

The reason this request is made is because members of the National Guard are using the area for range firing.

Members are asked to cooperate to the fullest and no one will be hurt while firing is in progress.

Wall, Littler Lead Tourney

Art, Gene Post 68s In Fort Worth Test

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 2 (AP)—A Wall and Gene Littler, used smoking putters today to shoot 2-under-par 68's and tie for the first round lead in the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Wall, who has bagged 34 aces in his golfing life-time, and Littler both shot their finest rounds in this $25,000 tournament.

They led a field of 48 over the soggy 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Littler, from Singing Hills, Calif., took a 1-stroke lead in a day that saw only four players better par and which saw Ben Hogan, the favorite, continue the good golf that marked his practice rounds.

Hogan had 70 and was delighted with his putting—something that plagued him for a year.

Tied for third at 69 were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco.

Three-Run Rally Sews Up Game, 8-5

PITTSBURGH, May 2 (AP) — The first-place Milwaukee Braves pushed across three runs in the 10th inning tonight to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5 and give Lew Burdette his third victory against one loss. Red Murff relieved the tiring Burdette in the 10th to nail down the Braves' 11th victory against only two setbacks.

Hank Aaron led the Braves' 18-hit assault on three Pirate pitchers, collecting five singles in six official trips. Ed Mathews and Danny O'Connell, a former Pirate, each had three.

O'Connell was the real thorn in the side of the Pirates as he homered in the fourth to give the Braves a 3-2 lead, then hit a single in the 10th to push over what proved to be the winning marker.

Burdette seemingly had the victory in his hip pocket until the ninth when the Pirates scored three runs on a pinch hit homer by Johnny Powers, his first in the majors.

Tigers Score Five In 4th, Trim Red Sox

Lee Registers First Major Victory, 7-5

DETROIT, May 2 (AP) — Rookie righthander Don Lee captured his first major league victory today when the Detroit Tigers scored five runs on just two hits in a wild fourth inning and defeated the Boston Red Sox 7-5.

Lee, son of former major league pitcher Thornton Lee, needed relief help from southpaw Al Aber, Jim Bunning and Steve Gromek over the last inning and a third to preserve the decision. The 23-year-old newcomer yielded four Boston runs and eight safeties before he was lifted in the eighth when the Red Sox scored one run.

Two walks, an interference call, a wild pitch and two extra base hits—one of them a three-run homer by Charley Maxwell—enabled the Tigers to push over five runs off starter Tom Brewer in the fourth.

The Red Sox pecked away at Lee, scoring single runs in the fourth and eighth and getting a pair in the fifth. They got their final run in the ninth off Aber.

National Guard To Use Beagle Training Area

Members of the Allegany Beagle Club are asked to refrain from using the club's training area on the following dates:

May 4 and 5, May 18 and 19, June 1 and 2, June 15 and 16.

The reason this request is made is because members of the National Guard are using the area for range firing.

Members are asked to cooperate to the fullest and no one will be hurt while firing is in progress.

Wall, Littler Lead Tourney

Art, Gene Post 68s In Fort Worth Test

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 2 (AP) — Wall and Gene Littler, used smoking putters today to shoot 2-under-par 68's and tie for the first round lead in the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Wall, who has bagged 34 aces in his golfing life-time, and Littler both shot their finest rounds in this $25,000 tournament.

They led a field of 48 over the soggy 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Littler, from Singing Hills, Calif., took a 1-stroke lead in a day that saw only four players better par and which saw Ben Hogan, the favorite, continue the good golf that marked his practice rounds.

Hogan had 70 and was delighted with his putting—something that plagued him for a year.

New Legion Setup — Crank Handle Dead

Can't Catch Moose — Cotton Talks Golf

By C. V. BURNS

GEORGE ZEGLES, baseball chairman of Mountain District, American Legion, reports that only four teams will vie for the Maryland Department junior crown this year at College Park.

Instead of Mountain District, comprising Garrett and Allegany posts, and Western Maryland District, composed of teams in the Hagerstown and Frederick area, sending their championship teams to College Park they'll play each other and the winner will go to the state tourney.

In recent years eight teams battled it out in the state tourney in August.

Zegles has sent invitations to the 11 posts in Garrett and Allegany County to have representatives at a meeting to be held Sunday at 1 p. m., in Midland for the purpose of organizing for the 1957 season. Midland, Frostburg, Oakland and Cumberland had teams in the league last year.

CRANK HANDLE, an outstanding sprinter on Maryland and West Virginia tracks since 1952, suffered a broken whirlbone while running in the paddock and was destroyed recently, according to C. B. "Buck" Chenoweth, the well known trainer.

The gelding had run at least a dozen races at Fairgo at four meetings and had won on five occasions. He was a double winner in 1954 and 1955 and copped one race in 1952.

Chenoweth sent Crank Handle postward four times last September at the local half miler and he took third and fourth monies.

OLD SEA DOG and Bristol Joe, recognized as the best thoroughbreds that raced here last year, have won $18,600 and $14,340, respectively, during 1956-57.

Bristol Joe, a 7-year-old gelding is now at Churchill Downs after a busy winter season at New Orleans. Old Sea Dog, 4-year-old gelding is at Laurel.

WHEN Jesse Markley, Fort Hill pitching ace, turned back Bruce High School in a ten inning game Tuesday he notched his 25th victory since he started as a freshman with the Sentinels in 1954.

His league record over four seasons is 23-4 but he can't catch Enordo "Moose" Arnone, the one-time Beall High ace, who bagged 34 wins and lost only two games during the four seasons, 1949 through 1952.

Arnone's season marks were 2-1, 9-0, 12-0 and 11-1.

Starting with the 1954 season Markley's league won and lost records are as follows. 5-1, 8-1, 7-2 and 3-0.

Markley's record against league teams is as follows:

Allegany 2-0, Bruce 2-0, Hyndman 1-0, Mt. Savage 6-1, LaSalle 1-1, Beall 4-1, Flintstone 3-1 and Valley 0-0.

Markley's lone start against Valley was this year and the game ended in a 9-9 tie.

JOE ERVIN, Baltimorean and one-time W. M. I. League referee, postcards from Nurnberg, Germany:

"Surprised to hear from me? Over here for Uncle Sam teaching softball umpiring techniques. Hope to see you this summer."

DONALD "Toby" Colaw, former Southern High (Oakland) pitching ace, who was signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates last summer ,and had a tryout in organized ball this spring, failed to make the grade and is back home at Crellin.

Colaw was not regarded as hefty enough to stand the gaff in organized ball.

DO YOU THINK you could name the past ten winners of the Kentucky Derby?

HENRY COTTON, veteran British pro golfer, who is paying his fifth visit to this country, is convinced that the golfing supremacy of the world is likely to remain in the United States rather than go back to Britain.

"I'm sufficient of a realist to know that it will be hard for the British to dominate the game again. It's simply a matter of mathematics. It's the big school against the little school," Henry says. "You outnumber us in players by about 3 to 1 and play two seasons to our one."

Cotton's belief is that "everyone can play golf for a lifetime with no risk of injury to your back if you use the wrists to the maximum and whip the ball."

Of the American pros, Cotton thinks Arnold Palmer has "terrific possibility." He regards Dow Finsterwald, too, as an exceptional player.

But the three-time winner of the British Open, now 50, still thinks Sam Snead is the "greatest swinger" of all. Jimmy Demaret, who is 46, ranks high because he has "enormously powerful arms and hands."

JOHNNY WEISMULLER, the noted swimmer and movie "Tarzan," and Cinema Pools, Inc., have signed a three million dollar deal to market low cost swimming pools internationally.

The Weismuller pool will be manufactured in three sizes, the Record Breaker, 12 by 27 feet, The Champion, 16 by 34 feet, and the Olympic, 20 by 40 feet.

The new idea will make it possible for a family to own a pool which will sell for under $2,000.

Properties of the three pools render installation possible in four days, and the upkeep factor is extremely low.

Tryouts At LaVale

The LaVale Orioles and LaVale Maroons of the Pen-Mar Little League will conduct tryouts Saturday at Parkside School Field, LaVale.

Moorefield High Cops 29th Consecutive PVC Game

Jackets Win Over Vikings In 15-1 Rout

Fitzwater Bags 4th Straight; Berkeley Springs Wins, 6-2

Moorefield High School trounced Petersburg High School's Vikings yesterday by the score of 15-1 at Moorefield and extended its winning streak in the Potomac Valley Conference to 29 games.

The victory was the 7th in a row for Coach Jonathan Paugh's team this season and gave the Hardy countians a sweep of the series, having won the opener by the score of 15-5 on April 19.

Harry Fitzwater twirled the first six innings for the Yellowjackets and received credit for his fourth victory of the current campaign. He yielded only three hits, fanned eight, issued four bases on balls and left the game with his team leading by the score of 15-0. Petersburg scored its lone run on an error in the final frame with George Sherman on the mound.

Donnie Schell and Billy Keller sparked the Moorefield attack with two hits each. Schell had a pair of two-baggers and Keller had a two-bagger and single. Fitzwater aided the cause with a three-base wallop. Petersburg was held to four hits and suffered its sixth loss in seven starts.

Berkeley Wins, 6-2

Berkeley Springs High School handed the Wardensville Warriors their sixth consecutive defeat in the conference by the score of 6-2 in a game played in Wardensville.

Gary Henry, who came on to relieve Kenny Kerns in the sixth with the bases loaded and two out, stopped the Warriors when he forced the batsman to pop up. In the final stanza Henry fanned the side.

Berkeley Springs garnered nine hits as it won its fourth game in six starts in the conference. Mechem, Young, Burkhart and Kerns collected two hits each for Coach Allen Goldstrom's Indians. Bruce Orndorff accounted for two of Wardensville's five safeties.

Maxim And Machen Fight At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—Joey Maxim, veteran spoiler of championship aspirations, and young Eddie Machen, with designs on a shot at the heavyweight title, meet in a 10-round nationally televised heavyweight fight tomorrow on Kentucky Derby eve.

Although Derbytown is bulging at the seams for Saturday's running at Churchill Downs, not more than 5,000 are expected at the fight. The fight will be televised by NBC starting at 9 p.m. (EST).

Terp Netmen Win

COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 2 (AP)—Maryland swept all but one singles match to defeat Penn State's tennis team 8-1 here today.

Maryland, champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference, is enjoying its best season in history. The Terps have a 12-1 record, losing only to Navy.

Fullback At 5 Foot 4

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State probably has the smallest fullback in the collegiate ranks. He is Hendricks (Henny) Young, brother of Buddy Young of Illinois fame. Henny is 5 foot 4 and weighs only 145. Spartan coaches believe he will make the varsity.

PARTING IS SUCH SAD SORROW

WATCHING his Detroit Tigers for the first time as a mere spectator, not a club official, Spike Briggs (left) cries as he talks to Edgar Hayes, Detroit sports editor, following shakeup in the club which shoved Briggs out of his position as general manager. Briggs, whose family has been connected with the Tigers for many years, departed from the game early. (International)

Cresaptown Junior High Track Team Beats Beall

Hedrick Is Top Scorer In 84-41 Win At Frostburg

Cresaptown Junior High School defeated Beall Junior High in a track and field meet yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 84 to 41 points.

Coach Glenn "Speed" Hanna's thinclads copped seven out of a possible 10 first places and outpointed Beall 31-18 in the 115-pound class and 53-23 in the junior unlimited class.

Jim Hedrick, Cresaptown, paced the scorers with 15½ tallies. He won the high jump and shot put, was second in the broad jump and ran on the winning 440 relay team.

Ronnie Broadwater, Cresaptown, was runner-up with 12½ points and Fred Hall, Beall, was third with 11½. Hall and Broadwater also won two events each.

The win was the second straight for Cresaptown which meets Allegany Junior High at Campobello on May 9.

Chicago Sox Hand Stobbs 4th Loss, 6-1

Walt Dropo Clouts Grand Slam Homer

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP) — Pinch-hitter Walt Dropo's grand slam homer off Chuck Stobbs in the sixth swirled the pace-setting Chicago White Sox to their 10th triumph in 12 starts with a 6-1 decision over the Washington Senators today.

Dropo's big clout broke up a duel between Stobbs, who beat the Pale Hose five times last season, and Chicago's Dick Donovan, who finally notched his first victory in three starts with a five-hitter.

A tough break for Stobbs was second sacker Herb Plews' fumble of a double play ball which set the wheels in motion for the big Sox sixth.

Only Washington run off Donovan was Roy Sievers' Nov. 5 homer leading off the second.

That tied the score at 1-1 after Chicago scored a first inning run on Luis Aparicio's double and Nellie Fox' single.

It was a pretty fair throwing match between Stobbs and Donovan until Minnie Minoso opened the sixth with a single. Sherm Lollar drilled a bounder at Plews and both runners were safe when he bobbled. On this play, Senator shortstop Milt Bolling was injured when Minoso slid into him at second. Bolling was replaced by Lyle Luttrell.

Stobbs struck out Lary Doby, but yielded a bases-filling walk to rookie Jim Landis. Dropo batted for first sacker Jim Rivera and belted the ball out of the park, scoring Minoso, Lollar and Landis ahead of him.

It was the sixth grand slammer in the big league career of the 6-5 Dropo, trying to win his first base job back from Rivera.

Chicago's sixth run came in the seventh off Evelio Hernandez, who came in after Stobbs left for a pinch-hitter in the Senator seventh.

It was Stobbs' fourth defeat without a victory.

466-Mile Sailing Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Ocean-going sailboats will take part in the biennial 466-mile race from Annapolis, Md., to Newport, R. I., beginning June 22. The event will be sponsored by the New York Yacht Club, Annapolis Yacht Club and the U. S. Naval Academy Sailing Squadron. Seven naval academy craft are entered.

Hoak Big Gun As Cincinnati Whips Giants

Don Bats In Five Runs In 9-7 Win

New York, May 2 (AP)—May 2 is a day Don Hoak thought he would always like to forget. Now it's one he'd like to remember, too.

The Cincinnati third baseman today bombed New York pitching for three singles and a homer, driving in five runs, including the winning pair in the ninth inning for a 9-7 Cincinnati victory over the Giants.

A year ago against these same New York Giants, Hoak tied a major league record for futility when he fanned six times in a 17 inning game.

The Giants equalled a National League record today but it didn't do them much good. They reeled off six double plays.

Hoak's final hit, a single through the middle of the diamond, came with the bases loaded and none out. He scored Frank Robinson and Bob Thurman. Robinson, who had lashed three hits, was hit by Marv Grissom, fifth and losing New York pitcher, to start off the big inning. Thurman walked and then Ed Bailey beat out a bunt to load the bases.

Hershell Freeman, third and last of the Cincinnati pitchers, was the winner. He came into the game in the seventh after Gail Harris hit a homer off Don Gross to tie the score 7-7. Freeman retired seven of the eight Giants to face him.

Hoak had put the Redlegs in the lead in the seventh with a two-run homer.

For a while it appeared as if old Hank Sauer of the Giants would be the big hero. The Redlegs had driven out Pete Burnside in the first inning with three runs on a walk and four singles, including one by Hoak.

In the Giants half, Redleg starter Johnny Klippstein did worse than Burnside. He walked the first three men and then Sauer drove them in with a double to deep left center. Sauer scored later on Ossie Virgil's line out to Art Schult.

Virgil's two-run homer in the fourth off Gross increased the Giants' lead to 6-3.

Satan Helper Takes Laurel Feature Race

LAUREL, Md., May 2 (AP) — Satan Helper picked up his second straight triumph of this race meeting today, driving to a half-length victory over Colony Menu in the $5,000 Bethesda-Chevy Chase Chamber of Commerce Purse.

Returning a $10.80 mutuel to his backers in the crowd of 11,789 Ladies Day customers, the 3-year-old son of Devil Diver turned the six-furlong distance in 1.12 3/5 with A. F. Martinez in the irons.

Colony Menu, the favorite, was second by three lengths over Golden Sun.

Satan Helper paid $5.00 to place and $3.80 in show money. Colony Menu paid $4.00 and $3.40, while Golden Sun returned $4.20.

Owned by Elmer W. Reiber and trained by Charles F. Wagner, Satan Helper was making only the fifth start of his career.

Rated in fourth position to midway of the turn, Satan Helper came to the outside for the drive and got up to catch Colony Menu late in the stretch.

Two daily double payoffs were required after Maine Avenue tossed his rider and ran off for a mile prior to the start of the second race. The 3-year-old was scratched and a consolation double was necessary.

Caddy's Pat, winner of the first race at $5.20, and the second race winner, V. S. O. P., teamed up for a $12 double — the smallest of the meeting. Tickets coupling Caddy's Pat and Maine Avenue were worth $7.60.

Robinson To Undergo Operation On Knee

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Brooks Robinson, 20-year-old rookie third baseman for the Baltimore Orioles, will have a knee operation Saturday morning.

The promising infielder from Little Rock, Ark., aggravated his already weak right knee last Saturday. He hurt it originally while playing last season with San Antonio.

Doctors diagnosed the trouble as a "locked cartilage." They estimated he would be out of action for at least six weeks after the operation.

Elk Garden Posts Sixth Win In Row

Murphy Chalks Up Second Triumph Over Keyser, 6-5

Elk Garden High School stayed right on the heels of the front-running Moorefield High School Yellowjackets in the race for the Potomac Valley Conference baseball championship by reeling off its sixth consecutive victory at the expense of Keyser High School yesterday at Keyser. The score was 6-5.

Coach Paul Kalbaugh's undefeated Elks also won the series opener on April 26 by the score of 2-1.

Dewaine Murphy made his record 4-0 for the season, scattering eight hits while his strikeout victims totaled eight. It was his second win over Keyser. Murphy also holds decisions over West Virginia School for the Deaf and Southern High of Oakland.

Denzil Hanlin headed the Elks at the plate with a double and two singles for a perfect day. Bill Clevenger spaced Keyser with three two-baggers in four official trips.

Senators Receive Unusual Request

WASHINGTON, May 2—(INS)—The Washington Senators got an unusual request today for two of its uniforms.

Jerry Gordon, an avid fan of the baseball club, said he is erecting a scaffolding above his used car establishment and a man wearing the uniform will stay up there until the senators win three straight games.

The second uniform is for a relief scaffold-sitter — just in case the senators don't come through right away.

Sentinels Host Flintstone High

Allegany Visits Valley Today

Fort Hill High School's pace-setting Sentinels will play host to the Flintstone High Aggies in an Allegany County Interscholastic Baseball League game today at 4 p.m., at Fort Hill Field.

The Sentinels are leading the league with a record of four wins and one tie game. Flintstone has lost four games in five starts.

In other league games today, Valley, also undefeated and owning a 2-0-2 record plays host to Allegany High's Campers (3-1) at 3:30 p.m., Bruce High's Bulldogs oppose Beall's Mountaineers in Frostburg at 4 p.m., and LaSalle battles the Mt. Savage High Indians in Mt. Savage at 3:30.

Circleville faces Southern High at Oakland and Mathias visits Franklin in Potomac Valley Conference games on tap today.

Coach John Fox's Potomac State College Catamounts are scheduled to play the West Virginia University Freshmen today at Keyser.

Potomac Valley Hermans To Play In City League

Potomac Valley's Old Germans are leaving the County Softball League for the City Softball League during the 1957 season and will be sponsored by the Queen City Distributors under the name of the "Hermans."

The City League will open May 21.

Potomac Valley teams have played in the County League for 17 years, first as the "Cubs" and for the past two seasons as the "Old Germans."

James Allen will continue as manager of the team for the ninth season.

The Brooklyn Dodgers own five minor league clubs—Los Angeles, Montreal, St. Paul, Macon, Ga., and Thomasville, Ga. They have working agreements with seven other teams.

Moorefield High Cops 29th Consecutive PVC Game

Jackets Win Over Vikings In 15-1 Rout

Fitzwater Bags 4th Straight; Berkeley Springs Wins, 6-2

Moorefield High School trounced Petersburg High School's Vikings yesterday by the score of 15-1 at Moorefield and extended its winning streak in the Potomac Valley Conference to 29 games.

The victory was the 7th in a row for Coach Jonathan Paugh's team this season and gave the Hardy countians a sweep of the series, having won the opener by the score of 15-5 on April 19.

Harry Fitzwater twirled the first six innings for the Yellowjackets and received credit for his fourth victory of the current campaign. He yielded only three hits, fanned eight, issued four bases on balls and left the game with his team leading by the score of 15-0. Petersburg scored its lone run on an error in the final frame with George Sherman on the mound.

Donnie Schell and Billy Keller sparked the Moorefield attack with two hits each. Schell had a pair of two-baggers and Keller had a two-bagger and single. Fitzwater aided the cause with a three-base wallop. Petersburg was held to four hits and suffered its sixth loss in seven starts.

Berkeley Wins, 6-2

Berkeley Springs High School handed the Wardensville Warriors their sixth consecutive defeat in the conference by the score of 6-2 in a game played in Wardensville.

Gary Henry, who came on to relieve Kenny Kerns in the sixth with the bases loaded and two out, stopped the Warriors when he forced the batsman to pop up. In the final stanza Henry fanned the side.

Berkeley Springs garnered nine hits as it won its fourth game in six starts in the conference. Mechem, Young, Burkhart and Kerns collected two hits each for Coach Allen Goldstrom's Indians. Bruce Orndorff accounted for two of Wardensville's five safeties.

Maxim And Machen Fight At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—Joey Maxim, veteran spoiler of championship aspirations, and young Eddie Machen, with designs on a shot at the heavyweight title, meet in a 10-round nationally televised heavyweight fight tomorrow on Kentucky Derby eve.

Although Derbytown is bulging at the seams for Saturday's running at Churchill Downs, not more than 5,000 are expected at the fight. The fight will be televised by NBC starting at 9 p.m. (EST).

Terp Netmen Win

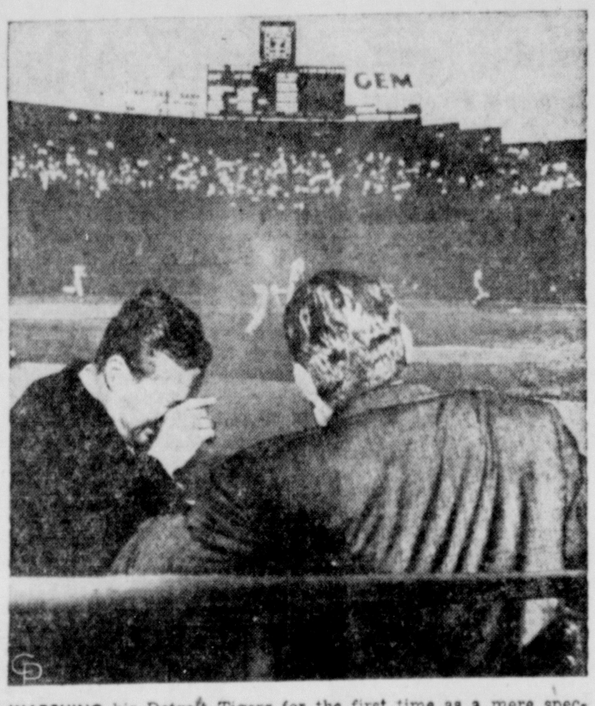
COLLEGE PARK, Md., May 2 (AP)—Maryland swept all but one singles match to defeat Penn State's tennis team 8-1 here today.

Maryland, champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference, is enjoying its best season in history. The Terps have a 12-1 record, losing only to Navy.

Fullback At 5 Foot 4

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State probably has the smallest fullback in the collegiate ranks. He is Hendricks (Henny) Young, brother of Buddy Young of Illinois fame. Henny is 5 foot 4 and weighs only 145. Spartan coaches believe he will make the varsity.

PARTING IS SUCH SAD SORROW



WATCHING his Detroit Tigers for the first time as a mere spectator, not a club official, Spike Briggs (left) cries as he talks to Edgar Hayes, Detroit sports editor, following shakeup in the club which shoved Briggs out of his position as general manager. Briggs, whose family has been connected with the Tigers for many years, departed from the game early. (International)

Cresaptown Junior High Track Team Beats Beall

Hedrick Is Top Scorer In 84-41 Win At Frostburg

Cresaptown Junior High School defeated Beall Junior High in a track and field meet yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 84 to 41 points.

Coach Glenn "Speed" Hanna's thinclads copped seven out of a possible 10 first places and outpointed Beall 31-18 in the 115-pound class and 53-23 in the junior unlimited class.

Jim Hedrick, Cresaptown, paced the scorers with 15½ tallies. He won the high jump and shot put, was second in the broad jump and ran on the winning 440 relay team.

Ronnie Broadwater, Cresaptown, was runner-up with 12½ points and Fred Hall, Beall, was third with 11½. Hall and Broadwater also won two events each.

The win was the second straight for Cresaptown which meets Allegany Junior High at Campobello on May 9.

Chicago Sox Hand Stobbs 4th Loss, 6-1

Walt Dropo Clouts Grand Slam Homer

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP) — Pinch-hitter Walt Dropo's grand slam homer off Chuck Stobbs in the sixth swirled the pace-setting Chicago White Sox to their 10th triumph in 12 starts with a 6-1 decision over the Washington Senators today.

Dropo's big clout broke up a duel between Stobbs, who beat the Pale Hose five times last season, and Chicago's Dick Donovan, who finally notched his first victory in three starts with a five-hitter.

A tough break for Stobbs was second sacker Herb Plews' fumble of a double play ball which set the wheels in motion for the big Sox sixth.

Only Washington run off Donovan was Roy Sievers' Nov. 5 homer leading off the second.

That tied the score at 1-1 after Chicago scored a first inning run on Luis Aparicio's double and Nellie Fox' single.

It was a pretty fair throwing match between Stobbs and Donovan until Minnie Minoso opened the sixth with a single. Sherm Lollar drilled a bounder at Plews and both runners were safe when he bobbled. On this play, Senator shortstop Milt Bolling was injured when Minoso slid into him at second. Bolling was replaced by Lyle Luttrell.

Stobbs struck out Lary Doby, but yielded a bases-filling walk to rookie Jim Landis. Dropo batted for first sacker Jim Rivera and belted the ball out of the park, scoring Minoso, Lollar and Landis ahead of him.

It was the sixth grand slammer in the big league career of the 6-5 Dropo, trying to win his first base job back from Rivera.

Chicago's sixth run came in the seventh off Evelio Hernandez, who came in after Stobbs left for a pinch-hitter in the Senator seventh.

It was Stobbs' fourth defeat without a victory.

Hoak Big Gun As Cincinnati Whips Giants

Don Bats In Five Runs In 9-7 Win

New York, May 2 (AP)—May 2 is a day Don Hoak thought he would always like to forget. Now it's one he'd like to remember, too.

The Cincinnati third baseman today bombed New York pitching for three singles and a homer, driving in five runs, including the winning pair in the ninth inning for a 9-7 Cincinnati victory over the Giants.

A year ago against these same New York Giants, Hoak tied a major league record for futility when he fanned six times in a 17 inning game.

The Giants equalled a National League record today but it didn't do them much good. They reeled off six double plays.

Hoak's final hit, a single through the middle of the diamond, came with the bases loaded and none out. He scored Frank Robinson and Bob Thurman. Robinson, who had lashed three hits, was hit by Marv Grissom, fifth and losing New York pitcher, to start off the big inning. Thurman walked and then Ed Bailey beat out a bunt to load the bases.

Hershell Freeman, third and last of the Cincinnati pitchers, was the winner. He came into the game in the seventh after Gail Harris hit a homer off Don Gross to tie the score 7-7. Freeman retired seven of the eight Giants to face him.

Hoak had put the Redlegs in the lead in the seventh with a two-run homer.

For a while it appeared as if old Hank Sauer of the Giants would be the big hero. The Redlegs had driven out Pete Burnside in the first inning with three runs on a walk and four singles, including one by Hoak.

In the Giants half, Redleg starter Johnny Klippstein did worse than Burnside. He walked the first three men and then Sauer drove them in with a double to deep left center. Sauer scored later on Ossie Virgil's line out to Art Schult.

Virgil's two-run homer in the fourth off Gross increased the Giants' lead to 6-3.

Satan Helper Takes Laurel Feature Race

LAUREL, Md., May 2 (AP) — Satan Helper picked up his second straight triumph of this race meeting today, driving to a half-length victory over Colony Menu in the $5,000 Bethesda - Chevy Chase Chamber of Commerce Purse.

Returning a $10.80 mutuel to his backers in the crowd of 11,789 Ladies Day customers, the 3-year-old son of Devil Diver turned the six-furlong distance in 1.12 3/5 with A. F. Martinez in the irons.

Colony Menu, the favorite, was second by three lengths over Golden Sun.

Satan Helper paid $5.00 to place and $3.80 in show money. Colony Menu paid $4.00 and $3.40, while Golden Sun returned $4.20.

Owned by Elmer W. Reiber and trained by Charles F. Wagner, Satan Helper was making only the fifth start of his career.

Rated in fourth position to midway of the turn, Satan Helper came to the outside for the drive and got up to catch Colony Menu late in the stretch.

Two daily double payoffs were required after Maine Avenue tossed his rider and ran off for a mile prior to the start of the second race. The 3-year-old was scratched and a consolation double was necessary.

Caddy's Pat, winner of the first race at $5.20, and the second race winner, V. S. O. P., teamed up for a $12 double — the smallest of the meeting. Tickets coupling Caddy's Pat and Maine Avenue were worth $7.60.

Robinson To Undergo Operation On Knee

BALTIMORE, May 2 (AP)—Brooks Robinson, 20-year-old rookie third baseman for the Baltimore Orioles, will have a knee operation Saturday morning.

The promising infielder from Little Rock, Ark., aggravated his already weak right knee last Saturday. He hurt it originally while playing last season with San Antonio.

Doctors diagnosed the trouble as a "locked cartilage." They estimated he would be out of action for at least six weeks after the operation.

Murphy Chalks Up Second Triumph Over Keyser, 6-5

Elk Garden High School stayed right on the heels of the front-running Moorefield High School Yellowjackets in the race for the Potomac Valley Conference baseball championship by reeling off its sixth consecutive victory at the expense of Keyser High School yesterday at Keyser. The score was 6-5.

Coach Paul Kalbaugh's undefeated Elks also won the series opener on April 26 by the score of 2-1.

Dewaine Murphy made his record 4-0 for the season, scattering eight hits while his strikeout victims totaled eight. It was his second win over Keyser. Murphy also holds decisions over West Virginia School for the Deaf and Southern High of Oakland.

Denzil Hanlin headed the Elks at the plate with a double and two singles for a perfect day. Bill Clevenger spaced Keyser with three two-baggers in four official trips.

Senators Receive Unusual Request

WASHINGTON, May 2—(INS)—The Washington Senators got an unusual request today for two of its uniforms.

Jerry Gordon, an avid fan of the baseball club, said he is erecting a scaffolding above his used car establishment and a man wearing the uniform will stay up there until the senators win three straight games.

Derby Winner To Collect $109,200 If Ten Start

Needles Beat 16 Last Year, Won $123,450

Gen. Duke's Injury Is Question Mark; Bold Ruler Is 8-5

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—No surprises popped out of the entry box at Churchill Downs today as 10 colts were entered for the Kentucky Derby. Gen. Duke's foot injury was the biggest question marks.

While the latest bulletin from the Calumet Farm disclosed little change in Gen. Duke's condition, Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler became a slight favorite for the $125,000-added race Saturday.

However, Trainer Jimmy Jones said he believed his ace had "something less than a 50-50 chance" of starting in the race. "We would like to run him but I'm not going to do anything that might injure him seriously."

A bar plate shoe was put on the injured foot late today and Jones said he thought it helped.

But he added: "There is a possibility this is a blond quarter, deep in the hoof, or a piece of gravel which has worked its way up between the wall of the hoof and the meaty part of the leg."

Bold Ruler Favored

Bold Ruler, trained by the veteran Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons and ridden by Eddie Arcaro, winner of five previous derbys, was an early 8 to 5 choice. The uncertainty around Calumet headquarters caused the entry of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege to be listed at 2 to 1.

Gen. Duke and Bold Ruler have met four times. They divided two Florida $100,000 races last winter, Bold Ruler copping the Flamingo at Hialeah, and Gen. Duke the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park. Earlier Bold Ruler won the Bahamas, then lost to Gen. Duke in the Everglades.

"A lot of the soreness in Gen. Duke's foot has been relieved, but we have not been able to localize the injury," said Jimmy Jones, Calumet trainer.

"It's just like a man with a stomach ache," Jimmy continued. "You just have to wait until he gets over it."

"We're going to have to work on this thing on an hour to hour basis, and probably won't be able to say until an hour or so before the derby whether or not he can start."

The other seven entered at $250 each for the mile and one quarter race were Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, John Appelbaum's Mister Jive, Clifford Lussky's Federal Hill, Travis M. Kerr's Round Table, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Indian Creek, T. A. Grissom's Shan Pac, and Walter S. Miller's Better Bee.

Each will pack 126 pounds in the race, to be televised and broadcast (CBS) 4:15-4:45 p.m. (EST).

Costs Owners $1,600

The owners must plank down another $1,250 each, which aded to the entry fee and a $100 nomination payment, brings the total cost of getting into the race to $1,600.

If 10 start, the total jackpot will be $153,300. The winner can collect $109,200, second highest derby purse. Needles beat 16 others a year ago and netted $123,450.

"We expect a pleasant derby day," chief forecaster O. K. Anderson said in a special communique. This indicated a fast track. "There is no rain in sight. The temperature should be in the middle 70's."

Jockey assignments were completed with one exception—Calumet. Willie Hartack is slated to ride Gen. Duke with Dave Erb aboard Iron Liege. Jones failed to list a rider for either horse when entered. That indicated Hartack would shift to Iron Liege if Gen. Duke is scratched.

Johnny Adams pilots Better Bee, and his son, J. R., will ride Shan Pac. It will be Hedley Woodhouse on Mister Jive, the Canadian-owned horse flown into town today.

Choquette Suspended

Whistlin' Willie Carstens has Federal Hill, the home town colt.

Willie Shoemaker, who won the derby with Swaps two years ago, is aboard Gallant Man, the 6-1 third choice. Silent Shoe got the job after jockey John Choquette was suspended in New York.

Derby Lineup

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—Here is the lineup for Saturday's $125,000 added Kentucky Derby listed according to post positions, jockeys and probable odds:

Eric Blind Deliberately Tried Not To Win 1926 Kentucky Derby

Owner Bet Heavily On Bubbling Over, Winner Of Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—A story of a jockey who deliberately tried not to win the Kentucky Derby was related today by William Boniface, racing editor of the Baltimore Sunpapers.

The jockey was Eric Blind, now an assistant race starter. He rode Bagenbaggage in the 1926 Derby.

The colt was owned by the late E. R. Bradley, a well known heavy bettor. Bradley also owned Bubbling Over, another starter in the Derby.

According to Boniface's story, Bradley told Blind he had bet heavily on Bubbling Over in the winter book and didn't want him beaten by his stablemate.

Bubbling Over won. Bagenbaggage was second.

"I'll never know if Bagenbaggage could have beaten Bubbling Over to give me a Kentucky [illegible] win that day," Boniface said [illegible] told him. "I am sure of one thing, however, I could have been a lot closer than the three lengths which separated us."

Gen. Duke's Injury Is Question Mark; Bold Ruler Is 8-5

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—No surprises popped out of the entry box at Churchill Downs today as 10 colts were entered for the Kentucky Derby. Gen. Duke's foot injury was the biggest question marks.

While the latest bulletin from the Calumet Farm disclosed little change in Gen. Duke's condition, Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler became a slight favorite for the $125,000-added race Saturday.

However, Trainer Jimmy Jones said he believed his ace had "something less than a 50-50 chance" of starting in the race. "We would like to run him but I'm not going to do anything that might injure him seriously."

A bar plate shoe was put on the injured foot late today and Jones said he thought it helped.

But he added: "There is a possibility this is a blond quarter, deep in the hoof, or a piece of gravel which has worked its way up between the wall of the hoof and the meaty part of the leg."

Bold Ruler Favored

Bold Ruler, trained by the veteran Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons and ridden by Eddie Arcaro, winner of five previous derbys, was an early 8 to 5 choice. The uncertainty around Calumet headquarters caused the entry of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege to be listed at 2 to 1.

Gen. Duke and Bold Ruler have met four times. They divided two Florida $100,000 races last winter, Bold Ruler copping the Flamingo at Hialeah, and Gen. Duke the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park. Earlier Bold Ruler won the Bahamas, then lost to Gen. Duke in the Everglades.

"A lot of the soreness in Gen. Duke's foot has been relieved, but we have not been able to localize the injury," said Jimmy Jones, Calumet trainer.

"It's just like a man with a stomach ache," Jimmy continued. "You just have to wait until he gets over it."

"We're going to have to work on this thing on an hour to hour basis, and probably won't be able to say until an hour or so before the derby whether or not he can start."

The other seven entered at $250 each for the mile and one quarter race were Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, John Appelbaum's Mister Jive, Clifford Lussky's Federal Hill, Travis M. Kerr's Round Table, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Indian Creek, T. A. Grissom's Shan Pac, and Walter S. Miller's Better Bee.

Each will pack 126 pounds in the race, to be televised and broadcast (CBS) 4:15-4:45 p.m. (EST).

Costs Owners $1,600

The owners must plank down another $1,250 each, which aded to the entry fee and a $100 nomination payment, brings the total cost of getting into the race to $1,600.

If 10 start, the total jackpot will be $153,300. The winner can collect $109,200, second highest derby purse. Needles beat 16 others a year ago and netted $123,450.

"We expect a pleasant derby day," chief forecaster O. K. Anderson said in a special communique. This indicated a fast track. "There is no rain in sight. The temperature should be in the middle 70's."

Jockey assignments were completed with one exception—Calumet, Willie Hartack is slated to ride Gen. Duke with Dave Erb aboard Iron Liege. Jones failed to list a rider for either horse when entered. That indicated Hartack would shift to Iron Liege if Gen. Duke is scratched.

Johnny Adams pilots Better Bee, and his son, J. R., will ride Shan Pac. It will be Hedley Woodhouse on Mister Jive, the Canadian-owned horse flown into town today.

Choquette Suspended

Whistlin' Willie Carstens has Federal Hill, the home town colt.

Willie Shoemaker, who won the derby with Swaps two years ago, is aboard Gallant Man, the 6-1 third choice. Silent Shoe got the job after jockey John Choquette was suspended in New York.

Bargain Mare

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The mare Miss Disco cost only $2,100 as a yearling. She won close to $100,000 in purses and is the dam of Bold Ruler, one of the outstanding 3-year-olds of the last few years.

Bagenbaggage Was 2nd:

Eric Blind Deliberately Tried Not To Win 1926 Kentucky Derby

Owner Bet Heavily On Bubbling Over, Winner Of Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP)—A story of a jockey who deliberately tried not to win the Kentucky Derby was related today by William Boniface, racing editor of the Baltimore Sunpapers.

The jockey was Eric Blind, now an assistant race starter. He rode Bagenbaggage in the 1926 Derby.

The colt was owned by the late E. R. Bradley, a well known heavy bettor. Bradley also owned Bubbling Over, another starter in the Derby.

According to Boniface's story, Bradley told Blind he had bet heavily on Bubbling Over in the winter book and didn't want him beaten by his stablemate.

Bubbling Over won. Bagenbaggage was second.

"I'll never know if Bagenbaggage could have beaten Bubbling Over to give me a Kentucky win that day," Boniface said he was told him. "I am sure of one thing, however, I could have been a lot closer than the three lengths which separated us."

Stock Market Near 1957 High On Heavy Trading

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP) — The stock market surged close to its 1957 high today in the third heaviest trading session of the year.

Profit-taking in the last half hour slashed some of the best gains but the market was still well ahead on average.

Seven of the 15 most active stocks were oils.

Steels did pretty well, too, but they lacked the wide, dramatic moves of the oil division.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 90 cents to $181.80, just 20 cents below the year's high of $182.00 reached Jan. 4. The industrial component rose $1.30 to a new 1957 high, the rails rose 80 cents, and the utilities rose 20 cents to another of their succession of new 1957 highs.

Based on the average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated $1,097,000,000.

For the eighth straight session, Bethlehem Steel headed the list of most active stocks. It was up ¾ at 47¼ on 78,800 shares. Second came Royal Dutch, up 1 at 49 on 38,000 shares. Third was General Motors, up ⅝ at 43½.

Next came American Radiator, off ¾ at 15¼, and Allis-Chalmers, up ⅜ at 34⅛.

Standard Oil was up more than a point before its usual 55 cents dividend was declared. Then it reacted but came back. Ohio Oil, up 1⅜, Tidewater Oil up ⅜ and Standard Oil of Indiana up 1, rose on higher earnings.

He said it is hoped that the site will be ready by Armed Forces Day, May 18.

Forest Fire Burns 30 Acres In Area

Some 30 acres of second growth woodland was burned on Little Knob along Hinkle Road Monday afternoon, according to District Forester William H. Johnson, who said the fire was the worst in the district this spring.

Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin and William Slider, a forest guard, are conducting an investigation in an effort to find the cause of the fire. Bedford Road volunteer firemen, a crew from the Green Ridge boys' forestry camp and a county road crew helped bring the fire under control.

Also reported Monday was a fire near Oldtown which burned two acres and one near Deer Park in Garrett County which burned two-tenths of an acre.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 2 (INS)—You'll see Martin and Lewis together again—now wait a moment until I tell you everything. Hal Wallis has decided to reissue "Jumping Jacks" and "Sailor Beware," starring the comics, at the request of Paramount. And if you know Martin and Lewis, you'll remember that these were two of their best pictures.

Both Dean and Jerry are working hard on independent projects. Dean is packing them in at the Moulin Rouge and getting ready to do another picture. Jerry has finished two pictures and has chosen "The Baby Doctor" as his next. He's even collaborating on this story with Don McGuire, who is his producer and director. Before "Baby Doctor" starts, he has to make a 25 cities tour with "Sad Sack" and do eight weeks of nightclub appearances. Better look out, Jerry, you'll be needing a doctor yourself; no one can work that hard.

The red carpet was put down for Hal ($64,000 Question) March at Paramount where he reported to discuss "Hear Me Good," the motion picture he will make for that studio.

He told me that Candy, Mrs. March, expects her baby about the 24th of June. He has to be out here in early July to start his picture, so he's hoping everything will happen on schedule.

He's suffering from a slipped disc, but he accepted my invitation to go to the Ice Capades, and the reception he received has seldom been equalled. He's a nice boy who hasn't let success go to his head.

Frances (Mrs. Van) Heflin is breathless with excitement. She's just been officially notified by the International Game Fish Association that she now holds the women's all-tackle world record and the women's 30 pound line test class world record for blackfin tuna catch!

"It happened when we were in Lima, Peru," Frances laughed, "and while I knew I had caught a big fish—I never dreamed I'd broken a world's record for women!" Maybe you think the pretty redhead isn't holding this over the head of Van and some of their male friends who think they're pretty good fishermen.

Mingling with royalty in "The Prince and the Show Girl" gave Marilyn Monroe an idea. From New York, I am told she has acquired a coat of arms which has worked out for her by Roger Furse, production designer of "The Prince and the Show Girl." It's a roe bearing on its shoulders a shield in the shape of an M, making the design m-on-roe.

There was a reunion of the "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison" group at the Luau when Deborah Kerr and Tony Bartley entertained the Robert Mitchums and John Huston.

Beldon (El Rancho Vegas) Katleman gifted Zsa Zsa Gabor with a set of gold-plated golf clubs. Now all Zsa Zsa has to do is learn to play golf.

The Donna Reed - Tony Owen baby is expected any edition.

Nat Gross, Chicago Herald-American's town tattler, gets in Los Angeles May 5, his first time in 10 years. He's made a date with William Perlberg and George Seaton to join the newspaper crowd for Clark Gable and Doris Day's picture "Teacher's Pet."

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

(Copyright, 1957, by International News Service)

The Port of New York authority estimates there will be two million helicopter passengers a year in the city area by 1965.

Experts believe that from one fifth to one fourth of all Americans are overweight.

Some 30 acres of second growth woodland was burned on Little Knob along Hinkle Road Monday afternoon, according to District Forester William H. Johnson, who said the fire was the worst in the district this spring.

Senior Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin and William Slider, a forest guard, are conducting an investigation in an effort to find the cause of the fire. Bedford Road volunteer firemen, a crew from the Green Ridge boys' forestry camp and a county road crew helped bring the fire under control.

Also reported Monday was a fire near Oldtown which burned two acres and one near Deer Park in Garrett County which burned two-tenths of an acre.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 2 (INS)—You'll see Martin and Lewis together again—now wait a moment until I tell you everything. Hal Wallis has decided to reissue "Jumping Jacks" and "Sailor Beware," starring the comics, at the request of Paramount. And if you know Martin and Lewis, you'll remember that these were two of their best pictures.

Both Dean and Jerry are working hard on independent projects. Dean is packing them in at the Moulin Rouge and getting ready to do another picture. Jerry has finished two pictures and has chosen "The Baby Doctor" as his next. He's even collaborating on this story with Don McGuire, who is his producer and director. Before "Baby Doctor" starts, he has to make a 25 cities tour with "Sad Sack" and do eight weeks of nightclub appearances. Better look out, Jerry, you'll be needing a doctor yourself; no one can work that hard.

The red carpet was put down for Hal ($64,000 Question) March at Paramount where he reported to discuss "Hear Me Good," the motion picture he will make for that studio.

He told me that Candy, Mrs. March, expects her baby about the 24th of June. He has to be out here in early July to start his picture, so he's hoping everything will happen on schedule.

He's suffering from a slipped disc, but he accepted my invitation to go to the Ice Capades, and the reception he received has seldom been equalled. He's a nice boy who hasn't let success go to his head.

Frances (Mrs. Van) Heflin is breathless with excitement. She's just been officially notified by the International Game Fish Association that she now holds the women's all-tackle world record and the women's 30 pound line test class world record for blackfin tuna catch!

The notification reads: "The officers and committee congratulate you on your fine catch and a certificate follows shortly."

"It happened when we were in Lima, Peru," Frances laughed, "and while I knew I had caught a big fish—I never dreamed I'd broken a world's record for women!" Maybe you think the pretty redhead isn't holding this over the head of Van and some of their male friends who think they're pretty good fishermen.

Mingling with royalty in "The Prince and the Show Girl" gave Marilyn Monroe an idea. From New York, I am told she has acquired a coat of arms which has worked out for her by Roger Furse, production designer of "The Prince and the Show Girl." It's a roe bearing on its shoulders a shield in the shape of an M, making the design m-on-roe.

Polly Bergen and Freddie Fields are adopting a baby girl. They lost twin babies about a year ago. Freddie has a daughter by a previous marriage.

There was a reunion of the "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison" group at the Luau when Deborah Kerr and Tony Bartley entertained the Robert Mitchums and John Huston.

Beldon (El Rancho Vegas) Katleman gifted Zsa Zsa Gabor with a set of gold-plated golf clubs. Now all Zsa Zsa has to do is learn to play golf.

The Donna Reed - Tony Owen baby is expected any edition.

Nat Gross, Chicago Herald-American's town tattler, gets in Los Angeles May 5, his first time in 10 years. He's made a date with William Perlberg and George Seaton to join the newspaper crowd for Clark Gable and Doris Day's picture "Teacher's Pet."

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

The Age Of The Singer

We are now well into the era of the popular singer. Like all fads, it will blow over but it's a little puzzling to me that it took root quite so deeply in the first place. Not that we have not had immensely popular singers in other media, people like Al Jolson on the stage and Bing Crosby in the movies. But those people all did something—fell on one knee, made faces, moved around.

The new style TV idol like Perry Como just stands there and sings as immovably as possible. It just doesn't seem to me to be television. About the only thing you can say for it is that it is popular. Next year, in addition to all the singers on the air, there'll be Frank Sinarta and Pat Boone. The singers are getting all the deference once paid to comedians.

And the comedians? With the rating tumbling around their ears, no one knows what the future of the veterans — Jackie Gleason, Sid Caesar, George Gobel—has in store or, more importantly, where to look for new comics. There aren't any in sight. Not only the comedians but comedy itself has an air of exhaustion about it as if everyone were telling jokes by memory.

The other day, Sid Caesar, normally an astute fellow, had a courtroom parody which was a glaring example of the deficiencies of TV comedy writing. In the first place it was not so much a parody of courts or of court dramas but of a single TV court drama called "The Defender." In short, it was a very special and exclusive bit of mockery where it should have been general and universal.

This is a criticism that can be leveled at many of Caesar's shows. His parodies of silent pictures are masterpieces—but who has seen a silent picture recently? Whole generations have grown up who never saw a silent picture at all. Why make fun of them now? Actually, a good parody is funny in itself whether you are familiar with what is being parodied or not. I have roared at parodies of books I have never seen and don't intend reading them and been vastly amused at Caesar's parodies of movies which were way ahead of even my own remote era.

It can be done. But it is doing things the hard way to make jokes about something your audience is unfamiliar with. And why do something the hard way? Another criticism with this particular sketch is that it was pretty bad in every way—sloppy, overlong, unfunny and at times downright embarrassing.

It had, in short, an end-of-season air about it: Someone reached way into left field for the subject and then didn't do it very well, anyhow. The next night there was a sketch on the Ed Sullivan show whose theme was: Suppose "Anastasia" had been written by Paddy Chayefsky? Again, it's a little special (A lot of us haven't seen "Anastasia" and a lot of others are not partial to Chayefsky) and again it just wasn't very good.

I don't think the comedians are permanently out or the singers permanently in. Hell, I can remember way back when the biggest thing on TV was puppets, and then in order came the private eyes, the wrestlers, the plunging neckline ladies, the roller derby and finally Milton Berle—a process of evolution almost as complex as the development of the first vertebrates. Now the tide of progress has swept forward to the singers. But it won't rest there indefinitely. Ultimately we will get to the geologic age where actors are the big thing on television. Of course it may take another twenty years but I predict that eventually the actors are coming in.

Everybody else has had his moment on television—wrestlers, roller skaters, Rin Tin Tin, Senator McCarthy, Virginia Hill, Pinky Lee, Ollie Dragon, Lawrence Spivak and Native Dancer. Eventually—you mark my words—the actor will make it.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P C D N S C T C F F D C C A C T Z, N A E F D C Z N K C X Q K H — X U W S C K D N J N K E V C K K Z.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote—OPINIONS CANNOT SURVIVE IF ONE HAS NO CHANCE TO FIGHT FOR THEM—THOMAS MANN.

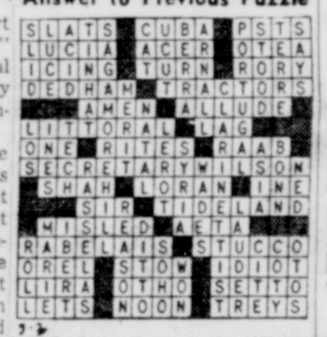
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Television And Radio

by John Crosby

The Age Of The Singer

We are now well into the era of the popular singer. Like all fads, it will blow over but it's a little puzzling to me that it took root quite so deeply in the first place. Not that we have not had immensely popular singers in other media, people like Al Jolson on the stage and Bing Crosby in the movies. But those people all did something—fell on one knee, made faces, moved around.

The new style TV idol like Perry Como just stands there and sings as immovably as possible. It just doesn't seem to me to be television. About the only thing you can say for it is that it is popular. Next year, in addition to all the singers on the air, there'll be Frank Sinarta and Pat Boone. The singers are getting all the deference once paid to comedians.

And the comedians? With the rating tumbling around their ears, no one knows what the future of the veterans — Jackie Gleason, Sid Caesar, George Gobel—has in store or, more importantly, where to look for new comics. There aren't any in sight. Not only the comedians but comedy itself has an air of exhaustion about it as if everyone were telling jokes by memory.

The other day, Sid Caesar, normally an astute fellow, had a courtroom parody which was a glaring example of the deficiencies of TV comedy writing. In the first place ,it was not so much a parody of courts or of court dramas but of a single TV court drama called "The Defender." In short, it was a very special and exclusive bit of mockery where it should have been general and universal.

This is a criticism that can be leveled at many of Caesar's shows. His parodies of silent pictures are masterpieces—but who has seen a silent picture recently? Whole generations have grown up who never saw a silent picture at all. Why make fun of them now? Actually, a good parody is funny in itself whether you are familiar with what is being parodied or not. I have roared at parodies of books I have never seen and don't intend reading them and been vastly amused at Caesar's parodies of movies which were way ahead of even my own remote era.

It can be done. But it is doing things the hard way to make jokes about something your audience is unfamiliar with. And why do something the hard way? Another criticism with this particular sketch is that it was pretty bad in every way—sloppy, overlong, unfunny and at times downright embarrassing.

It had, in short, an end-of-season air about it: Someone reached way into left field for the subject and then didn't do it very well, anyhow. The next night there was a sketch on the Ed Sullivan show whose theme was: Suppose "Anastasia" had been written by Paddy Chayefsky? Again, it's a little special (A lot of us haven't seen "Anastasia" and a lot of others are not partial to Chayefsky) and again it just wasn't very good.

I don't think the comedians are permanently out or the singers permanently in. Hell, I can remember way back when the biggest thing on TV was puppets, and then in order came the private eyes, the wrestlers, the plunging neckline ladies, the roller derby and finally Milton Berle—a process of evolution almost as complex as the development of the first vertebrates. Now the tide of progress has swept forward to the singers. But it won't rest there indefinitely. Ultimately we will get to the geologic age where actors are the big thing on television. Of course it may take another twenty years but I predict that eventually the actors are coming in.

Everybody else has had his moment on television—wrestlers, roller skaters, Rin Tin Tin, Senator McCarthy, Virginia Hill, Pinky Lee, Ollie Dragon, Lawrence Spivak and Native Dancer. Eventually—you mark my words—the actor will make it.

BUY A BETTER Thompson Buick USED CAR

56 BUICK SPECIAL ESTATE WAGON
Ride in Air Conditioned comfort in this luxurious near-new (9,600 miles) wagon. Beautiful white and red 2-tone paint with whitewalls. Also has spotless red and white all cordoveen interior. Fully equipped with Radio, Dynaflow, EZI glass. Loads of other accessories. An ordinary station wagon in the low priced three would cost more than the modest price we are asking for this Estate Wagon.

56 BUICK RIVIERA
Special 2-Door. This popular Hardtop in the Buick line is a low-mileage 1-owner car. Equipped with Dynaflow, Radio, EZI glass, custom all Cordoveen interior. Whitewall tires. 2-Tone white and green paint.

55 BUICK 4-DOOR
Roadmaster. Another 1-Owner low mileage Quality Car. Interior appointments of this beautiful custom-built Buick could only be duplicated in a car costing thousands of dollars more than the price we are asking. Call today PA 2-1424 for a demonstration.

54 BUICK RIVIERA
Super 2-Door. Dynaflow, Radio, custom deluxe interior. If you can afford a low-priced car you can afford this one.

53 CHEV. BEL AIR
4-Door Sedan. Radio, 2-Tone Paint. Car has been kept in Show Room condition by one careful local owner.

56 BUICK SPECIAL ESTATE WAGON
Ride in Air Conditioned comfort in this luxurious near-new (9,600 miles) wagon. Beautiful white and red 2-tone paint with whitewalls. Also has spotless red and white all cordoveen interior. Fully equipped with Radio, Dynaflow, EZI glass. Loads of other accessories. An ordinary station wagon in the low priced three would cost more than the modest price we are asking for this Estate Wagon.

56 BUICK RIVIERA
Special 2-Door. This popular Hardtop in the Buick line is a low-mileage 1-owner car. Equipped with Dynaflow, Radio, EZI glass, custom all Cordoveen interior. Whitewall tires. 2-Tone white and green paint.

55 BUICK 4-DOOR
Roadmaster. Another 1-Owner low mileage Quality Car. Interior appointments of this beautiful custom-built Buick could only be duplicated in a car costing thousands of dollars more than the price we are asking. Call today PA 2-1424 for a demonstration.

54 BUICK RIVIERA

53 CHEV. BEL AIR

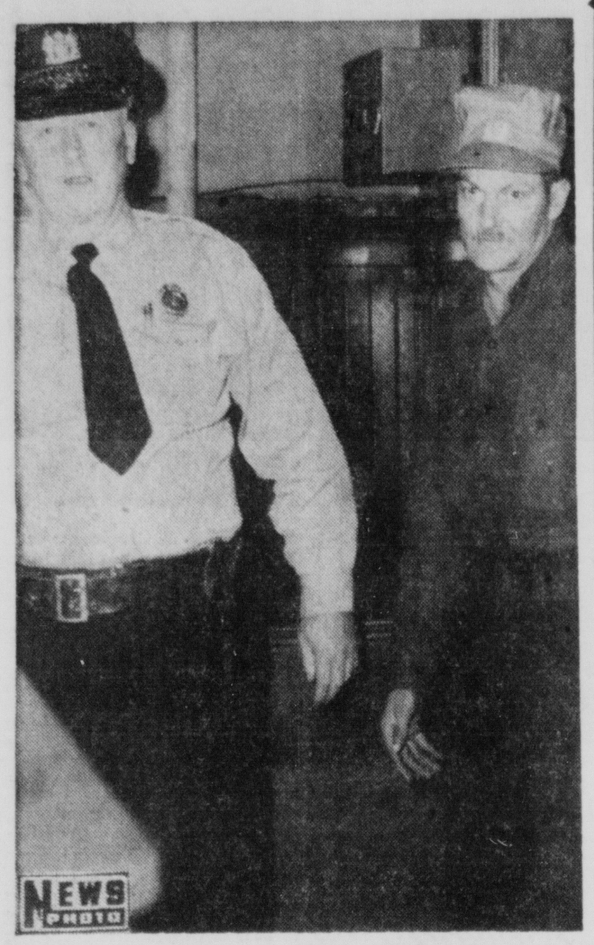
Shotgun Blast Kills Woman; Husband Held



Questioned In Slaying

Officer John G. Powers leads James M. Chambers from the City Jail cellblock for questioning in the shotgun slaying last night of Chambers' wife, Mrs. Virginia Chambers, 37-year-old mother of six.

J. M. Chambers Is Jailed On Open Charge

Wife Was Mother Of Six Children

A 37-year-old mother of six children was found dead from a shotgun wound last night at her home, 324 Arch Street, and her husband was being held in City Jail on an open charge in connection with the shooting.

The victim was Mrs. Virginia Chambers, wife of James M. Chambers, 45, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman.

She was found lying on the kitchen floor when City Police went to the address after a report of a disturbance was received at headquarters at 7:45 p. m.

Police said the shooting apparently followed an argument between Chambers and his wife. They also said Clarence Edward Broadstock, Mrs. Chamber's brother and a former resident, who was at the home at the time of the shooting, will be questioned further.

Shot In Chest

The victim was struck in the left chest with one blast from a 12-gauge bolt action shotgun, which was found leaning against the dining room wall adjoining the kitchen.

Chambers was taken into custody by Officers John Powers and Kenneth Morrissey, who were the first on the scene after the shooting.

Officer Powers said the victim, Chambers and Broadstock were all in the kitchen when he arrived at the home.

Assistant Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, Detective Joseph H. Stitcher and Officers Elmer Shank, E. Gordon Hite and William Norris arrived on the scene shortly afterward.

Was Visiting Mother

Police said Broadstock, who now resides in St. Louis, was in Cumberland visiting his sick mother, Mrs. Cora Broadstock, who lives upstairs at 324 Arch Street.

They said Chambers and Broadstock left the house about 10:30 a.m. yesterday. During the day they were reported to have made a tour of the city, and ended up at a South End tavern at 7 p.m.

While they were in the tavern, Mrs. Chambers entered and asked the two men to go home for supper. However she did not go home at the same time but was reported to have remained about half an hour at the tavern before leaving.

Hears Quarrel, Shot

Meanwhile the two men returned to the Chambers home. Broadstock said he went to the living room and lay down for a nap. He said Chambers went upstairs.

Later, Broadstock said, he heard an argument in the kitchen and then a blast from the shotgun. After the initial investigation by City Police the body of the victim was removed to Memorial Hospital for an autopsy.

The victim, police said, was the mother of six children, the youngest being two months old.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police at LaVale, went to the Arch Street address when notified by city police.

They will question Chambers, who was booked at police headquarters and held for the state's attorney's office.

Fire Raises Smoke In The Narrows

This picture taken from U. S. Route 40 looking toward Lovers Leap in The Narrows shows some of the smoke raised by a brush fire which started on Wills Mountain about 6 p. m. yesterday. Volunteer firemen from LaVale and youths from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp responded and kept the flames from spreading to the Allegany Instrument Company, the old Wills Mountain Inn. Some of the fire fighters still were at the scene late last night.

Three Blazes Keep Firemen In Area Busy

House Is Destroyed, Two Brush Sections Are Burned Over

An unoccupied building along Oldtown Road which was destroyed by fire and two serious brush fires kept local and area firemen busy yesterday evening.

A fire which is believed to have started along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the entrance of the Narrows was brought under control last night about 10 p. m.

Members of LaVale Volunteer Fire Company and youths from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp battled the blaze up the side of Wills Mountain to within 100 feet of the Allegany Instrument Company on top of the mountain.

Two Acres Burned

William Johnson, district forester, said the firemen had to fight the blaze with water because of the rocky terrain. Mr. Johnson said the men carried five-gallon Indian pumps up the side of the hill before the fire was brought under control. About two acres was burned.

The fire started about 6 p. m. yesterday and members of the LaVale Fire Company were still on hand late last night keeping an eye on the smoldering scrub brush and trees which had burned.

East Side Fire Company and members of Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company battled a brush and grass fire on top of Shriver's Hill for almost two hours yesterday evening.

Fire Controlled

East Side received the call at 6:29 p. m. and fought the fire for an hour and 54 minutes. Firemen said the whole top of the hill was burned out and the fire had started down several sides of the hill before it was brought under control.

An unoccupied building known as Pickerty Stone Store on Oldtown Road about 24 miles from Cumberland was completely destroyed by flames yesterday evening.

Paw Paw Fire Company received a call to the blaze at 4 p. m. and members of District 16 Volunteer Fire Company at North Branch answered the call to the burning structure at 5 o'clock.

Chief L. J. Shoemaker of North Branch said the building was a total loss when they arrived and they stood by to prevent the fire from getting into an abandoned orchard nearby.

Cancer Crusade Nears $3,600; Goal $10,000

Cancer Crusade house-to-house contributions reported up to last night by the Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division Inc., American Cancer Society, totaled $3,851.85 with many more of the house-to-house solicitors yet to report.

Last year slightly more than $7,000 overall was contributed and William Walsh, chapter president, observed that this included special gifts, and a number of large donations, including checks from employe charity groups at industrial plants.

Walsh expressed hope that a goal of $10,000 may be reached this year.

Thirteen different sections or communities had reported to Mrs. A. J. Cioni, executive secretary at the Cancer Society office, up to last night and the highest total was $1,012.98 from Frostburg.

Other sectional reports, some of them only partial returns include LaVale, $441.07; West Side, $516.23; Johnson Heights, $421.31; South End, below subway, $94; Mid-City area, $157.76; Bedford-Frederick Street area, $269.49; Bowman's Addition, $55.02; Oldtown, $64.26; North End, $292.30; Bowling Green, $81.60; Potomac Park, $54.83, and East Side, $120.46.

Man Is Hurt When Three Cars Collide

Considerable property damage was caused and one person was slightly injured yesterday afternoon when three automobiles crashed on Baltimore Avenue near the intersection of Shade's Lane.

Police Officer William Valentine, who investigated the accident which occurred about 4:15 p. m., gave this account:

John A. Kreiling Jr., 516 Riehl Avenue, was traveling east on Baltimore Avenue. As he approached Shade's Lane, which he planned to enter, he stopped to wait for a car traveling west and driven by Edward N. Proud, 12 East First Street.

The car of Frank H. Smith, Star Route, Polish Mountain, also traveling east on the avenue, rammed into the rear of Kreiling's car and pushed it into the path of the oncoming car operated by Proud.

Officer Valentine said Smith would be charged with reckless driving.

Police Investigating Hit-Run Accident

Maryland State Police are investigating a hit-and-run accident in which an Allegany County public school bus was struck by an auto while the bus was parked about three miles north of McCoole along U.S. Route 220.

Trooper William S. McAfee, who is investigating, said no one apparently was injured although a small boy was preparing to alight from the bus when the crash occurred. Trooper McAfee said the bus was hit from the rear, and it was traveling in the direction of Cumberland. Driver of the bus was Norris C. Pierce, Route 3, McMullen Highway. The accident occurred at 3:45 p.m.

Will Build Home

Robert C. Long, 432 Columbia Street, secured a city permit yesterday for the construction of a one-story brick and frame dwelling at 1908 Frederick Street. It will be about 40 by 24 feet and cost $6,000.

Police Clear Burning Case

The case of a 14-year-old local boy who was burned on the chest with a lighted cigaret by another youth over the weekend was cleared up yesterday afternoon by City Police.

Police Detective Lt. James E. Van questioned a 15-year-old local boy who admitted he burned Frankie Angellatta, 14, of 27 Henderson Avenue, on the "spur of the moment" Sunday evening.

The mothers of the boys were present during the questioning. Lt. Van said Mrs. Angellatta preferred no charges against the other boy.

She told police Monday her son was burned on the chest while walking near his home. She said her son was told by the other boy to button his shirt at the collar, and when he failed to do so, the cigaret was held against his chest.

Lt. Van said the boys were acquainted prior to the incident.

Tomato Growers Receive Advice

Allegany County growers may control tomato diseases by use of inspected, disease-free plants and by a well-conducted spray program in the field, according to L. O. Weaver, C. E. Cox and J. G Kantzes, plant pathologists at the University of Maryland.

Diseases which require control are early blight, late blight, Septoria leaf spot, anthracnose and Stemphylium (gray) leaf spot. Healthy seedlings, proper rotation, planting in rows five-and-one-half or six feet wide, plus protection by spraying or dusting against diseases and insects usually result in satisfactory yields of the best quality fruit.

Spraying should be started when fruits of the first cluster are set, four to six weeks after planting, or when disease threatens. Sprays should continue at eight to ten day intervals until the peak pickings have been harvested.

UF Chapter Is Formed In Keyser

Officers Will Be Elected May 13

A Keyser, W. Va., citizens committee last night voted to affiliate with the County United Fund.

The action was taken as 26 citizens representing the Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis, Soroptimist, Yeoman, Elks, and Moose organizations met in the Keyser Council Chamber.

David G. Nuzum served as acting chairman at the organization meeting.

Mr. Nuzum said a nominating committee was named to present nominations for the permanent chairman of the Keyser Chapter of the County United Fund.

The committee will be headed by Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State College, with Mrs. Marie Coffman and Roy Davidson as members.

The committee was asked to present its report at a meeting May 13 at 7 p. m. in the Council Chamber at Keyser, when permanent officers will be elected.

Permanent committees for the unified fund campaign organization will also be named at the May 13 meeting.

Officers of the County United Fund will be present at the meeting, Mr. Nuzum said.

A report on progress on organization will be presented at a special meeting of the executive board of the County United Fund today.

The meeting will be held at 12:15 p. m. in the conference room of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, in charge of Edmund S. Burke, president of the County United Fund.

Webster Receives Fort Hill 'Sabre'

A copy of the Sabre, yearbook of the Class of 1957 of Fort Hill High School, was presented yesterday to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

"The Big Top" was the theme of the yearbook, which was dedicated to two members of the Fort Hill faculty. Honored by the yearbook staff were Carl M. Ritchie, who teaches shorthand and bookkeeping, and James C. Engle, psychology instructor.

The Sabre is divided into seven sections, each bearing a title indicative of the circus. They include professional artists, the faculty; main attraction, the seniors; progressing understudies, the underclasses; skilled gymnasts, sports; supporting acts, various school activities; shining stars, the May Queen and winners of other special contests during the year, and finally, circus patrons, the advertisers.

Special Education Areas Discussed

Seven areas of special education were discussed by Miss M. Jean Camper, supervisor of special education in the Allegany County public schools, at yesterday's meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club.

She said her department screens all public school children in an effort to find those with sight and hearing defects. Corrective measures are undertaken if possible. Other areas include speech therapy, programs for the physically handicapped, emotionally disturbed, mentally retarded, and gifted children.

Financial limitations and the difficulty in obtaining specially trained personnel are checks upon the effectiveness of special education.

The Kiwanians yesterday adopted a resolution expressing regret over the death Monday of Carl F. Schmutz, who in 1952 was president of the club.

Union Will Meet

Local 568, Iron Workers Union, will meet Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple, following an Executive Board meeting at 6 p. m.

Boost In Maryland Construction Slated

Contracts for future construction in Maryland in March totaled $71,398,000, an increase of 40 per cent compared to March 1956, F. W. Dodge Corporation, construction news and marketing specialists, reported yesterday.

March contracts by the major construction categories compared to the similar month of a year ago showed non-residential at $26,985,000, up 92 per cent; residential at $31,695,000, down one per cent; and heavy engineering at $12,718,000, up substantially.

The first quarter construction contracts compared to the like 1956 period showed: non-residential at $78,330,000, up substantially; residential at $59,433,000, down 17 per cent; heavy engineering at $36,384,000, up 60 per cent; and total construction at $174,147,000, up 28 per cent.

Frostburg Unit Is Pledged To Single Drive

The Frostburg chapter of the County United Fund was formed last night at a meeting in the Frostburg Council Chamber.

Charles Hill was named chairman of the chapter and Mrs. R. H. Mendelsohn acting chairman.

Signing as charter members were the above and Mayor Joseph E. James, Rexford Aldridge, Edward A. Godsey, A. Charles Stewart, Mrs. Paul Haberlein, George Mertens, Mrs. J. C. Cobey and William Preston.

Charter members, Mr. Hill said, accepted quotas of groups and individuals to contact prior to a general meeting to be called in about two weeks to explain the County United Fund plan to the area.

He added the charter members agreed to use their influence toward having one fund drive in Frostburg, and that for the County United Fund.

The action was taken after a discussion led by Lewis J. Ort, UF vice president; Woodward D. Pealer, acting assistant secretary, and Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel.

Mr. Pealer said the Frostburg citizens went on record as being opposed to multiplicity of fund campaigns.

Multiple campaigns, the group agreed, are sowing the seeds of their own undoing, and eventually worthy charities in the community will suffer, they asserted.

County Voters Number 40,269

Allegany County still had 40,269 registered voters as of May 1, although the number decreased during April as registration activity was virtually at a standstill.

The registered voters included 39,845 white persons and 424 Negroes. Republicans enjoyed a margin of 5,449 as of May 1. There are 22,699 registered Republicans, 11,474 men and 11,225 women) and 17,250 Democrats (8,850 men and 8,400 women).

During April the names of some 41 deceased voters were removed from the books. The Democrats also lost as a result of this action as 24 Democrats were removed, 19 men and five women, and only 17 Republicans, 12 men and five women.

Names of ten other voters were removed last month for various reasons. Included were seven Democrats, four men and three women, and three Republicans, two men and a woman. The name of one Republican man, removed inadvertently, was reinstated in the poll books. The two April registrants, one man and one woman, were both Republicans.

One change of political affiliation was recorded in April. A woman changed from a registered Democrat to Republican.

Although prospective new voters may register at any time the registration activity is not expected to spurt appreciably until near the next county-wide election, which will be the primary on May 20, 1958.

St. Patrick's Plans First Friday Mass

Evening mass will be celebrated today at 5:30 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church to mark the first Friday of May, according to Rt. Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor.

Msgr. Kilkenny said this will be the first time for an evening First Friday mass, and that the service will be held at that time on succeeding First Fridays.

Coin Albums To Be Given To Babies Born May 6-12

The Western Maryland Coin Club will present coin albums to all babies born in Sacred Heart and Memorial hospitals during National Coin Week May 6 to 12.

The club will also sponsor several coin displays and hold a public auction to mark the observance of National Coin Week which is being held nationally by the American Numismatic Association on the theme "Collecting Coins for Fun and Profit."

During its April meeting, the local club voted to present each baby born in local hospitals during the week with a Lincoln Head cent album.

The album will contain 89 slots for coins, beginning with 1941. Slots for coins between 1941 and 1956 will include data on the date, mint mark and tthe number of pennies which were minted that year.

The club will start the baby's coin collection by inserting an uncirculated 1957 penny.

Enclosed with the album and penny will be a letter of congratulation to the parents, expressing the hope that they will add to the collection and offering the services of the club for information on coin collecting.

Several coin collections of junior members, along with posters designed by the youthful collectors, will be displayed throughout the city.

Coins To Be Displayed

Another Coin Week event will be the auction held during the meeting of the club May 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Open to the public, the auction will feature the sale of several hard-to-find coins. Several local citizens have asked the club to auction old coins found around their homes.

The auction will enable collectors to dispose of surplus coins and beginners to pick up needed coins at a modest cost.

To mark Coin Week, the club will publish a six-page bulletin.

History To Be Listed

It is being prepared by Miss Martha Shaner and will list all National Coin Week activities, a history of Hard Luck tokens, facts concerning the Colonial money which will be exhibited at Washington's Cabin and the history and aims of the Western Maryland Coin Club.

The club is making a drive for new members all next week. Those interested may call or write the Cumberland Recreation Department, sponsor of the activity.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant to the recreation director, was made an honorary member last month, in recognition of her services to the club.

The club took over the charter of the old Western Maryland Coin Club and became an ANA affiliate. It has about 50 members.

Home Economics Teacher Resigns

Miss Virginia L. Bonar, home economics teacher at Valley High School, has submitted her letter of resignation to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, effective at the close of the school year next month.

Miss Bonar wrote that she has accepted a graduate assistantship in textiles and clothing at Ohio State University in Columbus, effective October 1. As a consequence she will not return to the county in September.

50 Building Permits Issued During April

Some 50 building permits for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $246,510 were issued during April by the Allegany County building assessing department.

The number of permits was the highest for the year but the total value was below January 1957 and April of last year. The January total was $2,054,950, including a proposed $2,000,000 shopping center. Last April the 37 permits authorized construction estimated to cost a total of $306,525.

Last month's $246,510 was higher than any month of 1956 other than April.

During the first four months of 1957, some 118 permits have been issued by the assessing department for construction outside the corporate limts of the cities and towns of Allegany County. The total estimated cost is $2,611,985.

In 1956, the four-month total was 82 permits and $506,425. In the first four months of 1955 there also were 82 permits but the aggregate cost was only $390,500.

Thirty-seven of the permits concerned construction of dwellings. There were 27 new dwellings, one dwelling and garage, one dwelling and carport, one dwelling foundation, one dwelling remodeling, four addtions to existing dwellings, a cabin and a summer cottage.

Other April permits included two chicen houses, one storeroom and apartment, one motel, one sawmill, one storage, one tool shed, one porch enclosure and five garages.

District 29 in LaVale again was the construction leader with eight permits but the building was authoized in 19 different election districts. Others with more than one April permit were District 26, Frostburg suburban area, five; Districts 6, West Side suburban area; District 16, North Branch; District 24, Eckhart; District 5, North End suburban area; District 21, Gross, and District 31, McCoole, four permits each, and District 3, Flintstone, and District 20, Corriganville, two each.

Single April building permits were issued for work in District 19, Shaft; District 30, Zihlman; District 15, Lonaconing suburban; District 8, Westernport suburban; District 22, East Side suburban; District 7, Cresaptown; District 13, Mt. Savage; District 2, Oldtown, and District 1, Little Orleans.

Sprinkler System Is Being Installed

The installation of a sprinkler system is under way at Sacred Heart Hospital.

The contract for the installation was awarded to the Grinnell Company, of Baltimore, and total cost is estimated from $17,500 to $18,000.

The contract calls for the work to be completed in mid-September.

Judge Decides Both Drivers Negligent

Both truck drivers involved in a rather spectacular accident last July 17 on U. S. Route 220 at Triple Lakes were adjudged guilty of negligence by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who found for the defendants in the two $5,000 suits heard jointly yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

As a result neither is entitled to recover damages from the other.

The first suit was brought by Harry E. Creiger and Nathan Creiger, both of Altoona, Pa., against Bernard F. Rippeon, 334 Avirett Avenue, and Abe Feldstein, trading as Feldstein Metal Company, this city. Harry Creiger was driving a truck owned by Nathan Creiger south on U. S. 220 and was preparing to make a left turn when the accident occurred.

The Pennsylvanians blamed the accident on Rippeon, who was driving Feldstein's truck and was preparing to pass Creiger at the time the latter turned left. Creiger sustained lacerations, contusions and abrasions and the truck was damaged when it struck pots and pans and a tree.

Feldstein in turn filed a cross suit against the Creigers, contended that Harry Creiger was responsible for the accident.

In the suit brought by the Creigers, Judge Harris granted a motion for a directed verdict for the defendants. It was argued that the uncontradicted testimony was that the plaintiff truck exceeded the legal speed.

In the suit brought by Feldstein, Judge Harris granted the defendant's prayer that the evidence submitted by the plaintiff was insufficient to entitle the plaintiff to recover.

W. Earle Cobey and William R. Carscaden were attorneys for the Creigers and William J. Gunter, William C. Walsh and William Walsh represented Feldstein and Rippeon.

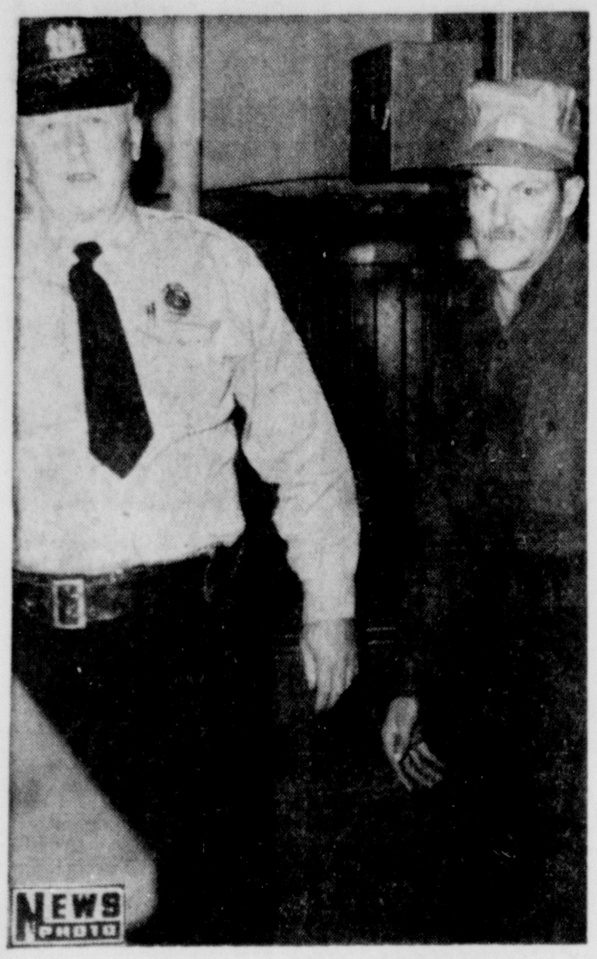
Shotgun Blast Kills Woman; Husband Held



Questioned In Slaying

Officer John G. Powers leads James M. Chambers from the City Jail cellblock for questioning in the shotgun slaying last night of Chambers' wife, Mrs. Virginia Chambers, 37-year-old mother of six.

J. M. Chambers Is Jailed On Open Charge

Wife Was Mother Of Six Children

A 37-year-old mother of six children was found dead from a shotgun wound last night at her home, 324 Arch Street, and her husband was being held in City Jail on an open charge in connection with the shooting.

The victim was Mrs. Virginia Chambers, wife of James M. Chambers, 45, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman.

She was found lying on the kitchen floor when City Police went to the address after a report of a disturbance was received at headquarters at 7:45 p. m.

Police said the shooting apparently followed an argument between Chambers and his wife. They also said Clarence Edward Broadstock, Mrs. Chamber's brother and a former resident, who was at the home at the time of the shooting, will be questioned further.

Shot In Chest

The victim was struck in the left chest with one blast from a 12-gauge bolt action shotgun, which was found leaning against the dining room wall adjoining the kitchen.

Chambers was taken into custody by Officers John Powers and Kenneth Morrissey, who were the first on the scene after the shooting.

Officer Powers said the victim, Chambers and Broadstock were all in the kitchen when he arrived at the home.

Assistant Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, Detective Joseph H. Stitcher and Officers Elmer Shank, E. Gordon Hite and William Norris arrived on the scene shortly afterward.

Was Visiting Mother

Police said Broadstock, who now resides in St. Louis, was in Cumberland visiting his sick mother, Mrs. Cora Broadstock, who lives upstairs at 324 Arch Street.

They said Chambers and Broadstock left the house about 10:30 a.m. yesterday. During the day they were reported to have made a tour of the city, and ended up at a South End tavern at 7 p.m.

While they were in the tavern, Mrs. Chambers entered and asked the two men to go home for supper. However she did not go home at the same time but was reported to have remained about half an hour at the tavern before leaving.

Hears Quarrel, Shot

Meanwhile the two men returned to the Chambers home. Broadstock said he went to the living room and lay down for a nap. He said Chambers went upstairs.

Later, Broadstock said, he heard an argument in the kitchen and then a blast from the shotgun. After the initial investigation by City Police the body of the victim was removed to Memorial Hospital for an autopsy.

The victim, police said, was the mother of six children, the youngest being two months old.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police at LaVale, went to the Arch Street address when notified by city police.

They will question Chambers, who was booked at police headquarters and held for the state's attorney's office.

Fire Raises Smoke In The Narrows

This picture taken from U. S. Route 40 looking toward Lovers Leap in The Narrows shows some of the smoke raised by a brush fire which started on Wills Mountain about 6 p. m. yesterday. Volunteer firemen from LaVale and youths from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp responded and kept the flames from spreading to the Allegany Instrument Company, the old Wills Mountain Inn. Some of the fire fighters still were at the scene late last night.

Three Blazes Keep Firemen In Area Busy

House Is Destroyed, Two Brush Sections Are Burned Over

An unoccupied building along Oldtown Road which was destroyed by fire and two serious brush fires kept local and area firemen busy yesterday evening.

A fire which is believed to have started along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the entrance of the Narrows was brought under control last night about 10 p. m.

Members of LaVale Volunteer Fire Company and youths from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp battled the blaze up the side of Wills Mountain to within 100 feet of the Allegany Instrument Company on top of the mountain.

Two Acres Burned

William Johnson, district forester, said the firemen had to fight the blaze with water because of the rocky terrain. Mr. Johnson said the men carried five-gallon Indian pumps up the side of the hill before the fire was brought under control. About two acres was burned.

The fire started about 6 p. m. yesterday and members of the LaVale Fire Company were still on hand late last night keeping an eye on the smoldering scrub brush and trees which had burned.

East Side Fire Company and members of Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company battled a brush and grass fire on top of Shriver's Hill for almost two hours yesterday evening.

Fire Controlled

East Side received the call at 6:29 p. m. and fought the fire for an hour and 54 minutes. Firemen said the whole top of the hill was burned out and the fire had started down several sides of the hill before it was brought under control.

An unoccupied building known as Pickerty Stone Store on Oldtown Road about 24 miles from Cumberland was completely destroyed by flames yesterday evening.

Paw Paw Fire Company received a call to the blaze at 4 p. m. and members of District 16 Volunteer Fire Company at North Branch answered the call to the burning structure at 5 o'clock.

Chief L. J. Shoemaker of North Branch said the building was a total loss when they arrived and they stood by to prevent the fire from getting into an abandoned orchard nearby.

The building was owned by a Baltimore man and was vacant except for a furnace, a bathtub and the electrical fixtures.

Cancer Crusade Nears $3,600; Goal $10,000

Cancer Crusade house-to-house contributions reported up to last night by the Allegany County Chapter, Maryland Division Inc., American Cancer Society, totaled $3,851.85 with many more of the house-to-house solicitors yet to report.

Last year slightly more than $7,000 overall was contributed and William Walsh, chapter president, observed that this included special gifts, and a number of large donations, including checks from employe charity groups at industrial plants.

Walsh expressed hope that a goal of $10,000 may be reached this year.

Thirteen different sections or communities had reported to Mrs. A. J. Cioni, executive secretary at the Cancer Society office, up to last night and the highest total was $1,012.98 from Frostburg.

Other sectional reports, some of them only partial returns include LaVale, $441.07; West Side, $516.23; Johnson Heights, $421.31; South End, below subway, $94; Mid-City area, $157.76; Bedford-Frederick Street area, $269.49; Bowman's Addition, $55.02; Oldtown, $64.26; North End, $292.30; Bowling Green, $81.60; Potomac Park, $54.83, and East Side, $120.46.

Man Is Hurt When Three Cars Collide

Considerable property damage was caused and one person was slightly injured yesterday afternoon when three automobiles crashed on Baltimore Avenue near the intersection of Shade's Lane.

James G. Humbertson, 331 Davidson Street, passenger in his own car, told police that some of his ribs were injured.

Police Officer William Valentine, who investigated the accident which occurred about 4:15 p. m., gave this account:

John A. Kreiling Jr., 516 Riehl Avenue, was traveling east on Baltimore Avenue. As he approached Shade's Lane, which he planned to enter, he stopped to wait for a car traveling west and driven by Edward N. Proud, 12 East First Street.

The car of Frank H. Smith, Star Route, Polish Mountain, also traveling east on the avenue, rammed into the rear of Kreiling's car and pushed it into the path of the oncoming car operated by Proud.

Officer Valentine said Smith would be charged with reckless driving.

Police Investigating Hit-Run Accident

Maryland State Police are investigating a hit-and-run accident in which an Allegany County public school bus was struck by an auto while the bus was parked about three miles north of McCoole along U.S. Route 220.

Trooper William S. McAfee, who is investigating, said no one apparently was injured although a small boy was preparing to alight from the bus when the crash occurred. Trooper McAfee said the bus was hit from the rear, and it was traveling in the direction of Cumberland. Driver of the bus was Norris C. Pierce, Route 3, McMullen Highway. The accident occurred at 3:45 p.m.

The Frostburg chapter of the County United Fund was formed last night at a meeting in the Frostburg Council Chamber.

Charles Hill was named chairman of the chapter and Mrs. R. H. Mendelsohn acting chairman.

Signing as charter members were the above and Mayor Joseph E. James, Rexford Aldridge, Edward A. Godsey, A. Charles Stewart, Mrs. Paul Haberlein, George Mertens, Mrs. J. C. Cobey and William Preston.

Charter members, Mr. Hill said, accepted quotas of groups and individuals to contact prior to a general meeting to be called in about two weeks to explain the County United Fund plan to the area.

He added the charter members agreed to use their influence toward having one fund drive in Frostburg, and that for the County United Fund.

The action was taken after a discussion led by Lewis J. Ort, UF vice president; Woodward D. Pealer, acting assistant secretary, and Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel.

Mr. Pealer said the Frostburg citizens went on record as being opposed to multiplicity of fund campaigns.

Multiple campaigns, the group agreed, are sowing the seeds of their own undoing, and eventually worthy charities in the community will suffer, they asserted.

County Voters Number 40,269

Allegany County still had 40,269 registered voters as of May 1, although the number decreased during April as registration activity was virtually at a standstill.

The registered voters included 39,845 white persons and 424 Negroes. Republicans enjoyed a margin of 5,449 as of May 1. There are 22,699 registered Republicans, 11,474 men and 11,225 women) and 17,250 Democrats (8,850 men and 8,400 women).

During April the names of some 41 deceased voters were removed from the books. The Democrats also lost as a result of this action as 24 Democrats were removed, 19 men and five women, and only 17 Republicans, 12 men and five women.

Names of ten other voters were removed last month for various reasons. Included were seven Democrats, four men and three women, and three Republicans, two men and a woman. The name of one Republican man, removed inadvertently, was reinstated in the poll books. The two April registrants, one man and one woman, were both Republicans.

One change of political affiliation was recorded in April. A woman changed from a registered Democrat to Republican.

Although prospective new voters may register at any time the registration activity is not expected to spurt appreciably until near the next county-wide election, which will be the primary on May 20, 1958.

St. Patrick's Plans First Friday Mass

Evening mass will be celebrated today at 5:30 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church to mark the first Friday of May, according to Rt. Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor.

Msgr. Kilkenny said this will be the first time for an evening First Friday mass, and that the service will be held at that time on succeeding First Fridays.

Coin Albums To Be Given To Babies Born May 6-12

The Western Maryland Coin Club will present coin albums to all babies born in Sacred Heart and Memorial hospitals during National Coin Week May 6 to 12.

The club will also sponsor several coin displays and hold a public auction to mark the observance of National Coin Week which is being held nationally by the American Numismatic Association on the theme "Collecting Coins for Fun and Profit."

During its April meeting, the local club voted to present each baby born in local hospitals during the week with a Lincoln Head cent album.

The album will contain 89 slots for coins, beginning with 1941. Slots for coins between 1941 and 1956 will include data on the date, mint mark and tthe number of pennies which were minted that year.

The club will start the baby's coin collection by inserting an uncirculated 1957 penny.

Enclosed with the album and penny will be a letter of congratulation to the parents, expressing the hope that they will add to the collection and offering the services of the club for information on coin collecting.

Several coin collections of junior members, along with posters designed by the youthful collectors, will be displayed throughout the city.

Coins To Be Displayed

A special feature of National Coin Week here will be the colection of colonial coins to be displayed at Washington's headquarters in Riverside Park.

Members of the Senior Citizens Club will be hostesses at the historic military center from 1 to 4 p. m. during the observance which opens Monday.

Another Coin Week event will be the auction held during the meeting of the club May 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Open to the public, the auction will feature the sale of several hard-to-find coins. Several local citizens have asked the club to auction old coins found around their homes.

The auction will enable collectors to dispose of surplus coins and beginners to pick up needed coins at a modest cost.

To mark Coin Week, the club will publish a six-page bulletin.

History To Be Listed

It is being prepared by Miss Martha Shaner and will list all National Coin Week activities, a history of Hard Luck tokens, facts concerning the Colonial money which will be exhibited at Washington's Cabin and the history and aims of the Western Maryland Coin Club.

The club is making a drive for new members all next week. Those interested may call or write the Cumberland Recreation Department, sponsor of the activity.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant to the recreation director, was made an honorary member last month, in recognition of her services to the club.

The club took over the charter of the old Western Maryland Coin Club and became an ANA affiliate. It has about 50 members.

Home Economics Teacher Resigns

Miss Virginia L. Bonar, home economics teacher at Valley High School, has submitted her letter of resignation to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, effective at the close of the school year next month.

Miss Bonar wrote that she has accepted a graduate assistantship in textiles and clothing at Ohio State University in Columbus, effective October 1. As a consequence she will not return to the county in September.

50 Building Permits Issued During April

Some 50 building permits for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $246,510 were issued during April by the Allegany County building assessing department.

The number of permits was the highest for the year but the total value was below January 1957 and April of last year. The January total was $2,054,950, including a proposed $2,000,000 shopping center. Last April the 37 permits authorized construction estimated to cost a total of $306,525.

Last month's $246,510 was higher than any month of 1956 other than April.

During the first four months of 1957, some 118 permits have been issued by the assessing department for construction outside the corporate limts of the cities and towns of Allegany County. The total estimated cost is $2,611,985.

In 1956, the four-month total was 82 permits and $506,425. In the first four months of 1955 there also were 82 permits but the aggregate cost was only $390,500.

Thirty-seven of the permits concerned construction of dwellings. There were 27 new dwellings, one dwelling and garage, one dwelling and carport, one dwelling foundation, one dwelling remodeling, four addtions to existing dwellings, a cabin and a summer cottage.

Other April permits included two chicen houses, one storeroom and apartment, one motel, one sawmill, one storage, one tool shed, one porch enclosure and five garages.

District 29 in LaVale again was the construction leader with eight permits but the building was authoized in 19 different election districts. Others with more than one April permit were District 26, Frostburg suburban area, five; Districts 6, West Side suburban area; District 16, North Branch; District 24, Eckhart; District 5, North End suburban area; District 21, Gross, and District 31, McCoole, four permits each, and District 3, Flintstone, and District 20, Corriganville, two each.

Single April building permits were issued for work in District 19, Shaft; District 30, Zihlman; District 15, Lonaconing suburban; District 8, Westernport suburban; District 22, East Side suburban; District 7, Cresaptown; District 13, Mt. Savage; District 2, Oldtown, and District 1, Little Orleans.

Sprinkler System Is Being Installed

The installation of a sprinkler system is under way at Sacred Heart Hospital.

The system is being installed on all five floors of the old section of the hospital.

The newer section of the hospital operated by the Daughters of Charity was built in 1936 and is of firesafe construction.

The contract for the installation was awarded to the Grinnell Company, of Baltimore, and total cost is estimated from $17,500 to $18,000.

The contract calls for the work to be completed in mid-September.

Judge Decides Both Drivers Negligent

Both truck drivers involved in a rather spectacular accident last July 17 on U. S. Route 220 at Triple Lakes were adjudged guilty of negligence by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who found for the defendants in the two $5,000 suits heard jointly yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

As a result neither is entitled to recover damages from the other.

The first suit was brought by Harry E. Creiger and Nathan Creiger, both of Altoona, Pa., against Bernard F. Rippeon, 334 Avirett Avenue, and Abe Feldstein, trading as Feldstein Metal Company, this city. Harry Creiger was driving a truck owned by Nathan Creiger south on U. S. 220 and was preparing to make a left turn when the accident occurred.

The Pennsylvanians blamed the accident on Rippeon, who was driving Feldstein's truck and was preparing to pass Creiger at the time the latter turned left. Creiger sustained lacerations, contusions and abrasions and the truck was damaged when it struck pots and pans and a tree.

Feldstein in turn filed a cross suit against the Creigers, contended that Harry Creiger was responsible for the accident.

In the suit brought by the Creigers, Judge Harris granted a motion for a directed verdict for the defendants. It was argued that the uncontradicted testimony was that the plaintiff truck exceeded the legal speed.

In the suit brought by Feldstein, Judge Harris granted the defendant's prayer that the evidence submitted by the plaintiff was insufficient to entitle the plaintiff to recover.

W. Earle Cobey and William R. Carscaden were attorneys for the Creigers and William J. Gunter, William C. Walsh and William Walsh represented Feldstein and Rippeon.
